Freshman Class of Lebanon Valley College

This is the largest Freshman class in the history of our United Brethren colleges. Two years ago the Freshman class numbered 38, last year 57 and this year (as stated above) 104 matriculated.

Two years ago the total number of students enrolled in all departments was 242, last year 305, and this year the number will reach 360.

The college and music departments have had the largest increase. Two years ago the students in the four college classes and the special students in college together numbered 121, last year 158, and this year about 220.

GLEE CLUB WILL GIVE CONCERT AT HARRISBURG.

The Men's Glee Club will give its annual concert in Harrisburg on Thursday evening, January 7th, in the Technical High School Auditorium.

Among those who have subscribed to the concert are Judges McCarrell and Kunkle, Hon. E. Z. Gross, Hon. John Fox Weiss, and others equally as representative.

The local arrangements are in charge of Harry E. Ulrich, a graduate of the class of 1913. Present indications point to a well filled house.

IMPROVEMENTS IN CHAPEL EXERCISES

To the person entering chapel now, after an absence of about two months, quite a different scene would meet his gaze. It is the same room, the same students; but the number in attendance has been augmented. Practically every seat is now occupied, which makes a splendid spectacle.

This is not due to an increase in college enrolment but it is the result of an action taken by the faculty. This action is to the effect that every student attends the chapel exercises at least four times per week. This plan has been under consideration for some time, and now after all details of the scheme for a more general chapel attendance have been cared for, we congratulate ourselves upon its success. Never again will a visitor need to speak to a hundred empty seats, nor our President be embarrassed by the meagre assemblage of students for this fifteen minutes communion with God. The person, giving a talk in chapel now, will feel a greater encouragement for his remarks.

But this is not the only feature of the system. "Make the chapel exercises so interesting and instructive

ARMENIAN STUDENT AT LEBANON VALLEY

He made an exceedingly strong plea for his people in Armenia who are being persecuted so mercilessly by the Turks.

Herrant N. Athanasian, an American student at Lebanon Valley, spoke at the Lutheran Church, Annville, on Sunday evening. He made a strong plea for his people in Armenia who are being persecuted by the Turks. Armenia is a Christian nation with many of the bravest Christians in the world within its fold. But, since it has come under Turkish domination the Mohammedan Turks are trying to force Mohammedanism on the Christians who are suffering martyrdom by the thousands; whole villages being wiped out by the sword. For centuries this persecution has gone on and yet the Christian religion survives. The ranks of Armenians, however, have been terribly thinned and but a few thousand of the faithful remain.

The Turks capture a preacher or a teacher and tell him to choose "Mohammedanism or the sword." If the

THE DAWNING YEAR

Once more Old Father Time has reaped

The days of one more year.
Neglected lie its calendar leaves
Stained here and there with a tear.

But let us not be looking back
Lest by the way we fall.
A new page shines on the calendar;
A new year dawns for all.

The year that now before us lies
Is young, unproved, untried;
Our pathway will much lighter be
If duty is our guide.

So let us face with steadfast heart,
With hope and high resolve,
The problems of the dawning year
Which time and we must solve.

If each day's work we do the best
That lies within our power,
This year will bring us at its close
A rich and ample dower.

A MESSAGE FROM THE EAST.

Mr. Kiyoshi Yabe, who is a native of Japan, and a graduate of Otterbein University, also of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, spoke in the college chapel recently. After reading the Scripture passage and leading in prayer, he spoke on the international relations between the East and West or between Japan and America, as Japan is the leading Eastern country and the United States the leading Western nation.

He suggested a few things which would tend to bring them together. In substance his talk was as follows: First of all, education would help to bring the two countries into more harmonious relations. The people of America know very little about the Japanese and almost nothing of their history. On the other hand, the children in the high schools in Japan are taught American history. They know about the war of 1812, the Monroe Doctrine, as well as our political parties and what they stand for. The Japanese are better acquainted with America than we are with Japan. If we should study about their history and learn about their people, perhaps some of the race prejudice would be eliminated.

Then we as a Christian nation and people should open our homes to the Japanese and Chinese students who come here to be educated and to learn about Christianity. Many of them work their way through school living as cooks in American families and in many cases are not in the best Christian homes. We often send soldiers and business men to Japan who are not typical Americans, thus giving them a false impression of us. Then, when our missionaries go to Japan and point to America as a Christian nation of Christian homes and Christian people, they wonder how it is that they never saw such Americans. Perhaps they have spent some time in America and have never seen such homes. Is it the best thing not to show them the best side of America when these seekers after truth come to America? Would it not be better to take them into our homes and show them, by right living, the ideal Christian life which Jesus would have us live?

America advocates the idea of the universal brotherhood of man; and yet does not allow the Japanese and Chinese to become American citizens; although millions come from southern Europe and Russia. Is it fair to allow an ignorant, uneducated Hungarian who cannot write his own name to become a citizen, and exclude from citizenship an educated Japanese? An educational test should be inserted in the immigration law and America should give Japan a "square deal."

Japan is in need of Americans to teach English in her schools. They need Christian people—people of principle to show them how to live. They are willing to learn, and wish to be friends with America. Mr. Yabe is going back to Japan to give his people the true ideas about America and may it not be long before the "land of the sun" and "the land of the stars and stripes" will be united in brotherly love and with one common religion

YORK COUNTY GRADUATES OF LEBANON VALLEY ORGANIZE

The first annual reunion of the York County Alumni Association of Lebanon Valley was held, on December 28, in the Fifth United Brethren church, of North York. On this occasion, at which Doctor Gossard was the guest of honor, seventy-five persons were present.

The York County graduates have formed a permanent organization, the officers of which are as follows: President, the Reverend Dr. A. A. Long; Vice-President, Professor W. E. Reidel; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Rechart.

ANNVILLE MINISTERS FORM ORGANIZATION.

An organization of the ministers of Annville has been formed recently, to be known as the Annville Ministerial Council. The President of the Association is the Reverend William F. DeLong, and the secretary and treasurer is the Reverend A. A. Koch.

captives refuse to deny their Master, they are tortured severely, often having their hair pulled out, their teeth, and their eyes gouged out, then they are asked again to accept Mohammed and deny Christ. But the faithful Christians, Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant alike, suffer untold agony for their faith.

So we, who live here in Christian America, who worship our Lord in peace, do we realize the suffering in foreign lands? Cannot something be done for these sufferers? Surely God does not intend that they shall be totally destroyed. Maybe he has called you! Can you not help them in some way?

Herant N. Athanasian is an earnest Christian student, who after suffering untold hardships at the hands of the despicable Turks, has found a friendly refuge in America. The account given in his autobiography, "God's Mission in My Life," is very interesting, and brings home to us in a vivid manner the infamous persecutions continually perpetrated by these Mohammedans. Mr. Athanasian business in a town of Asiatic Turkey. He was cheated out of his money by Turkish officers, and was forced to give up his business. After working two years more to earn money to come to America, he was prevented from doing so by the Turkish authorities and was thrown into a dismal dungeon where he remained for three months. After much hardship, which he endured with Christian fortitude and patience, he was exiled to Greece, where he landed in a wretched condition, having been robbed by the Turks of his money and all his possessions. He found the Greeks, however, kind and sympathetic. From Greece he went to Egypt, and thence, after some years, to America.

On coming to America Mr. Athanasian enrolled as a student in the Messiah Bible School and Missionary Training Home, at Grantham, Pennsylvania, where a great interest was taken in him and much kindness was shown him. Since coming to Lebanon Valley he has made many friends. Mr. Athanasian intends, after continuing his studies for three or four years longer, to return to his native Armenia as a missionary. He now speaks six languages and, it is needless to say, will be a power for good in the work to which he has consecrated his life.

Mr. Athanasian is in need of funds to continue his preparation. If any readers of the "News" who not being able to go to the mission field themselves, would like to help in the great work of letting the light shine into the corners of the world where it is so much needed, they cannot do better than assist in the education of this earnest, consecrated young Armenian. Contributions may be sent to Dr. George D. Gossard, President of Lebanon Valley College.

that the student will miss many a rare treat if he does not occupy his assigned seat every morning, and the student body will be eager for the chapel period," said one professor. This found expression in the form of a Chapel Choir. The choir, at irregular intervals, sings an appropriate anthem. A vocal solo, male quartette, violin solo or some other musical feature is introduced quite often. The uncertainty of what will happen next adds zest to the plan and insures the interest of the student body.

The students appreciate this innovation for Lebanon Valley and will continue to express their belief in its helpfulness by regular attendance, many not missing an exercise unless on account of sickness.

COLLEGE STUDENTS IN GREAT CONVENTION.

Nearly one thousand college students from various parts of the country met at Topeka, Kansas, last week as delegates to the national convention of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association. The purpose of the convention is the promotion of the systematic campaign by college students in support of the organized battle against the liquor traffic, which is claiming the attention of statesmen and political economists everywhere. There were represented at the convention two hundred and fifty institutions of learning and nearly every State in the Union.

Reports were given of the progress of the campaign in various sections of the country and inspiring addresses gave ample evidence of the progress of this great war against the enemy of civilization which has become world wide in scope. One of the features of the gathering were the speeches delivered in the biennial national oratorical contest of the Association.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TRIP A SUCCESS

For a Lebanon Valley Glee Club to make its initial appearance before a Harrisburg audience is indeed very unusual. This is exactly what our boys did this year. Before an audience of at least five hundred people, they rendered an unusually good programme in the Technical High School Auditorium last Thursday evening.

The club under the directorship of Prof. Sheldon trained hard for this concert, and the results of their effective application of effort was well demonstrated on Thursday evening. The programme was assuredly a success. Judging by the applause and by the expression on the faces of their hearers every number was greatly appreciated. The programme is considerably varied this year, consisting of glees, quartettes, solos, readings, violin solos and a sketch. The Harrisburg "Patriot" made special mention of the sketch, entitled "A Telegram From Dad." Comments were favorable on every hand and compliments were given to individual members of the club for the part they played.

The following night the club rendered its sacred concert in the U. B. Church, Sunbury, of which Rev. M. H. Wert is the pastor. The boys were enthusiastically received and well entertained. The audience numbered almost as many as at the Harrisburg concert. Here as at the Capital City the numbers were all rendered in good form, and resulted in the assurance of a demand for a return next year.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Mr. Jacob Shenberger, '16, filled the pulpit at Fishburn for Mr. Hallman, on Sunday morning.

Mrs. K. F. Mathias, of Highspire, accompanied her daughter, Josephine Mathias, '16, back to school after the Christmas vacation and spent the past week at the home of Prof. A. E. Shroyer, in Annville.

Misses Helen Ziegler, '17, and Mary Bergdoll, '17, spent Sunday in Myerstown at the home of Miss Mary Basler. Miss Basler, who has been very ill, is slowly improving.

Mr. Maurice Leister, '15, supplied the pulpit at the Tremont church Sunday morning.

Mr. Wm. O. Ellis, '10, a Fellow in the Department of Biology in Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., spent several days visiting old college friends in town during vacation.

Miss Esther Shell, '14, has entered Hahneman Medical School, Philadelphia, where she is taking the Nurses' course

ADDRESS ON TUBERCULOSIS

On Friday evening an interesting and practical lecture on tuberculosis was given in the college chapel by Dr. William C. Miller, of the State Health Department. This talk was given as a feature of the educational campaign that the State is waging against the dread disease. He told first of the successful work of the department in fighting typhoid fever and diphtheria. With respect to diphtheria especially the results have been most satisfactory. Since the State commenced the free distribution of diphtheria antitoxin to the people of the Commonwealth not able to purchase this expensive serum, 90,000 children have been treated with it free of charge, with an estimated saving of 30,000 lives, with a money value of $60,000,000.

Tuberculosis Dr. Miller declared is not inherited as many believe, but is spread in almost every case through carelessness or lack of knowledge. It is a preventable and, if treated in the first stages, a curable disease. After mature consideration of the best way to fight the scourge, the State Health officials decided on the present educational campaign. Another phase of the work is that of the free dispensaries of which Doctor Miller spoke in detail, illustrating his talk with lantern views. He told of the methods of prevention, and declared that more cases of tuberculosis are contracted in infancy than at any other period of life, and that babies should not be allowed to be kissed by strangers. No person is exempt, and people may have the disease and not be aware of it. It may be lurking in the system for years, and not show itself until the resistive forces of the body, which have hitherto held it in check, are weakened, thus giving the disease the upper hand. Thus, he advocated the boiling of all dishes after a meal, whether the users of them are supposed to be afflicted or not.

The lecturer told of the State inspection of schools, and made the surprising statement that 72 per cent of all those inspected were in some respect defective. In many cases the defective child, after the difficulty, such as adenoids for instance, had been removed, manifested an astonishing improvement both in mental ability and in conduct. Dr. Miller described also the open air schools, home sleeping quarters, and the State Sanatoriums at Mt. Alto and Cresson.

TEAM LOSES THREE GAMES

The first real game of the season was played last Wednesday evening with Lehigh University at South Bethlehem. The score about tells the story; only that it does not say anything about the "Large Floor." Our men were lost on the spacious floor, and found it a difficult matter at times to locate their opponents. For this game suffice it to say that our team played good basketball, and made a good impression at Lehigh; but they did not get the ball in the basket a sufficient number of times to win the game.

Final score: L. V., 18; Lehigh, 39.

The next team played was Moravian College at Bethlehem. Here we found a floor about the same size as our own, save that it was a few feet wider, and everything seemed to be in our favor. However, the first two minutes of play demonstrated the fact that our opponents were men of no mean ability. The game was an exceptionally fast one, and some seemed to think it was a rather rough pastime. In this game luck was against us. The referee could hardly be called a neutral one, since his brother coaches the team which we played, not to mention the fact that the referee himself was a member of the team that defeated us the night before. Moravian took the lead from the start, and held it until the last eight minutes of play with a lead of about twelve points. Then our team seemed to get on the job, and came within one point of our opponents before the game closed.

Final score: L. V., 28; Moravian, 29.

The last and by far the best game of the trip was played with Swarthmore. Both teams were evenly matched and the score while it was in their favor most of the time, found our men within a few points of our opponents. With eight minutes to play the score was 21-19, our men leading in field goals.

According to the personal foul rule, Loomis was debarred from playing the last eight minutes of the game. The final score 40-21 by no means tells the story, as one had to see the game to appreciate it.

The trip as a whole proved to be a very enjoyable one to all members of the team. There were no serious injuries at any time, even though it was possible to find many bruises and scratches on every one of our players.

At Lehigh we were shown the college buildings by an Alumnus of Lebanon Valley, Mr. Ivan K. Ressler.

A NEW BASIS OF MEMBERSHIP FOR THE Y. W. C. A.

Both the Young Men's and the Young Women's Christian Associations in our country are contemplating a change in the basis of membership. At present only members of such churches as are entitled to representation in the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, can become active members of the Christian Associations. For some time a need has been felt for a different basis; for now those who belong to interdenominational churches, Unitarians, Jews and Catholics are excluded. Also those are barred who are non-church members, perhaps owing to family reasons or because they are too young to have decided to which church they will unite themselves and yet want to connect themselves with an organization that stands for righteousness. It seems more charitable to bring such persons into active service through the Christian Associations and thus lead them into the church making the organizations gateways to the church.

As yet the Young Men's Christian Association has not taken so decided a step toward the adoption of a new purpose as the Young Women's Association. A convention of the latter organization was held at Lake Forest, Illinois, recently to which all of the colleges in the United States sent delegates to express their opinion in regard to the proposed change.

Lebanon Valley was represented at the Lake Forest Conference by Miss Belle Orris. She brought back a report of the latter. The matter was discussed very thoroughly and prayerfully. The proposed basis is a personal one and requires for membership that the girls be in sympathy with the purpose of the Association and make the following declaration: "It is my purpose to live as a true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ." The conference could not change the basis of the organization. It could only express its will which will be presented at the National Convention to be held in 1915. At Lake Forest, however, it was decided that the new basis be recommended with an alternative that if the individual Associations wish to keep the church membership basis, they can do so.

The question is, is the change a good one? At present only members of the Federal Council Churches can belong. Thus many valuable girls are kept out of the organization. The personal basis will vitalize the purpose; the new pledge would lay the responsibility on the individual.

The personal basis will reach girls who are not members of Churches, and thus, by coming into contact with church members, they may be influenced to join the church. The following questions arose in the course of the discussions: Is our present purpose carrying girls into the church? If the personal basis should be adopted, can anyone be sincere in taking that pledge and not be a church member? and will the members work consciously or unconsciously to bring the non-members into the church? The new basis will mean more work for the cabinet and the membership committee. It would mean an individual test for each girl and a reconsecration. But if it would strengthen the Association and lead more girls to Christ, the change is justifiable. Let us pray that when the National Convention meets in 1915, to consider the recommendations made at Lake Forest, it may do what is best by God's help.

Supt. Baish of Altoona Makes Another Step Forward

"The election of Superintendent Henry H. Baish, of Altoona, as president of the Pennsylvania State Educational association is a high compliment to a conscientious and capable teacher. Mr. Baish is one of the leaders in the educational field in the great Keystone State. He may not tell you so himself, but he is nevertheless. His election attests the high regard in which he is held by other school men and women.

"To be a leader in a commonwealth that devotes as much time, thought and money to the education of the plain people as does Pennsylvania, means a position of prominence and importance in the educational affairs of the whole country; and to have this leadership recognized and rewarded is indeed an honor, yet it is not more than Mr. Baish through his interest, activity and success deserves.

Mr. Baish was graduated from this college in 1901. For some time he was principal of the Altoona schools. Last year he was elected City Superintendent of Schools; thus these two honors followed in close succession. Our Alma Mater can well be proud of such an alumnus.

Mr. Wm. Ellis, '11, who is working for a Ph. D. degree at Cornell, was a visitor at the home of Alfred K. Mills last Sunday and Monday.

WHARTON SCHOOL DEFEATED BY LEBANON VALLEY'S SCRUBS

Saturday evening our Scrub Basketball team defeated Wharton School on Lebanon Valley's floor. The Wharton team seemed at a disadvantage on our floor, due to its size, but they were very plucky. The final score was 33-19. Wheelock starred in the game, scoring 18 points. Sixteen of these points were made by field goals. Carl G. Snaveley refereed the game.

EXCITING INTERCLASS GAMES.

In two hotly contested interclass games Monday evening the students had an opportunity to witness some strenuous work in our own gymnasium. The Sophomores won from the Juniors with a score of 46-19; while the Freshmen defeated the Preps by 24-18. Class spirit and enthusiasm for the respective teams ran high and the gymnasium rang with the lusty shouts of the rooters. Among others, "Chief" Wheelock made some sensational plays keeping up his reputation as a star "shooter."

The line-ups were as follows:

A PAIR OF SPECTACLES.

On Thursday evening, January 14, the class of 1916 will present a comedy in three acts by Sydney Grundy entitled "A Pair of Spectacles." All has been arranged so that you will enjoy every minute of the evening.

JUNIORS SHOW GREAT TALENT

The Class of 1916 gave the annual Junior play in Engle Conservatory, Thursday evening, January 14. The hall was crowded and all present thoroughly enjoyed the play for it surely was a success. The class can well be proud of the cast that rendered "A Pair of Spectacles." The play was full of wit and pathos and the characterization was excellent. Mr. Heintzelman as Benjamin Goldfinch made a fine old gentleman-philanthropist while Mr. Evans in direct contrast, as Gregory Goldfinch, played his part exceptionally well. Every member of the cast is to be congratulated on the good work. Mr. Conrad R. Curry, the business manager, deserves credit for the efficient way in which it was managed. The story of the play is as follows:

"Of the two brothers Benjamin and Gregory Goldfinch, Benjamin is the kind hearted, good natured old gentleman, while Gregory is the stingy, miserly one, consequently the latter is worth two hundred thousand pounds while the former is well-off but not wealthy. Every one who appeals to Mr. Benjamin for help financially, receives it contrary to the wish of his wife who wishes him to exercise care in his benevolence. Gregory pays a visit to his brother. While he is there Benjamin receives a letter from a poor person who has a 'blind father, a paralyzed mother, a dead wife and a baby who is crying for bread.' Benjamin decides to give some money to their great case of need but Gregory says he is not worthy. They make a bet and call to see the needy person.

"The person was a fake, and no other than Benjamin's former coachman who had been discharged for drunkenness and who wanted to take advantage of his former master's kindness. The bet was lost and in his disappointment Mr. Benjamin dropped his spectacles and they broke. Gregory offered him his and on putting them on all the world began to look different to him. He began to doubt. He suspected his old butler, his banker, his shoemaker, the waiters, and finally his wife. He made himself miserable and all around him.

"Gregory had peculiar ideas about bringing up his son and consequently the son, to get through school, was obliged to borrow money and deceive his father. However rough an exterior Gregory really loved his son but he thought he was doing it for his good. The son was afraid to tell

ENDOWMENT FOR L. V. C. LOOKS REAL

At last it really looks as though we were actually going to redeem our honor and develop Christian Statesmanship in our church's educational policy; but it has taken nearly fifty years to "get on the job."

The campaign for a much-needed Endowment for L. V. C. is now on in dead earnest under the direction of Mr. A. F. Hoffsommer of Harrisburg, Pa., whose services have been secured by the Executive Committee of the College Trustees.

Mr. Hoffsommer comes to this work from a long experience in financing religious and charitable work during which time he has assisted successfully in raising large sums.

He was in Y. M. C. A. work for many years and for six years as one of the State Secretaries of Pennsylvania. He is a great believer in humanity, is an optimist despite,—or as he puts it,—because of his experience in financial work for religion, charity and philanthropy, which is conceded by all to be difficult and discouraging work.

He is also a great believer in the possibilities of concentrated consecrated co-operation.

The plan of Campaign suggested by him and accepted by the Executive Committee rests upon this foundation. Several slogans of the Campaign are suggested in catch phrases found in the Campaign literature such as "We are going to succeed because we are UNITED Brethren." "Every member something for L. V. C.—Our College" and "Remember that the three big ideas of this big campaign are CO-OPERATION, DEFINITENESS, and THOROUGHNESS."

The Committee is building all its plan upon faith in our membership and this is as it should be. Developments so far indicate that this faith is not misplaced. Given a practicable plan and reasonable leadership and we believe United Brethren will loyally respond in so vital a matter.

Mr. Hoffsommer is meeting the Church leaders in each congregation as rapidly as possible, and is presenting the College cause and asking for their leadership and co-operation in a local campaign for a definite share of the $250,000.00. The total of the local objectives will bring success to the campaign in the end if each church joins heartily in the plan. Only by following some such definite plan can we succeed and no single congregation will want to be missing from the roll of honor when the Campaign is successfully concluded.

LEBANON VALLEY 34 MORAVIAN 31

What proved to be one of the fastest games ever witnessed in the local cage was played last Friday evening, Jan. 15th, with Moravian College. Both teams were evenly matched, and the game was very exciting from the beginning.

The score was a tie for the greater part of the first half, and it was not until the last few minutes of play that our boys could gain much of a lead, closing the first period of play with a balance of six points in their favor.

In the second half, Moravian came back strong, and it required the time-keeper's whistle to decide the contest. Shields, the captain and manager of the visiting team, starred throughout the entire game, making some of the most sensational field goals ever witnessed on the local court. Swartz, the local forward, made some very fine shots. His consistent playing had much to do with our team winning the game.

Our five seem to display better team work than ever before, and all of the team deserve commendation for their splendid victory. With this sort of playing, we are confident our team will defeat New York University on Jan. 29th, which is the next team scheduled to meet us on our court.

The line-up was as follows:

L. V.	Moravian.
Keating	forward Meissner
Swartz	forward Shields (Capt.)
Hollinger (Capt.)	center Kriehl
Atticks	guard Flath
Loomis	guard Clewel
Field goals—Swartz, 7; Keating, 5; Loomis, 1; Shields, 8; Turner, 1; Meissner, 1; Kriehl, 2. Foul goals—Loomis, 8; Shields, 7. Substitutions—Wheelock for Keating; Turner for Meissner. Final score—L. V. 34, Moravian 31. Referee—Haddow, Penn. State. Scorer—Von Bereghy, L. V. C.

GAME CANCELLED.

There will be no game next week, owing to the fact that Western Maryland has cancelled the game scheduled for the coming Thursday night.

The Sophomore girls gave a midnight surprise feed in honor of Mary Bergdoll, after the Junior Play, Thursday night. Miss Heffleman displayed her ability both in reading and eating and evidently ate too much, as she has been sick ever since. The feed was an excellent one and there were "eats" without end.

ONE'S POINT OF VIEW

To the man who has sold his labor to a contractor of ditch digging, humanity may seem cold and those holding high, authoritative positions possibly are thought of as heartless tyrants. The average newspaper man thinks of events in terms of houses robbed, murders committed, and political moves which are contemplated or being carried out. The man who has traveled extensively and read widely has still a different view of life.

What is the cause of our taking such varied views of our surroundings? The statement that "different people see the same subject in different lights," is as true today as when first made. Our thoughts and visions sometimes become distorted. We have possibly seen only one side of a subject in question. If we were to get a fuller and broader knowledge, our ideas would likely change. The broad-minded person, who can be unprejudiced and who forms his opinions only after a thorough analysis of the question under consideration, is the one upon whose statements we place the greater confidence.

The college gives a young person the opportunity of making a broad study of the various subjects taught. Here we are encouraged to discuss both sides of a question and learn to appreciate another's view point. It is only when we can be liberal and place ourselves in the position of the person or organization of whom we would speak disparagingly that our adverse criticisms are of the greatest value.

Y. M. C. A.

"An Empty Life" was the subject considered at the Young Men's Christian Association meeting on Sunday. Paul Hummel opened the discussion with an able talk which suggested several lines of comment. These suggestions were taken up by the members, and a general consideration of the question which was before the association ensued.

SOLVING THE LIQUOR PROBLEM

Out of the turmoil of campaigning and electioneering there comes one lesson, more strongly enforced than ever before: The liquor problem can never be settled until the people make it the dominating issue in politics, and divide, for and against. Not merely for and against, as an abstract proposition of a "wet" or "dry" law, but for and against the whole proposition to make and enforce prohibition law, and to administer the government along every line.

The woods are full of would-be officeholders who will "make prohibition laws," or "enforce prohibition laws if the people want prohibition laws enforced." Such spineless creatures fondly love to preen themselves as leaders of the people, when they are the most despicable of camp-followers, always in evidence around the commissary headquarters.

We are glad for victories won by the temperance forces of our own county during the past week. Judge C. V. Henry refused four applications for liquor licenses on Thursday, January 14. They were for the Steitz Hotel and Majestic Cafe, of Lebanon; the Crouse House, Myers-town, and the Washington Hotel of our own little township. Our college students may well feel considerable satisfaction over the part they took in opposing the proposed granting the Annville license. Of the two petitions circulated among them, one had over two hundred signatures. We are thankful to Almighty God that there will be four less of these filthy "reception halls to hell" during the coming year than there would have been had the Christian people simply stood by and sighed "oh well, I hope this curse is soon wiped out."

"Faith without works is dead." We must get to work. Let the glorious success inspire us on to greater victory. The Christian people must work as they pray. That is the reason that Billy Sunday is so successful. Let us pray; but then we must work as we pray.

Y. W. C. A.

The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was in charge of Miss Esta Wareheim, who used for her subject, "The Use of the Margin." She emphasized "Efficiency," and said that in order to become efficient, one must cultivate the habit of orderliness. She recommended an account book to aid one in spending money wisely. Miss Beaverson read an interesting paper which she had prepared upon the subject, "Efficiency in Our Studies." She mentioned the verse

"Work while you work;

Play while you play,

That is the way

To be cheerful and gay;"

believing the sentiment in it would help us to become more efficient in our studies. A sextette rendered a vocal selection, which helped to make the meeting impressive.

The fact that almost every girl took part in the meeting is very encouraging and proves that the Y. W. C. A. is doing efficient work.

In 1916 L. V. C. celebrates its Jubilee year and what a celebration it will be when the Trustees announce a quarter million dollars subscribed, the income from which will mean freedom from the harrassment of inadequate support which has obtained in the past.

If we are to justify our name as UNITED BRETHREN there should be no quibbling over past history. Let us live in and for the future of our college. As a matter of fact all criticisms of by-gone days found their primary causes in the difficulties attending administration with insufficient funds. A church sexton, whose wife liked to dress well, in applying to the Official Board for an increased salary gave as one reason that it was difficult to support a sealskin wife at a muskrat salary. The support heretofore accorded our college has not been of the seal skin variety—it has barely furnished rags enough for decent appearance in public.

This is no reflection upon those who have sacrificially given for its support and whose sacrifices call for grateful appreciation. It is an appeal to all loyal United Brethren.

The facts, however, are that as compared with every other nearby denominational college in our class, they have an average income per student from endowment six times greater than L. V. C. Seven of them have from seven to fifteen times more endowment income per student than we have ever furnished Lebanon Valley. Is it any wonder that our college has had continuous financial difficulties? Is this creditable to a growing church? Let us remedy this long-continued evil.

ALUMNUS MARRIED.

Announcement has been received of the marriage on Dec. 26, 1914, of Professor Andrew Bender, head of the Department of Chemistry at Richmond College, Richmond, Virginia, to Miss Beatrice A. Teall, of Glenridge, New Jersey. Miss Teall is instructor in music in the public schools of Verona, New Jersey.

Professor Bender, who is a brother of Miss Ruth Bender, '18, was graduated in the class of 1906.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Elizabeth Jenkins, of the Conservatory of Music, spent Sunday in Palmyra.

Ruth Huber, '17, entertained her mother, Mrs. S. B. Huber, of Williamsport, Pa., together with Mrs. J. A. Stoner and son, Wilbur, and Miss Grace Huber, of Mercersburg, Pa., during the past week.

Mrs. S. F. Huber, of Chambersburg, Pa., spent a few days at the college as a guest of her niece, Esther Heintzelman, '16.

Pauline Clark, '17, has been ill at her home in Hershey for the past week and is not yet able to return to school.

Edna Spessard, Conservatory of Music, who has been ill during the past week is now able to resume her duties.

Owing to the efforts of those connected with the music department of the college to have some of the best artists and leaders in the musical world appear in recitals at the college, the students and residents of Annville and vicinity are this year being offered some unusual treats in the way of the very best of music. All lovers of good music will be interested to know that another artist, Frederic Martin, basso, of New York City, will give a song recital in the Engle Auditorium on Monday evening, January 25, 1915.

Something over a year ago, one of the best known conductors in America, in speaking of the above artist, said: "I consider Frederic Martin the foremost basso we have today, and there is a reason for it. He is absolutely reliable and thoroughly experienced. His voice is unusual in its flexibility and glorious in quality and power; then his personality is so agreeable that he wins an audience even before he sings."

Tickets are now on sale at 50 cents, and all seats will be reserved without extra charge at Basehore's Book Store, beginning Friday, Jan. 22, 9 a. m. Be sure to hear him.

Star Course Number

The students of Lebanon Valley College and their friends will be given the rare opportunity of hearing Dr. John Merritte Driver, whose "eloquence revives the traditions of ancient oratory," lecture in the college chapel this coming Friday evening. Dr. Driver was at one time pastor of the People's Church of Chicago. He has had the advantages gained by extensive travel and comes to us with a reputation rivaled by few others on the lecture platform. One cannot afford to miss the opportunity of hearing him. The subject is a very timely one, "The European Situation Today."

Miss Linnie Hess and Miss Sylvia Beidle, teacher in the Steelton schools were visitors at the college Saturday.

his father who was so proud of his success at the bar and his "twenty-two clients" which was all invented to deceive him. Finally the creditors came to arrest the son who managed to have his father present when the law was about to take its course. Gregory paid the bills but his wrath knew no bounds.

"Benjamin had ten thousand pounds in a bank which was reported to have failed. However his son, Percy, had drawn it out before the banker absconded and saved the money. Mr. Lorimer, an old friend of Benjamin's, to whom he had loaned some money to tide him over, came back to tell Benjamin he did not need the money but he learned that Benjamin had had a loss. Misunderstanding, he thought the money was lost. Gregory came and thinking too that his brother had lost all offered his money. And some one returned bringing his own old spectacles. Immediately the world looked brighter again but he did not need the money. His money had been saved and the bank did not fail for the banker merely took a business trip. The play ended thus and a beautiful little romance between Percy, Benjamin's son and Lucy, Lorimer's daughter was brought to a happy conclusion."

Miss Adams deserves great credit for coaching the cast and the results reflect much care and training on her part. She must share some of the honor for the play was a great success.

GLEE CLUB ENDS TRIP IN GOOD STYLE.

On January 9, the Men's Glee Club gave their sacred concert in the United Brethren church at Shamokin. Rev. I. Moyer Hershey, a graduate of Lebanon Valley, is the pastor there. Not only were all the seats filled, but men were standing along the wall on three sides of the room. Seven hundred tickets were sold, more than could be accommodated, and consequently many were turned away.

Each member of the club was in good spirits and the programme was rendered in an exceptionally good, easy style. In spite of the fact that the audience was asked to refrain from applauding, they forgot themselves time and again.

The following day, Sunday, the club sang at the morning and evening services. The church was filled both times, especially in the evening. The Rev. Mr. Hershey spoke very highly of Lebanon Valley College, and before dismissing them in the evening, asked the audience to give the boys a handkerchief salute.

It is safe to make the asserting that Lebanon Valley holds a more prominent place in the hearts of the Shamokin people than heretofore.

At Millersburg, on January eleventh, the last concert of the trip was given in the High School auditorium. The boys left a good impression here last year; and this year they had the satisfaction of singing to a larger audience. The boys were pushed for time on account of having to take a train and the numbers followed in close succession; but this added spice to the programme, and the people seemed to think there was a great improvement over last year's concert, especially in the Glee.

Prof. Sheldon deserves special credit for the high class singing which the club is doing this year. The readings given by Mr. Jamison were very well received; indeed he never failed to secure an enthusiastic response from the audience. The quartette, too, was a success; more than once a remark to this effect was heard, "Well they can sing together all right."

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION TO-DAY

Great was the impression made by the lecture of Dr. John Merritt Driver, who spoke last Friday evening in Engle Hall, in the fourth number of the Star Course, on the subject, "The European Situation To-day." This eloquent word-painter fascinated his hearers and swayed them with his clear reasoning and able discussion of the great world crisis. For over two hours and a half he held their rapt attention. For some of the audience this period even was too brief, and they remained another half hour with Dr. Driver, who gladly discussed many questions which were asked him. Such comments as "That was the best lecture I ever heard," and "That is the sort of man who inspires one with high ambitions," were heard on every hand as the people left the auditorium.

Dr. Driver did not speak from hearsay but from experience; he has seen all the present crowned heads of Europe with the exception of the sovereigns of Norway and Sweden. He has been in every capital and principal city of Europe and has also seen the armies of every nation engaged in the titanic struggle. He expressed the opinion that the greatest character in the European history of the future will be Czar Nicholas.

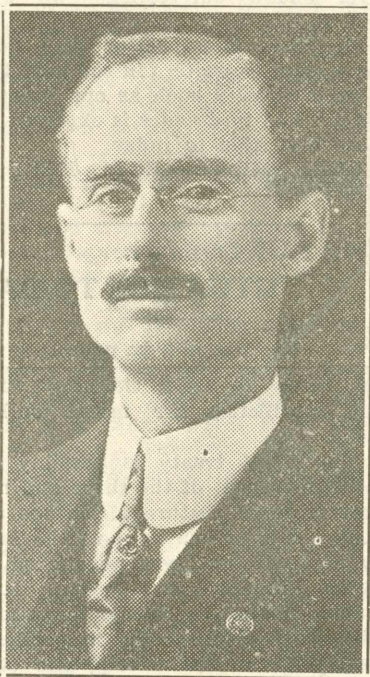

The speaker gave his personal impressions of the armies of the great powers, and then aiming directly to the conflict and the conditions governing it, his lecture was, in essence, as follows. There are in Europe to-day three important treaties concerning the war. One is that of the Triple Entente between England, France and Russia. Its provisions are: (a) The signatures thereto shall stand together both defensively and offensively; (b) Before any one of the three signatures shall engage in war, it must have the consent of the other two. The second treaty is that of the Triple Alliance consisting of Germany, Austria and Italy. This provides that: (a) It is to be only for defensive purposes; (b) Before any of the three nations signing repel an assault, it must lay the question before the other two. Italy had inserted in this treaty a clause to the effect that if any of the three signatures should engage in a war against any foreign power without the consent of the others, that act should make the treaty null and void. This clause explains how Italy

HURRAH FOR THE ENDOWMENT FUND

At this time let us have seriously in mind several facts concerning the endowment of Lebanon Valley College:

1 A Christian College is indispensable to the United Brethren Churches of the Conferences co-operating with Lebanon Valley, which is our only college east of Ohio. L. V. C. is as necessary as bishops and district superintendents whose leadership is the bulwark of our progress humanly speaking. No denomination of any strength is without its institutions of higher learning. They are regarded as essential and are supported generously. Where are we to train our leaders if not in our own Christian College?

2. Lebanon Valley can never be made self supporting; no colleges are. They all depend upon endowment. We must either decently endow our college or confess that we do not believe in higher education, and let the college go to the wall. Of course we will not do that.

3. There are not enough of us sufficiently wealthy to furnish the entire endowment in large gifts. The

FAMOUS SINGER PLEASES MANY

The song recital given Monday evening by Frederic Martin, Basso, of New York City, pleased a large and appreciative audience in Engle Auditorium, and from every standpoint was a decided success.

The program was of the very highest order and was full of variety, consisting of four groups, the first of which was made up of old classics, songs written by such composers as Beethoven, Mozart, and Haydn. Under the second group came six German songs, both classic and modern in style. These were especially well received by the audience and Mr. Martin was obliged to repeat one of them, "Die Ablosung" by Alexis Hol-laender before he could proceed with the remaining numbers.

Three French songs composed the third group, adding still more variety to the well-selected program, and these were followed by six very representative songs of different character in English as the concluding group.

Some of the most prominent features of Mr. Martin's singing in which he excelled were his phrasing, which was incomparable, his complete mastery of voice, the true interpretation of his songs, and his diction. In all his songs, whether in English, Italian, German or French his diction was splendid.

That the students and residents of Annville and vicinity appreciate the high standard of music offered by the various artists which have recently appeared at the college was again evidenced Monday evening not only by the fact that the auditorium was filled, but also by the applause which followed the rendition of each number. From the very first number, it was apparent that Mr. Martin was an artist in the highest sense of the word and from the first selection on until the very last he held the undivided attention of all present.

Mr. Martin was again and again forced to yield to the wishes of his audience by giving an encore and even after the last number of the program had been sung they anxiously awaited his reappearance with an encore but he refused to respond.

Professor Martin was accompanied at the piano by Professor E. Edwin Sheldon, Director of the Conservatory, who played with his usual expression and feeling. Great credit is due Prof. Sheldon for assuming the responsibility of bringing here from time to time artists so accomplished as Prof. Martin; and he deserves the support of us all in his efforts to give us these opportunities for enjoyment and inspiration.

PAYING INVESTMENTS

It has been said and truly that no one has ever become great in the fullest sense of the word without being allied with some great cause. Some wrong to be righted, some great truth to be portrayed, or exalted principle to be championed, some service for others—yes, these are the stepping stones on which the noble of the past have risen to their positions of honor in the "hall of fame" of the ages. He who lives to himself and for himself alone will die to himself and the remembrance of such a one will vanish with the first fitful passing breeze.

What we receive depends upon what we give; and that which we give not with the express idea of receiving, but for the sake of the object for which we put forth our efforts. The clerk who is always watching the clock has no time to become proficient in his business; the students who is always on the watch for the easiest way to slip through his subjects without expending on them honest effort is not fooling the teacher, but is robbing the future. Life may be likened to a business enterprise; every day we are investing time. We are laying up capital for the future; the more valuable the stock in which we invest, the more certain will be our future returns.

We are making character now and upon what we put into it depends our future. No building is stronger than its foundation; no chain is stronger than its weakest link. Every deed that we do; every thought that we think makes some impression, however small, on our future character. While we are building character, let us build right; it doesn't pay to build any other way. One's moral strength does not depend on one's physical being; a giant may not possess so much strength of character as a pigmy. It is a true saying that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well. We live this life only once; while we live, let us live as well as we can and put into it the best materials of which we know; we shall never regret it.

HURRAH, FOR THE ENDOWMENT FUND!

large gifts must be supplemented by the smaller gifts from all. It will be infinitely better for the giver and the college if there are 10,000 gifts averaging $25.00 each, or 25,000 gifts averaging $10.00 each, than if fifty men and women gave the $250,000. Every member at all able should subscribe to this endowment, and with five years for payment of pledges, hardly any adult need sacrifice seriously to give $5.00 or $10.00, and many can easily give $25.00 or $100.00 or more; while still others can give thousands and tens of thousands.

4. If each congregation having a debt or planning for a new building shall make that an excuse for not contributing its share of the fund we cannot succeed. Complete co-operation is required. If we wait for the time when we shall be out of debt or need no new churches, we shall never endow our college—we will bury it.

No, there is no better time than the present to unite. In the next five years prosperity such as our country has not had in decades is expected by those best able to judge.

HELP THE COLLEGE! HELP IT NOW!

can refuse to assist Germany without sacrificing her moral obligations.

The third treaty is possibly the most important of the three and may determine the future of Europe and Asia. It is known as the "The Treaty of Love" and was negotiated between England and Japan. It is unique in that it provides that should either government be in peril, defensively or offensively, the other government shall render to the one in peril "the offices of Love."

Dr. Driver spoke of the immediate cause of the war which was only an excuse for which Germany and Austria had been waiting to begin hostilities. This was the assassination of Grand Duke Ferdinand, the Crown Prince of Austria. Austria and Turkey are passing powers and will, before long, cease to exist in their present form. Greece, declared the speaker on good authority, will never fight against England. As soon as Serbia refused the demands of Austria, Germany declared war. Why did Italy refrain from fighting? In the first place she could withdraw legally according to her treaty with Germany there are however five other reasons:

1. The Pope was opposed to war.
2. The Socialists, who are strong in Italy, opposed it.
3. The Queen of Italy is of Russian blood.
4. Italy's hatred of Austria.
5. Italy's boundless love for England.

Dr. Driver declared that Germany has made a mistake, which will of necessity prove fatal, in the violation of the neutrality of Belgium; in so doing she shocked the moral sense and aroused the antagonism of the greater part of the civilized world. He paid a high tribute to the heroism of the Belgians declaring that not since Thermopylae has such an act of heroism been performed, and that the salvation of Europe lay in the handful of Belgians who held back the Germans for two weeks.

The Kaiser, he declared, has an incurable disease and there is little doubt as to the outcome of the war; moreover, not only is the public sentiment of the world against him, but he lacks the support of many of his people at home. The final outcome Dr. Driver believes will be the yielding of Germany after the Allies have driven her armies from Antwerp gradually back to Berlin; the appointing of a peace commission by President Wilson; and the making of a new map of Europe.

MARRIAGE OF ALUMNUS.

Word has been received of the recent marriage of Lester A. Rodes, '14, and Miss Lucinda Potter, of York, Pennsylvania. The Reverend R. R. Rodes, the father of the groom, performed the ceremony. They will reside at Moorestown, New Jersey, where Mr. Rodes is Professor of Mathematics in the High school.

Mr. Rodes has many friends here, and the "News" feels sure that it expresses their sentiments in offering its congratulations and best wishes for the future to our former college mate.

OF INTEREST TO EVERY STUDENT.

During the first week in February the Christian Associations will hold our annual college week of prayer.

A departure from the usual method will be made this year in the way of leaders. Instead of having a different leader for each evening there will be one leader for the whole series of meetings. A committee has been at work for several weeks and they have been very fortunate in securing our own college pastor, Rev. S. F. Daugherty, D.D., to be the speaker at these meetings. Problems vital to the best interests of every man and woman in college will be taken up at this time. A new feature this year will be the group prayer meetings to be held nightly in the various dormitories. Every man and woman in college should plan to get the spiritual benefit from these meetings which can only be derived by being present at them. Make no dates for February 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5.

A "feed" was given in Room 40 of the girls' dormitory, Saturday evening, in honor of Miss Edna Spessard. Those present were Edna Spessard, Ellen Moyer, Miriam Oyer and Ruth Huber. All departed at a late hour to their respective rooms, wishing Miss Spessard many more such happy occasions.

Miss Mary Bergdoll, '17, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Lebanon.

DR. GOSSARD AT CHICAGO.

Dr. Gossard was at Chicago recently attending the convention of the National Association of College Presidents. Before the convention opened there was a meeting of the church boards of thirteen different denominations. The convention sessions, which were held at the Hotel Sherman, continued for three days. Features of the convention, at which 167 college presidents were present, included addresses by prominent speakers from various parts of the country, and an open parliament for the discussion of problems in college administration that come to the attention of college officials.

PROF. SHENK LECTURES

AT READING

Professor Shenk, of the college faculty, at the invitation of Gideon L. Blouch, formerly of the class of 1915 and now Educational Work Director of the Reading Y. M. C. A., recently delivered his lecture, "Thou Art the Man," to a large gathering of men at a Sunday afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. in that city.

From the Reading "News-Times" we quote the following comment: "Professor Shenk is without doubt a lecturer of ability to hold the attention of an audience. He is a ready thinker and a forceful speaker. It is characteristic of him to create inspiration to him who listens with earnestness, through his forceful manner of delivery."

MRS. GOSSARD ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. G. D. Gossard delightfully entertained a number of friends at her home, Saturday afternoon. A part of the time was spent in sewing and in playing games, after which an excellent menu, consisting of all of the delicacies of the season, was served. Among those present were: Mrs. G. D. Gossard, Miss Minnie Gossard, Mrs. J. E. Lehman, Mrs. H. H. Shenk, Mrs. S. H. Derickson, Mrs. A. E. Shroyer, Mrs. H. E. Wanner, Mrs. S. O. Grimm, Mrs. Violette Freed, Mrs. E. E. Sheldon, Miss Seltzer, Miss Adams, Miss Long, Miss Schmidt, Miss Reddick, Mrs. G. R. Kreider, Jr., Miss Boehm, Miss Bachman, Miss Semauck and Miss Reed.

On Sunday afternoon was held one of the best Y. M. C. A. meetings of the year. The spirituality was high and the attendance good.

Mr. Carl G. Snively led the meeting and took as his subject "A Real Man." He gave us an interesting and most helpful talk on this subject, and impressed us with the fact that we should try to make our lives more like Christ. He also said that we should develop ourselves physically, mentally, and spiritually and that developing these three sides of our life is the only way we can be real men.

Mr. George Dehuff rendered a flute solo, which we appreciated very much.

We were sorry that some of the boys missed this meeting. It surely was of great benefit to all present, and we were given new inspiration to labor and pray for the meetings that will be held during the first week of February.

Y. W. C. A.

At the meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association last Sunday we had the report of the Lake Forest Conference by M. Belle Orris our delegate. She explained in full the step contemplated by the Young Women's Associations of America, which is of great importance. Louise Henry sang a very beautiful solo which was thoroughly enjoyed.

As the college week of prayer is approaching the cabinets of the Christian Associations are putting forth special effort toward more spirituality and devotion in the college. The girls, as well as the boys, are having prayer-meetings in the dormitories every day and great interest is shown at which we are greatly pleased.

L. V. FOR CHRIST

ATTENDANCE BREAKS RECORDS

The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations were especially fortunate in having Rev. J. Edgar Knipp, the Educational Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, to speak to them in their joint session, Sunday afternoon. Mr. Paul Bowman introduced the speaker, who used as his subject "War in Japan" referring of course to the war against sin. He told of the great need in Japan for young men and women to do service for God. The Reverend Mr. Knipp and his wife were missionaries to that country about eight years ago and are going back soon, as they feel that they are needed there.

He spoke a few encouraging words to those who have lately taken a stand for Christ, and emphasized the fact that they will meet with many temptations which they cannot resist in their own strength, but must look to the Almighty One for aid. Mr. Carl Snively sang, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" which was very impressive. The attendance was the best in many years giving ample evidence of the new spirit which within the last few days has begun to pervade every feature of our college life.

A PLAN FOR EVERYONE.

The students had the great privilege of hearing Rev. J. Edgar Knipp speak, Monday morning in chapel. He told us to find out God's plan for our lives. Unless we do that they will be a failure. He said that it is more blessed to help somebody else than it is to hoard up money. He suggested that before selecting our life's work we should study John R. Mott's book "The Present World Situation."

Mr. Arthur G. Evans, of Lykens, was here visiting his brother, David Evans, '16, a few days last week.

This week is observed by the colleges throughout the country as a week of prayer. It is a time when special efforts are put forth in awakening the professing Christians to renewed service. Prayers are followed up with action among the indifferent and unsaved of the colleges. Rev. S. F. Daugherty will address the students each evening in the library assembly room. The meetings will begin at 6.15 p. m. each day.

During the past week our students have met for an hour and a half each evening in some student's room to pray and get themselves in the proper attitude for this week's services. It was a sight never to be forgotten to see from seventy-five to one hundred enthusiastic students gathered together with one purpose in view. Many were the devout, earnest prayers offered for the unsaved fellow students. We put to the test and proved the truth of the words, "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

According to the Campaign Committee which has been praying and planning for many weeks for the success of this revival among the students, it was prayer, getting right with God themselves, faith, and work that "started the ball rolling."

The campaign has only just begun, and what astonishing results have already been seen! More than twenty-five students have accepted Christ as their personal Savior; twice this number have confessed their need of a closer relation with God and have taken a firmer stand for the right. Sunday evening, in the regular church service, every male student who had either accepted Christ as his Savior or renewed his covenant was invited to stand before the altar. Not less than thirty-six responded to this request. What a wonderful heart-thrilling sight it was to see so many young persons casting their lives on the side of God! Only God can tell what will be the benefit to the world.

BOY SCOUTS ORGANIZED

Under the auspices of the college Y. M. C. A. A local Boy Scout campaign is in progress. At a recent meeting held by members of the Y. M. C. A. in conjunction with Prof. C. G. Dotter and other representative men of the town, D. B. Basehore was chosen Scout Master. He will appoint the assistant scout masters in the near future.

The boys of the community are very much interested in the work. There are already two patrols about to be organized. A full troop will be organized some time in March or April.

The purpose of the movement is to give the boy such training as will enable him to care better for himself and prepare for a higher standard of manhood. He is taught woodcraft, scout craft, first aid to the injured as well as many other useful phases of activity, which are essential in the life of any boy.

The patrols already organized have begun their work. A public exhibition of the work within a few weeks is contemplated by the Scout Master.

JUNIOR PLAY AT HERSHEY.

Thursday evening the Junior Class presented "A Pair of Spectacles" to a large audience in the Hershey Central Theatre. Again the cast proved themselves able to depict on the stage those incidents which occur in the lives of those about us. Miss Gertrude Schmidt, Mr. Ray Campbell, and the 1916 Quartette composed of Messrs. Ernst, Mason Long, Von Bereghy, and Earl Light also pleased the audience with their talent, by giving musical numbers between acts.

DR. GOSSARD AT BALTIMORE.

President Gossard was at Baltimore on business the past week. While there he attended the funeral of Mrs. Gossard's nephew.

Lester B. Zug, '15, preached his initial sermon last Sunday evening, filling the pulpit of the Grace Methodist church at Lebanon. This is the church of which H. S. Dando, '16, is pastor.

Miss Ellen Moyer, of the Academy, spent the week-end with her parents in West Hanover.

THE ESSENTIALS OF LIFE.

Much is said nowadays about the necessity of keeping a clean body. This is a very important factor in good manhood and womanhood—a factor that needs constant emphasis. One needs constant exercise and good food to keep up the muscles and build new tissues. However, not every one can have a strong, healthy physique; for there are those unfortunates who are born sickly and perhaps never enjoy a day of perfect health in all their lives. How thankful should we be who have good, strong bodies! Then, why not devote more time to keeping them so and developing them in the right way?

The physical development, however, is not all that one should strive after. Man was not only given a body to develop, but a mind as well. Those who have the chance—and not every one has the chance—should make the most of it. There are many who have the ability and the opportunity, but who unfortunately waste it. If such would only realize what a mistake they make! As all bodies are not strong, so all minds are not capable of the highest development; how many would like to have the ability and opportunity which they lack. We here at school have a wonderful door opened for us and if we will only exert our strength and open it, how much good we can do in the world.

Nor is the mental development the highest that one can attain. Man is threefold: body, mind, and spirit; and it is only by developing the latter that one can find peace and contentment. In forwarding the spiritual nature one rises to the highest possible happiness. God in his wisdom provided a way for all humanity. It is not possible for all to have perfect, strong bodies, nor keen, cultivated minds; but every one can live beautiful, spiritual lives. Christ reaches down to the lowest and points out the way: "He that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out." If one has wandered from the straight and narrow way, He is willing to welcome his return. It means constant watching and praying to keep our spirits free from sin, just as it takes constant exercise and study to keep our bodies and minds perfectly healthy. But is it not worth it? Consider the man who has neglected his spiritual development—is he happy? May be for the time being; but sensual pleasures pall; there is something lacking in mere intellectual joys. Only when the spiritual element is present, can we have complete happiness; only in the spirit is there perfect peace. Then, why not guard this blessed privilege which has been given to all and develop our lives to the greatest extent?

To attain well-balanced manhood and womanhood, we must develop all three parts of our being; and, most important of all, for our own welfare and happiness, let us not forget the spiritual.

THE FRESHMAN HIKE.

On Tuesday night after the basketball victory of the Freshmen over the Sophomores, the majority of the members of the Freshman class went on a hike to the water works. The party left the ladies' dormitory at five-thirty, chaperoned by Miss Kreider. As everyone was in good spirits over the outcome of the night before, it seemed no time at all before the crowd of merry young people reached the hotel. The early part of the evening was spent in singing and playing games.

At eight o'clock a most delicious supper was served and was very much enjoyed by all. After several speeches and some class yells were given, the party dispersed to the parlors. By the time the company was ready to start for home, the moon had risen, and everything was in harmony with the good spirits of the hikers. About eleven o'clock the party reached the dormitory, a little tired, but well pleased over the success of the evening.

whom was placed the religious responsibility for all. Happily those days, we have faith to believe, are over now. We are all going to assume our share of the responsibility to fulfill our slogan, "L. V. FOR CHRIST!" We have made a great step forward. Pray that we may be able not only to make firm our present position but also to advance beyond to greater service.

On Thursday evening the Sophomore class had a party in Cramer Hall. In the early part of the evening it seemed that the fun might be spoiled, for the electric lights refused to operate. Not to be dismayed by such a matter, however, the fun-seekers devised a scheme of lighting with candles. This proved a success; for not only did it light the hall, but gave a very pretty effect to the decorations. After much fun over some games and contests which the girls had provided, the boys served the "eats," which were indeed a pleasant surprise.

Ten o'clock found everybody safely returned to the dormitories, all feeling that they had a delightful evening.

A WINNING SCORE

On Friday evening there was played one of the best games of the season when our team defeated the New York University Law School five in a hard-fought contest. Our boys were in fine fettle and displayed a determination and confidence in their ability to win inspired by a feeling of their prowess and a recollection of other victories.

So far as we were concerned at least, the game was clean and free from the unfortunate features which too often mar contests in modern athletics. The New York team, with the exception that there was too much of an attempt on their part to hold our players, gave us a straightforward game; they showed much spirit and quickness of action proving themselves worthy antagonists.

For the first few minutes after the game began, we had the lead. Then a number of successive scores by New York gave them a temporary advantage, but we soon with increased nimbleness and more efficient guarding and team work forged ahead. At the end of the first half the score stood 20-11 in our favor.

The second half was characterized by even more consistent gains. It would seem that as the game progressed our confidence and spirit increased and we had practically everything our own way. The New York players were better at shooting foul goals than field goals; while we excelled in the latter and in the efficiency of team work, and surpassed them in shooting foul goals as well. One of the players from the Metropolis especially demonstrated considerable agility when in his eagerness to get at the ball, he sprang up the netting in front of the spectators almost all the way to the basket. A large and appreciative audience witnessed the game.

The final score was 38-19 in favor of Lebanon Valley.

New Base Ball Record

Spalding's Official Baseball Record has just made its eighth annual appearance, increased in size to 500 pages, making it the largest and most complete book of records published.

To the college man the RECORD this year is of exceptional interest, as it now contains a new section, devoted entirely to baseball in the college arena. It contains records of 1914, notes of the game in prominent colleges, schedules for 1915, names of captains and managers, dual series between prominent colleges, and other interesting information, while the pictures comprise nearly 100 institutions.

All the usual features are still there in more accurate and condensed form. Facts that are contained in this book are practically inaccessible without reference to innumerable volumes and months of research. Some of the features are the official records of the past year in Baseball, starting from the "Round-the-World-Tour" of the Giants and White Sox, in December, 1913, up to the end of the "All-Nationals and All-Americans" tour in December, 1914; the Baseball "Hall of Fame," a review of the last world's series, city series, official averages of all major and minor league, and the fascinating diagrams of the pennant races week by week in all organizations.

The pictorial section, printed on a much better paper than formerly, is most attractive, while the actual size of the page has been increased.

Spalding's Official Baseball Record is for sale by A. G. Spalding & Bros.' stores, by all newsdealers, or will be sent on receipt of price, 25 cents, by the publishers, the American Sports Publishing Co., 21 Warren Street, New York City.

Poet Laureate.

A laureate was originally a purely university title, bestowed upon such masters of arts as had exhibited skill in the making of Latin verses, and it had nothing to do with the civil authority, or royal favor. The first "poet laureate," in the modern sense, was Ben Jonson.

STRENUOUS GAME WITH BUCKNELL

The most strenuous game of the season was played last Friday evening when our five held down the Bucknell basket ball team to a score of 28-30 in their favor. Indeed, a gentleman who has seen many college contests declared it was the closest game that he had ever witnessed. The fact that five or six times the score was a tie is in itself sufficient evidence of the hardness of the contest. That Bucknell won at all may be attributed to psychological influences; for the rapid scoring of five points by that team at the start seemed to discourage our players. And although they soon steadied themselves, and tied the up-river team at 10-10, they were temporarily at a disadvantage.

After some time out and a little easy practice, the defenders of the blue and white re-entered the contest with a vim that bid fair to carry all before them. They had considerable difficulty, however, in locating the basket, which would seem to be attributable to bad luck alone. Again and again the ball would enter the ring and roll around just inside the basket, only to bounce out again without falling through. The first half closed with a tie at 11-11.

The opening of the second half found both teams much refreshed with their respite; and the contest grew more exciting than ever. A difficult field goal shot by Bucknell from a point back of center elicited much applause from the spectators. L. V. showed better team work and more confidence than in the first half; and now one side and now the other forged ahead. The game had one unfortunate accident. Garner, one of Bucknell's players, sustained a broken nose during the first half, but had nerve enough to remain in the contest. As the close of the second half approached, the playing grew faster and more furious, and the excitement of the spectators more intense. Three or four more times the score was tied; the last being at 28-28. Bucknell then scored two points by a field goal, when time out was called. They began again with only ten seconds to play; but the half closed without either side scoring, leaving the final score 28-30 in favor of Bucknell.

The game which as a whole was clean, was witnessed by an unusually large audience. Brenner starred for Bucknell and Loomis for Lebanon Valley. Bucknell outclassed us in shooting skill; while we outdid them in passing and in team work.

SOME PLAIN FACTS ABOUT ENDOWMENT

Humanity, pretty much all of it, is from Missouri—"It has to be shown." A further trait of the natives of this western state is that you "get them" if you can "show them."

Undoubtedly United Brethren are many of them from Missouri and they are "game," that is, responsive, to matters of merit. They have a perfect right to ask, "Why?" when an appeal is made.

One interesting piece of literature being used in the big Endowment Campaign for L. V. C. gives the "Whys" of the Campaign. We wish to touch upon one reason why every loyal, thoughtful United Brethren will co-operate for the Campaign's success, why every official board should co-operate in enlisting its local membership.

The keynote of Christianity is service and sacrifice. Its Founder "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give his life a ransom for many." The one great business of the Church of Christ is service. That church best represents Christianity which serves most and most efficiently.

Service is consecrated training "on the job" and to be most effectual must be both consecrated and trained. A true heart directed by an intelligent mind makes the best nurse in Red Cross work; no less is this true in all life's great battlefields and

REVIVAL CAMPAIGN AT THE ANNVILLE UNITED BRETH- REN CHURCH.

On Sunday, the revival campaign of our United Brethren church, of Annville saw its beginning. Rev. O. T. Deever will arrive Wednesday and have charge of the revival services. The students are urgently invited to attend these meetings of helpfulness and inspiration and take part in the services in such ways as by joining the choir or by doing personal work among the unsaved.

DEATH OF MR. LINEBAUGH

Word has been received of the death in York, on Monday morning of the father of Percy M. Linebaugh, of the Conservatory of Music. Mr. Linebaugh was a prominent member of the United Brethren church of York. One of his sons is pastor of the church at Hershey. The "News" extends its sincere sympathy to the afflicted family.

THE GIRLS ARE IN THE GAME TO WIN

It has been ten years or more since the ladies of Lebanon Valley have had a basket ball team. During the years before the fire they used to practice in the old chapel and had a schedule of games. After the fire the sport was dropped because there was no place to play. Since the building of the new gymnasium there has been considerable interest along this line; a team has been organized and a schedule is being arranged. The ten most promising players are: Misses R. Engle, M. Engle, Case, Boltz, Hershey, Bachman, Moyer, Garman, Gamble and Ulrich. About half of this number have never had experience in a real game so too much must not be expected of them when they play Harrisburg High School at Harrisburg on Friday evening, February 12. A return game will be played with Harrisburg High School on the home floor March 5. Several other games will be scheduled.

BOB TAKES A SPILL

The hills around Annville where they are covered with snow, offer splendid opportunities for coasting. A few spills in the snow are enjoyed, but a roll over rough ice, at a rapid rate is rather annoying, to say the least. Last Thursday night, when the ground was covered by a sheet of ice, twelve of the students with a "bob" preceded to Gravel Hill. They met with an upset on the first trip down the hill; the second was uneventful, but, oh, that third descent! The sled carrying twelve students swerved from its course, owing to some ruts, to avoid colliding with a tree, when Mr. Race, who was steering, ditched the speeding "bob." The stop was so sudden that the coasters were hurled forward many feet. Several ankles were sprained and Miss Josephine Mathias' face was rather badly scratched. Mr. Race, however, received the most severe injuries caused by the impenetrable wheel which he struck the iron steering wheel. Two of his ribs were severely injured and other lesser injuries were sustained by him. With the exception of Mr. Race, all are on a fair way to recovery and are ready to see whether they can not do better next time.

A NEW ERA FOR OUR COLLEGE.

In time to come the present year will in all probability be regarded as a landmark in the history of our college. It is noteworthy because of two great movements—the one spiritual, the other economic; yet both having an important bearing on the future efficiency of our institution.

Within the past two weeks in connection with the Week of Prayer for colleges we have witnessed probably as complete a spiritual awakening as has occurred in any college, at least within recent years. It has influenced every feature of our college life, and has resulted in the bringing into Christian fellowship of by far the greater number of our students who did not enjoy that privilege before, and the reconsecration of many who, although church members, have come to feel that they were not doing their share of service for their fellow beings and their God. We believe that a new era is being ushered in—an "era of good feeling"; of co-operation between students and faculty, between societies, between students as individuals, between students and the Church, and between students and their Lord. Not that this relation did not exist before—it did—; but it has been deepened, spiritualized, and intensified by the awakening to individual responsibilities, to the need of renewed consecration to the cause of greater service for our fellow beings in this life. It is our earnest prayer that this new spirit will not only continue to increase and develop, but will be spread by our students to other communities and institutions. Let us remember that we increase our own well-being by ministry for others.

The other great movement referred to is the intensifying of the campaign for the $250,000 Endowment Fund for Lebanon Valley on a basis of scientific management under a director experienced in raising large sums of money. As we all know, our endowment has been and still is totally inadequate. No college is self-supporting; and ours, as well as the others must look to endowment as essential to its existence. When we consider how woefully small, $7.65 per student, is the annual income from the present endowment, we wonder how the institution has got along as well as it has. We students realize as probably many members of the United Brethren Church who are not intimately connected with the college do not, how great has been the burden on the trustees, and how inadequate the available funds, especially those for the salaries of the professors. The church must rally to the support of the college; the ultimatum is, "endow or die!"

That the church needs the college is beyond question; nor is the latter's influence in the community of any less importance. That the recent spiritual awakening at our institution is directly traceable to the inspired efforts of consecrated members of our own Christian Associations, and not to any extraneous influence, gives every assurance of the sincerity and permanence of the movement.

As students, we have a large share in promoting the prestige of the college both at home and abroad. The value of an institution to society is measured by its product; the undergraduates of an institution are at least as responsible as its graduates for the public estimate of its usefulness. Let us then be truly consistent in the great stand which we students, both individually and collectively, have taken for practical Christianity.

In this practical age nothing is so important as practical Christian living; not only once in a while, but every day, every hour, every minute. Wherever we may be—in the class room or the dormitory, on the street in the gymnasium, on glee club or athletic trips—we are influencing someone else respecting ourselves and our college. We should be proud of the fair name of Lebanon Valley—so proud that we should hesitate to do anything to mar its reputation. By our own conduct we can help or hinder the raising of the endowment fund. And remember that actions speak louder than words. The endowment fund is going to be raised; let us bear our part in helping it forward.

ALUMNUS MARRIED

Mr. Albert D. Flook, '09, and Miss Clara E. Leatherman, both of Myersville, Md., were united in marriage at Grace United Brethren parsonage, Carlisle, Pa., Wednesday, February 3rd by Rev. F. Berry Plummer, '05. Mr. Flook is the manager of the Farmers Mutual Exchange, Myersville, and is a close friend of Prof. Roy J. Guyer, of the college faculty. The bride is an accomplished young lady and enjoys the acquaintance of a large circle of friends. The honeymoon trip includes Gary, Ind., Chicago, Denver, San Francisco, and other western cities. Mr. and Mrs. Flook will reside at Myersville, Md.

Mr. Flook was the best football center while at Lebanon Valley and always has the interest of the college at heart. We congratulate "Adam," as he was called by his college chums.

C. L. MACKERT LEADS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

One of the most inspiring and one of the most helpful meetings of the Y. M. C. A. held this year was led by C. LeRoy Mackert on Sunday afternoon. The leader brought out very forcibly our relation to each other as brothers. That Christ loved the sinner, but hated his sin, and that we should love sinners but hate their sin was the central theme. The leader made a strong plea for us to revere, protect, and fight for the honor of the sex of our mothers, and especially for our uniting here at college to protect our own college girls. The speaker laid emphasis on the fact that one cannot fight sin and impurity alone; but only by the help of God.

it is particularly true in church activity. To say charitably of an earnest soul who is continually blundering, that "his heart is all right," may extenuate, but it does not wholly excuse.

The United Brethren Church has always sought the highest in spiritual life. We should be none the less interested in its highest effectiveness in spiritual service. Therefore, we established Lebanon Valley College as a Christian training center for our ministry and our young people.

Very wisely, at our last conferences the educational standard for entry into the ministry was raised in recognition of the fact that we need consecrated leadership with the best possible training, in our pulpits. Those churches will grow most and serve their communities best whose leadership in pulpit and pew is most intelligent in its spiritual life.

Christianity has ever put a premium on intelligence. Education has ever been the handmaid of Christianity, as ignorance has been the handmaid of superstition. Ignorance has never done anything for the world's uplift. Christianity means light wherever it goes. Light is Knowledge. Knowledge is Power.

We may learn some things from our friends, the Roman Catholics. While we may feel that a part of the policy of this Church is to keep its membership in ignorance on spiritual matters by doing their thinking for them, nevertheless it must be recognized that the prominent position its membership occupies in the world of politics, of business, and of accomplishment generally, is due largely to the emphasis placed upon higher education. Its leaders are educated leaders. The Church is bending every effort to provide the best educational facilities for training its clergy and laity, and its institutions for higher education are fast taking a front rank in this country. The wisdom of Rome should not be lost upon us.

The future of our Church is inseparably bound up with our institutions of higher learning. We cannot rise above our leadership. The character of our leadership will be largely determined by the character of the educational facilities we provide for their training.

This great campaign to endow decently Lebanon Valley College is an appeal to our common sense, to our church loyalty, to our individual self respect and proper pride.

It is no credit to us that our only college east of Ohio has so little endowment after nearly fifty years of existence. It is no credit to our Christian statesmanship or liberality that weaker denominations have outstripped us in properly supporting younger institutions than ours. It is not an honor to us as a church that through failure to support our college its commercial credit should be impaired. It would bring the blush of shame to the cheek if our individual credit were thus unnecessarily impaired.

United Brethren, these things should not be. Your Trustees, to whom you have given the responsibility of administering your college, are determined that it shall not be, and they appeal to you to support this feasible plan for relief.

Christian Education, no less than gospel evangelism, is a part of our great Church work—that is one reason why each of us should assume a personal responsibility in this campaign. When the matter is brought to your church for action as it will be, absolve yourself from any responsibility for failure by loyally and heroically assuming your share of the task. Every official board should place the stamp of approval upon the campaign by hearty co-operation.

Miss Wert, Principal of the Teachers' Training School in Harrisburg, spent the week-end at the college as a guest of Miss Long, Dean of Women.

C. E. Brennehan, '15, of the Boys' Dormitory, who has been very ill, is improving.

A BEAUTIFUL LIFE.

All over the United States, last Sunday, memorial services were held in the Y. W. C. A.'s in honor of Miss Grace H. Dodge, the President of the National Board. Miss Dodge lived a very beautiful life and was a most unique example of womanly sweetness and executive ability combined. At the same time, she had plans under consideration for bettering the life of the factory girls, for helping old people and children, and for founding a Teachers' College in New York City. She was President of the Board of Trustees of the American College for Girls in Constantinople and also the first woman member of the Public School Board of New York City. Nevertheless, these large public interests and concerns never obscured her intimate and personal relations. She was devoted to her mother during the helpless years of her invalidism. Her home was a very beautiful one and one which fitly represented her Master here on earth.

Miss Miriam Oyer led the meeting and several of the girls assisted. It was a very interesting subject and many lessons could be learned. There were three musical numbers, a solo by Miss Colt, a duet by Misses Ziegler and Lorenz, and a quartet by Misses Wyand, Lorenz, Ziegler and Davis. Miss Long made a few remarks and told what she knew of Miss Dodge, having met her at Columbia. The meeting was well attended and very good.

GIRLS MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Girls' Basket Ball Team

The Girls' Basket Ball team played their first game on Friday evening at Harrisburg when they lost to the strong and experienced team of Central High School. Our girls were very much handicapped by the large floor and by the dribbling rules which were permitted. The High School girls were very skillful with the dribble and one girl unassisted would carry the ball the entire length of the floor; while our girls had to depend upon passing, and this was a much more difficult method. As a result the H. S. girls had more opportunities to score. Nevertheless our girls led the scoring throughout the entire first half, the score at half time being 5-3 in our favor. Just before the close of the period Miss Hershey caged a brilliant goal, but the referee declared it no goal claiming a held ball. In the second half the H. S. girls came back with unexpected strength and gradually forged ahead. Miss Boltz starred for L. V. with two beautiful field goals and Miss Engle did splendid work when she made four out of six possible on free throws. All the girls played well. Coach Guyer is much pleased with the showing and believes the girls will win March 5 on the home floor when they will play their return game with Harrisburg High. The Hassett Club of Harrisburg is scheduled to play here on Friday evening of this week. This is a very strong team. Come out to see the girls play; they deserve our hearty support and encouragement. This is a good time to show your college spirit.

VARSITY WINS FROM JUNIATA

The most exciting basket ball game this year was played last Wednesday evening when our Varsity defeated Juniata with a score of 36-30. As was the case in the game with Bucknell, the opposing team made successive scores totaling five points at the very beginning. However when our players got warmed up to their work, so to speak, it was "nip and tuck" until the end of the first half, when the score stood 13-15 in favor of Juniata. During this half both sides showed good team work; but there were two double fouls called which both missed. L. V. showed fairly consistent gains.

With the opening of the second half a fresh vigor was noticeable in our players. The terrific leaps and swift rushes of "Bill" Swartz took

GLEE CLUB MAKES A HIT AT YORK

Last Friday evening the Men's Glee Club appeared before an audience of eight hundred people in the High School Auditorium at York, Pa.

The boys had never sung in such a large auditorium before, but they demonstrated that they were equal to the occasion. The programme was rendered in a snappy manner and the numbers followed each other in close succession. In spite of the fact that many of the members of the club had colds every one came up to the required high standard.

Compliments were received on every hand after the programme, many insisted that Lebanon Valley far outclassed the other clubs which had appeared in York from time to time. Similar comments have been heard at places other than York, a fact which clearly shows that our

L. V.'S SPIRITUAL AWAKENING

Our college evangelistic campaign conducted this year beginning on the first of February and ending on the fifth, was something which will long be remembered by all those who came in contact with it. The committee was very fortunate in securing our college pastor, Rev. S. F. Daugherty, D.D., to speak every evening. Rev. Mr. Daugherty is especially qualified for this work, having had experience in college campaigns while college pastor at Otterbein University. He is a graduate of Lebanon Valley.

On Monday night his subject was "Paul's Boast." We cannot boast in earthly things, but only in the cross of Jesus Christ. On Tuesday evening the subject was "The Cost of a Christian Life." He brought out the earnestness and the serious character of the Christian life. To become a Christian costs every sin that we have. Sins must not only be repented of but they must also resolutely be thrown overboard. Give up self-righteousness. On Wednesday evening the subject was "The Influence of a Life." Emerson says, "What you are speaks so loud, I cannot hear what you say." May we give attention to the building of a holy life, in order that though being dead our lives may go on telling for God and for good. On Thursday night the subject was "A Religion that Works." The soul is that by which a man towers to his highest stature. We need Christ for an ideal, a faultless example. Christianity is the only religion that meets that need. We need power to endure and conquer, and to struggle and to overcome. The great English statesman, Wm. E. Gladstone, bore testimony to the fact that the gospel is the only remedy for our social, political, and spiritual ills.

On Friday night the subject was "Here is My Signature." A signature should stand for consistency and consecration. There are three propositions for the signature of every one of us: (1) Salvation, (2) Sacrifice, (3) Service. At this closing meeting

MY IMPRESSION OF THE

BILLY SUNDAY MEETINGS.

By S. Huber Heintzelman

We now talk about Sunday every day in the week. In Philadelphia, all streets seemingly lead to the "Billy" Sunday tabernacle. When within a radius of several blocks of the tabernacle, one need not ask the way there. From all directions people of all ages and professions are seen hurrying along in their eagerness to arrive at the tabernacle in time to be able at least to get inside the doors. The eagerness with which people attend these meetings is marvelous. Men and women, after work in the evening, neglect the evening meal in order that they may imbibe the great truths which this man of God has for them. Saturday evening, the writer was compelled to stand not only an hour and a half before the service began, but also stood for an hour and forty minutes in the press of the crowd listening to this evangelist who is, with God's help, working wonders for the cause of Christ here on earth. To see from 20,000 to 28,000 persons assembled under one roof to hear the word of God is, in itself, an inspiration. The thorough organization of the forces assisting the evangelist also contributes much toward the success of the campaign.

"Billy" Sunday possesses a personality which is irresistible and displays splendid tactfulness in the presentation of his messages. His vast experiences have enriched his stock of illustrations, which he uses with effect. Billy believes in taking the enemy before he himself is taken. Therefore, from first to last in his plea for better living and higher standards of religion, he strikes tremendous blows at sinfulness and its causes.

The burden of sorrow at seeing men swept into hell just because no one told them of Christ, and the great joy he finds in being a tool in God's hands for bringing these poor sinners to the one who sweat drops of blood when he thought of their condition, has so possessed him that he has thrown himself unreservedly into his task. He is a big man in a big work. May he enjoy many more years in thus doing God's will.

THE COLLEGE EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN.

there were about 160 students present all of whom reconsecrated themselves.

The week preceding the week of prayer was spent as a preparation for this week's service. It proved to be a glorious week in many ways.

Prayer meetings were held every evening at 10 o'clock. They were conducted entirely by the students and though planned for only 15 minutes often lasted until midnight or later. It was in these meetings that the greatest spirit was manifested and about 50 students found Christ.

The question is often asked how did this start? It was doubtless inspired by the earnest, consistent lures and desires of the faculty and students, by the influence of the Eagle Mere Conference on several leading students and by a burning desire on the part of all to have L. V. a strong religious institution.

The influence grew until it touched every heart. The results show that God can work wonders by using young men and women in college who are willing to be used.

"How Shall I Have a Good Time?" was the subject of the Young Women's meeting on Sunday afternoon. The leader, Helen Oyler, used as a basis of her talk Paul's statement, "All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient," and several more verses of like effect. She pointed out the harm in many of the so-called "good times" and suggested that as Christians we avoid all such pleasures. Miss Rachael Shenk sang a very pretty solo. The meeting was an interesting one and a help to all.

STUDENTS LEAD THE SERVICES.

For a week special evangelistic services have been held in the Annville United Brethren Church and last Saturday night the services were in charge of the students. Mr. Paul Bowman opened the meeting and Mr. Lester Zug gave a talk on "Put on the whole armour of God that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil." Ephesians 6:11. His remarks were very appropriate and helpful. Another student, Mr. Edwin Zeigler, led in prayer, and Mr. David Evans made an earnest plea for all to come to Jesus' feet. Miss Naomi Hand sang a very appropriate solo. There were many who testified for their Master and the meeting was very helpful. It helped to bring the students and church people closer together which cannot but result in good for both church and school.

GENERAL SECRETARY OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR LEADS CHAPEL EXERCISES.

Thursday morning the students of the college were privileged in having Rev. O. T. Deaver, General Secretary of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the United Brethren Church, lead the devotional exercises in chapel and then give a short message. He made a plea for Christian men and women. "We need a strong physique," he said, "to sustain and equip us, but above all a good character is to be desired." As Rev. Mr. Deaver will be in Annville several weeks, we hope, during his stay, to imbibe many of his splendid ideas for the development of the youth of the church.

the Juniata players by surprise, they could not stop him and he shot two field goals in quick succession, which tied the score at 17-17. From this point our players gained consistently and we remained ahead until the end of the game. The Juniata five tried to recover their lead, but it was of no use our team was too much for them. One of the exciting incidents was the shooting by "Danny" Walter of a goal from near the center of the floor.

The game was characterized by good team work by both sides, by the swift irresistible rushes of "Bill" Swartz, Keating and Loomis and by fast passing and many swift plays. All our players did admirably.

MIRTH AND GLEE IN RIVALRY

One of the most successful events of the college year occurred last Tuesday night when the Kalozetean Literary Society entertained the student body and friends with their annual Masquerade Party. For several weeks the college students had been eagerly engaged in preparation for this occasion at which they anticipated having the "time of their lives." Indeed, even though their expectations were high, yet the realization far exceeded their anticipations. The usual custom was to have the guests entertained in the Kalo Hall, but this year all students and friends, both masked and unmasked, gathered in the College Chapel at 8 o'clock. From here, the citizen band of Annville leading off, the group of known and unknown, of suspects and unsuspects of disguised and undisguised, marched two by two through the town of Annville until they came to Kramer's Hall where arrangements were made to entertain the masqueraders.

About one hundred of the throng were masked, disguised with such skill that a genius in the art of highway performances could have done no better; some with such taste that nature herself could not have added another touch of perfection; some turned themselves into ancient monsters while others represented inanimate objects in fantastic garb. However, after some minutes of keeping the company guessing, the signal was given to unmask and, then, two prizes were bestowed on those who had procured for themselves the most peculiar and interesting costumes.

The first prize was given to a trio representing a Zebra. The persons employed in the formation of this animal were Reuben Williams, John Morrison, and Abe Long.

The second prize was given to a large mysterious clock. The hand of the clock which received the prize belonged to Miss Louise Henry.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a very pleasant manner. While the band furnished music the people were served with refreshments. This masquerade party will linger in our memories as one of the most enjoyable events we have ever had at old L. V. C.

TWO MORE GAMES ON BASKET BALL SCHEDULE

The Basket Ball Manager, J. O. Jones, has succeeded in scheduling the Carlisle Indian Basket Ball Team for two games—the home game to be played on Tuesday evening, March 2, 1915. It is to be expected that the Indians will draw a record house.

THE MEMBERS HOLD CONFERENCE

Once upon a time—so all stories should begin—the many members of a human body met in convention to consider the welfare of their body. It was evident that something was wrong. Comparison with other human bodies had convinced these members that they could greatly improve the conditions. They recognized that their body was not so big nor so strong nor so clever as some others. Even for its size they felt it was not doing its best, and while each member was apparently doing his work just as the various members of other bodies, the desired results were not forthcoming.

It developed in the discussion, in which each member participated in regular old fashioned United Brethren class-meeting style, that one member after another experienced some difficulties in the discharge of his duties. The vision of the eyes was not always clear, it was often distorted. The ears were sure, from some experiences related, that they did not hear all the sounds they should, nor those they did catch, so clearly as they should. The hands confessed that very often they could not retain their grip on things; and the fingers admitted frequent fumbings.

It was found that the feet were slow to move, uncertain in step, and tired quickly. Moreover, in winter weather they often got cold. The heart pleaded guilty when accused of not sending the blood to the body's extremities, but said it was too weak and tired oftentimes; and besides, it depended largely upon the stomach. The stomach claimed to suffer so much from an ache of its own that it could not always do the right thing for its fellow members.

The session continued long, and the brain, when called upon, was so drowsy it had no ideas to offer. It was finally aroused however, and made chairman of a committee appointed to visit other bodies to investigate their conditions. This committee later reported that it had visited a large number of bodies, questioned the members carefully and observed their methods of operation.

As a result a very definite conclusion was reached. They were confident their body had not been receiving a sufficient amount of nourishing food, and this lack of food weakened their body and rendered it inefficient in results achieved. They discovered that, had the brain received even its share of what they recognized as an insufficient food supply, mat-

GIRLS' VARSITY VICTORIOUS

Before probably the largest audience at any basket ball game in our gymnasium thus far this season, the Lebanon Valley Girls' Team defeated the Hasset Club Girls, of Harrisburg, in an exciting contest, with a score of 14-10. Every seat in the gym was taken and besides there were some persons standing. The Hasset Club is considered a strong team, and is well known in this part of the state. This is the first game they have lost this season. Thus, our girls are to be congratulated on their success, which is still more noteworthy considering that this was the first home game played this year with an out of town team. Their victory should give them great encouragement for further conquests.

The contest went a little slowly at first, but the players soon warmed up to their work, and as the game progressed, excitement ran high. Our team might have been supported better in the way of more "pep" on the part of the L. V. rooters. Our players, however, showed good nerve. Miss Virginia Hershey starred for L. V. and Miss Burns for Hasset Club.

The Harrisburgers had difficulty in locating the basket. There were a number of close throws made by both sides; but L. V. outclassed the Capitol City players in goal shooting. On the whole, considering the amount of practice the girls had, our team work was good; the spirit shown was excellent. We came near having a higher score. In one instance Esther Bachman threw the ball into the basket and it whirled around just inside the ring; when, as luck would have it, it bounced out again. At another time one of our players tossed a field goal which did not count because the whistle had just blown.

As a student body we should not forget to show the same college spirit in behalf of the girls as we do toward the boys. The former need our encouragement just as much if not more than the latter; for owing to the fact that their team has not been in the field so long, their athletic reputation is not yet so well established. The next time that the girls' team goes away to play let us remember to give them a good, rousing send-off at the station. There is no reason why Lebanon Valley should not have the champion girls' team in this part of the state.

EDITORIAL.

This month we have celebrated the birthdays of two great American patriots—George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. These two Presidents lived during those periods of our history when our national life was in danger. They saw the need and responded. Theirs was not a sectional ambition—an ambition for the preservation of the life of only their state. On the contrary, we take pride in remembering them as preservers of national unity, true liberty, and honor. What more noble and patriotic deed could Washington have done than to have been the leader in securing for his fellow Americans their independence, and in laying the foundations of a nation destined to rival the other powers of the world? Possibly no other person could, with so great skill, have performed those duties which the position of commander-in-chief of an army so poorly supported required. There were periods in his life, like those following the surrender of Fort Washington, and the jealous and traitorous acts of Charles Lee and Benedict Arnold, when only a determined leader such as the honored father of our country could retain his calm dignity and great resolution. Possibly no other than he could have lent so much dignity to the office of the Presidency and caused other countries to respect the newly born United States of America.

In like manner, what grander and more unselfish impulse could have moved the heart of Lincoln than that of preserving the unity of that nation which Washington endeavored to establish? This was a staggering task, demanding a will which could not be turned aside by the bitterest criticism and the carrying out of which cost him his life. After seeing beings, who according to the fundamental principles of our constitution were free and equal, sold into servitude, he determined, when the proper moment came, to strike a death blow to this inhumane traffic. Lincoln considered the loss of his life as a small offering laid on the altar of his country if by his life he could remove the faulty pillars which were upholding his nation and replace them with pillars which would endure and make a grander structure for his countrymen. Without hesitancy we say: "These patriots were men." As we view their lives may we "take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion," and ever uphold and preserve the good name of the United States of America!

THE FIGHT IS ON.

Have you enlisted? If not, why not? Are you too busily engaged in the things of lesser importance? Listen, "A saloonless Nation in 1920." Do you want to see it? If you do, then help to make our local oratorical contest a success. At a meeting of the Prohibition League there were nine members who decided to enter the contest. More information concerning this coming event will be given out later. The student body is kindly asked to render any aid possible to these contestants from time to time in the way of valuable material for an oration or along any other line which might help to present a winning speech. There will be friendly rivalry; but someone is going to win. Remember, the winner goes to the state convention. Will he be your favorite? Shoulder your musket and get on the firing line. Don't bother about a uniform. You don't have to be a member of the Prohibition League in order to join the ranks. If you are a "Soldier of the Cross" you are wanted at the front. That's your place. There are lots of people who are ready to join the cheering when the flag has been planted on the battlements of the enemy's fort; but God isn't looking for that kind. Remember what Secretary Deever told us?

Shoulder arms!

Present arms!

Aim!

EARLY HIKERS.

One hour before the aurora spread over the crest of the eastern sky, and while all the twinkling stars were still visible in their constellations, eight students left the dormitories to enjoy an early hike to the Water Works. After rambling along leisurely the group tired and hungry finally reached the Road-Side Inn of the Water Works. Here a pleasant and delightful breakfast had been prepared for the early hikers. After breakfast the little company took advantage of the finely frozen lake in front of the Inn and spent part of the morning in skating. Those who took the trip were Misses Myra Grace Kiracofé, Nettie Perichone Showers, Ella Mutch, and Hilda Colt; and Messrs. Lester Zug, Maurice Leister, Harling Sponseller, and John Ness.

Henry E. Snively, '14, Assistant Principal of the Myerstown High School, was in town over the week end, and attended the basket ball game on Friday evening.

OPEN HOUSE AT

BOYS' DORMITORY.

Monday being a legal holiday no classes were held. The day was enjoyed in such ways as using the gymnasium and hiking to the Water Works, strolling along the Quittapahilla, the lovers' retreat, and other oft-frequented nooks. The men's dormitory was open for inspection in the afternoon and presented comfortable housing quarters. The visitors were pleased with the condition of the dormitory. It presented a homey appearance.

GOSPEL TEAM LEADS SERVICES.

On Saturday evening again the students had charge of the special evangelistic services at the United Brethren Church. Stewart Innerst led the opening service and offered in prayer. Carl G. Snively talked on the purpose in every one's life. Not only has man a purpose but God has a purpose for everyone's life and it is man's duty to find out what that is and do it. He gave a very excellent talk and one of special significance to all. After he had finished speaking, Ira Sankey Ernst spoke for a few minutes on "Behold I stand at the door and knock." He made a special plea for all to open their heart's doors and let the Saviour in. There was a large crowd of students present to help with the singing and to do all in their power to make the meeting a success.

Y. M. C. A.

Willis McNelly led the meeting. He made an exhortation for the laying up of ones' treasures "where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt and where thieves do not break through and steal." The pleasures of sin and unrighteousness are transitory, but the joy of being a son of God is eternal. Selfish endeavors pass away with the death of the doer, but kind deeds and services done others live long after our frail body has been placed beneath the sod.

CONSERVATORY NOTES.

Prof. and Mrs. E. E. Sheldon, of the Conservatory Faculty, left Saturday to spend several days in Philadelphia.

The Junior Recital will be given next Tuesday evening, March 2, in Engle Hall. This is an annual recital, given each year by the members of the Junior Class in music, and is always looked forward to by many. Arrange to be there.

LEBANON VALLEY WINS ONE FIRST PLACE IN INDOOR MEET

Last Saturday evening Lebanon Valley was represented at the 5th Regiment-Hopkins Indoor games, held in the armory at Baltimore, Md.

This was the first indoor meet for Lebanon Valley and in view of this fact, the boys made a creditable showing. The proposition of running on an indoor 220 track is an entirely different one from that of running on an outdoor quarter mile cinder patch, as our fellows had never been on an indoor track before, the result reasonably follows that our fellows were at a disadvantage. This proved to be the case in the relay race. Some of the fellows could not run around the sharp corners to advantage. The race, however, was a good one, Erb ran first, Eichelberger second, Evans third, and Mickey fourth.

Evans won his first heat in the 100 yard dash against men like Patterson. Dave was there with the goods, and came in a close third in the semi-finals.

Although we won no place in these foregoing events, we took first place in the shot put event. Von Bereghy, as a bystander remarked, lost the "pill." It is in order to state that he did not need the handicap of two feet which was given him and consequently may just as well have been a scratch man.

The prospects are good for a winning track team this year. Lebanon Valley will again participate in the Penn Meets and the Eastern Collegiate Meet at Haverford. A dual meet is also arranged for with Juniata to take place at Annville. This coming Saturday Von Bereghy and Evans will enter the indoor meets at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

ters would not have been so bad, for it was noted that in other bodies the brain was able, being properly fed, to direct the other members of the body more efficiently; and this increased efficiency of the members had a tendency to make possible more real work which in turn provided more food. Like wise statesmen they gave the brain sufficient nourishing food and then in turn, under its direction, each member became more proficient. The vision was cleared, the hearing became acute, the hands were strengthened and steadied, and the feet did their work better and "got cold" no more especially since the heart was strengthened by a more cordial relation with the stomach. Thus, the brain, properly nourished, soon directed the various members into more efficient service and this meant more and better food and a stronger and better body as a whole.

The Christian college is the brain center of the church. It is the institution that puts trained brains into our Christian service.

Properly endow Lebanon Valley College and it will return to the Church a HUNDRED FOLD DIVIDEND.

May we count on you to help? Will you help now? Your help now will inspire others.

WHITE SHIELD MEETING.

The White Shield Single Standard
League meeting was led by Miss Mary Bergdoll, who chose as her subject
"The Faults of Modern Women." It was an excellent subject and proved a great benefit to every girl present.
She emphasized the fact that we should not fall a slave to fashion and thus lower our high standard of living; and when in company with other people be frank, act naturally and be just ourselves. Miss Kathryn Boltz sang a solo which helped to make the meeting more impressive.

Gideon L. Blouch, at present educational work secretary of the Reading Y. M. C. A., was in town a few

Ethel Houser, '15, spent the week-

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

Volume VI.

Annville, Pa., Tuesday, March 2, 1915

FINE CONCERT BY GLEE CLUB

Last Thursday evening the Men's Glee Club gave their home concert before a large audience in Engle Hall, at which time they proved by the splendid rendition of their program that Lebanon Valley has a Glee Club of which she can justly feel proud and one worthy to go out and represent the college on its various trips.

The club was handicapped to some extent by the unavoidable absence of Mr. Race, but through the assistance of Mr. Carl Snively and Mr. Von Bereghy, the club numbers were all rendered in a creditable manner; Mr. Race's solo parts were sung by Mr. Bender; while his place in the Male Quartette was very ably filled by Mr. Mason Long.

The program was full of variety, consisting of glees, vocal solos, quartettes, violin solos, readings and a sketch. The club numbers were especially well received and showed that much time had been employed in preparation. The solos by Messrs. Eichelberger, Bender, and M. Long, and the selections by the Male Quartette, composed of Messrs. Bender, Light, M. Long, and Reber deserve special mention.

All know the ability of Mr. Jamison as a reader and he, as usual, again delighted the audience with his humorous readings. Mr. Whitman, the young violinist, who has on several previous occasions played at the college, also scored a hit, as he does wherever he appears, by his easy manner on the stage and perfect rendition of his violin solos.

Perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the program to many was the sketch entitled "A Telegram from Dad." The scene of action was a student's room in a hotel, in which some very complicated situations took place, but were finally adjusted. The entire plot was typical of college life and kept the audience in continuous laughter. This sketch always takes wherever the club gives its concert and tends to add interest and dispel monotony, which might arise from an entirely musical program.

If applause is an evidence of approval, the audience was well pleased, and the club members showed their appreciation by their liberality in responding to encores.

The success of the concert was in no small degree due to the capable direction of Prof. Sheldon who is untiring in his efforts to make the club a "boost" for Lebanon Valley.

Miss Doris Long, Dean of Women, spent several days in Harrisburg.

GOOD MEETINGS OF ASSOCIATIONS

ARE YOU FAITHFUL?

Miss Margaret Myers was the leader for the Y. W. C. A. meeting of last Sunday. Her subject was "Faithfulness." "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust in much." The subject was a very good one and the leader had a very interesting talk prepared. Sunday was also the Universal Day of Prayer for students and the association observed it by appropriate references and prayers. Miss Oyer sang a beautiful solo, and Miss Heffleman reported for the North American student. The attendance was exceptionally good and the meeting most interesting.

CHRISTIANITY AND THE WAR

The Sunday afternoon session of the Y. M. C. A. was led by J. W. Lerew, who brought to us the main thoughts gleaned from an address heard at the Y. M. C. A. Convention recently held at Johnstown. The subject of this address was "Christianity and the Present European War." The question is sometimes asked, "Why Could Not Christianity have prevented the war?" Some people think there is nothing worth while in a religion which does not object to but, on the contrary, seems to encourage animosities which produce carnage and ruin, such as we find in Europe today. These fault finders of the church seemingly don't know that not Christianity but the lack of Christianity has allowed the present slaughter. A plea was made in this session that we should be Christians not merely in name but in reality also.

GLEE CLUB AT HERSHEY.

The Men's Glee Club rendered its programme in the Central Theatre at Hershey last Saturday evening.

The numbers were fairly well rendered but, due to the now—response of the audience, the boys were unable to do justice to themselves.

On March 4th the Glee Club will appear at Plymouth and the following evening at Ephrata.

ADDRESS AT HIGHSPIRE.

Josephine Mathias, '16, spent the week-end at her home in Highspire. She was accompanied by Mary Daugherty, '16, who spoke at the Woman's Day services in the United Brethren Church in that town, on Sunday. Miss Daugherty used as her subject, "The Debt We Owe."

LEBANON VALLEY DEFEATS URSINUS

The best game played on our floor this year took place last Wednesday evening when our Varsity defeated the strong team of Ursinus. The L. V. five realized they were up against a tough proposition and they went into the contest with a spirited skill that swept everything before them and surprised even their most ardent supporters. In most of the other Varsity games this season the opposing team led off with four or five points to their credit; but in this one the L. V. five began to score at the very start and kept their lead throughout the first half. The team work of our players won the admiration of the spectators, who gave round after round of applause. Sometimes the ball would be passed among the players of our team four or five times in succession before the Ursinus team could get their hands on it. While the latter played a good game, they were no match for our Varsity.

Time out was called with the score at 10-6 in our favor. Soon after the game was resumed Bill Swartz after a skillful catch tossed the ball to "Danny" Walters, who with a dextrous throw made a neat field goal. Lebanon Valley then shot four or five difficult field goals in such quick succession and with such accuracy and swiftness that the rooters almost went wild. The Ursinus five did good work too, as was evidenced by the fact that before the half closed, several minutes passed in a succession of swift plays without either side's scoring. The first half closed with the score at 30-10 in our favor.

The opening of the second half was followed by three field goals shot in quick succession by Ursinus. From this point it was nip and tuck between the two teams until the end of the game. The Collegeville shooters played with such desperation and dexterity that during the second half we little more than held our own. Time out was called when Atticks, who was ever in the thick of the contest, was hurt, but fortunately the injury did not prove serious, and he was soon on the floor again. One of the sensational features was the shooting of a difficult goal by Schaub of Ursinus.

The game on the whole was clean, and was characterized by swiftness and accuracy. Although we surpassed Ursinus in both field goal shooting and team work, they proved themselves worthy antagonists. The final score was 45-24 in our favor.

Harry S. Dondo and Conrad K. Curry were in Philadelphia visiting friends over the week-end.

OUR GLEE CLUB.

Our Men's Glee Club is to be congratulated on their successful season thus far this year. Much favorable comment was heard on their work in the local concert last week. Great credit is due Professor Sheldon for his efficient and untiring efforts in the leadership of our club. The glee club is a typical college organization. Its peculiar fitness for bringing the college to the attention of the general public may be readily seen.

Good music appeals to the highest sensibilities of human nature; it contributes to the aesthetic development of the individual; it furnishes food for the artistic and the intellectual temperament—it attracts that class of prospective students who are most likely to prove a worthy addition to our student body. Many persons who are not able to appreciate the finest works of the great masters still enjoy music, and are led to take an interest in those participating in producing it and in the institution they represent—so much for the glee club as an advertiser.

Good music is important as a force making for culture. As has been said, it appeals to the aesthetic temperament; and it develops a taste for the highest and best refinements of life. It can take the down-hearted and discouraged spirit, and on its wings of melody bear it aloft to the realms of inspiration, infusing into the despondent soul new heart and purpose. It furnishes a wholesome recreation for those wearied with the trials and perplexities of every-day life.

Music bears an important relation to our college life—at the morning chapel exercises, in the prayer meetings, in the literary society programs, even in our athletic games. Think what our student life would be without it! The organizations having the most to do with efficiency along musical lines are the glee clubs and, more recently, the chapel choir. We all realize how much the latter organization has added to the interest and enjoyment of the chapel exercises.

Let us consider whether we give to our musical clubs the support that we owe them. They assuredly contribute as much toward the attainment of the ideals for which the college stands as does athletics.

The members of the glee club practice as assiduously as those of the athletic teams. We sometimes forget that music requires time, effort, and sacrifice for proficiency. This year, contrary to its usual custom, the Women's Glee Club does not contemplate taking any trips; is it not possible that this is the result of lack of support on the part of the student body as a whole? Let us henceforth by our earnest and consistent support show our appreciation of the efforts of these organizations which have done and are doing so much for our college both at home and abroad.

FILL PULPITS

Paul J. Bowman, '15, filled the pulpit of Rev. C. R. Longenecker at Mountville the past Sunday.

Owing to the inability of Rev. A. A. Koch, pastor of the Zion's United Evangelical church, of Annville, to preach to his people in Sunday evening's service, Edwin H. Ziegler had charge of the meeting.

Lester B. Zug, '15, preached for Rev. C. R. Longenecker on Sunday morning at his church near the Water Works.

Harling Sponseller preached for Rev. Harry S. Dando in Lebanon on Sunday.

Paul V. Hummel last Sunday supplied the pulpit of P. B. Gible at Cleona.

INSPIRING MEETING IN

BOYS' DORMITORY

Rev. O. T. Deever, during his three weeks stay in Annville, has won a warm place in the hearts of the students. He has counseled with young ladies and gentlemen of the college both individually and in groups giving them much helpful advice. Last Tuesday evening Rev. Mr. Deever held a conference with the boys in one of the rooms of the Men's Dormitory. The choosing of a vocation was the central subject which was ably discussed. The meeting was well attended and the spirit shown was excellent.

ATHLETIC FIELD FENCE BURNS.

On Sunday the high board fence surrounding the College athletic field was on fire twice. It is believed that the fire started from sparks from the Reading R. R. locomotives. The blaze was extinguished by hard work on the part of two of our college students, Ralph Stickel and Harold White, who happened to be in the vicinity. Mr. White ruined a $33 suit in his valiant efforts to put out the fire, which it is estimated caused a damage to the fence of at least $35.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.
Review of Reviews Awards Them for Summer Work.

College men who earn a large part or all of their college expenses will doubtless be greatly interested again this year in the free scholarships offered under the direction of their Fund to self-supporting students. For the past six years over 1200 students have won free cash scholarships worth $100 to $1000 apiece.

President Wilson, together with five prominent college presidents, has endorsed this plan of awarding free scholarships to ambitious students. A certificate of such endorsement is placed in the hands of every student whose application for enrollment as a candidate is accepted.

These scholarships are not competitive in any sense of the word but are available to any student of good character. Each student is apportioned an exclusive radius. The scholarship is won, not for class room efficiency, but for practical work during the summer months or in spare time through the college year.

College employment bureaus from Maine to California recommend this plan as a sure means of meeting college expenses for self-supporting students. The work possesses a dignity and distinction which invariably appeals to the college men. It is always congenial and eminently satisfactory financially. Over 150 scholarships were awarded students the past summer. Mr. Arthur Henkel, of Valparaiso University, winning a $1000 scholarship by 10 weeks work.

Any self-supporting student can secure full particulars without obligation by dropping a postal card at once for "The Adventures of T. Courtney Perkins" to The Review of Reviews Scholarship Fund, 28 Irving Place, New York City.

"I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do or any kindness I can show to any fellow human being let me do it now. Let me not defer nor neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

STUDENTS MEET IN SOCIAL EVENING

It had been observed that the students preferred to spend their Saturday evenings in some other way than in studying. Several dormitory rooms were made the center for the congregating of students who exchanged views with one another. Some found rest and relaxation in a good game of basket ball, hand ball, or any one of many other forms of exercise. It was thought well to unify the efforts of all the students; with the result that the social committees of the Christian Associations planned a general good time in the gymnasium for Saturday evening.

The plan worked out well. From 7.30 p. m. to 10.30 p. m. a large number of the girls and boys threw aside formality and entered the games arranged with a will. Mirth, laughter and general good feeling prevailed and did much toward making this Saturday evening social a rousing success. "Something to do for every one all the time," seemed to be the aim of the social committees, who deserve much praise for the enjoyable evening their efforts made possible for us. An especially enjoyed form of entertainment was in the way of sketches and charades produced by the students divided into groups.

A similar evening of carefree enjoyment will doubtless be arranged in the near future.

GLEE CLUB GIVES FINE CONCERTS

On Thursday evening the Men's Glee Club gave a concert in the Iroquois Theatre at Palmyra. The audience was good and the people appreciated the efforts of the club. The numbers were well rendered and the concert added another success to the season's already creditable list.

On Friday evening the club appeared at Ephrata. Here probably the best concert of the season was given to a full house of seven hundred people or more. The club made the trip both ways by auto-truck. Due to bad roads, the boys all felt the effects of the ride more or less when they arrived at Ephrata. But the good supper which awaited them, the welcome they received, and the splendid audience which greeted them put the boys in the best of spirits and sent them through the program without a flaw. After the concert the people were generous with their compliments; and then all the members made their way to the parsonage of the United Brethren Church where an appetizing lunch was served before the return trip was made. It was a happy crowd of fellows that piled into the auto-truck at about 11 o'clock. They arrived at school somewhere in the wee small hours of morning. This was the club's first trip to Ephrata and everyone was pleased with its success.

JOINT SESSION OF ASSOCIATIONS

The Christian Associations held their monthly joint session in the college chapel last Sunday afternoon. An unusually large crowd was present which added spirit to the splendid and helpful talks. After a short song service, Miss Florence Mentz read the Scripture lesson, which was taken from the twelfth chapter of Romans. She then gave an instructive and interesting talk on "Privileges of the Christian." "The Christian life," she said, "furnishes the true ideal." The privilege of the Christian, therefore, is that he may have Jesus, the ideal of life. He may belong to the kingdom of Christ. All His children are bound together with the chord of eternal love. Christ made his love so broad and so great that all classes and conditions may enter his kingdom. Yet, he made the entrance so narrow that only those who will throw off the burdens of the world may enter.

"Another privilege for the Christian, is that he may have prayer. He may commune with God by prayer or may petition God by prayer." Lastly, "It makes the Christian's life immortal; for Christ lived and died that those who love and serve him may have life eternal."

After Mr. Roy McLaughlin had rendered a violin solo, Paul Bowman spoke on the subject, "The Joy of The Christian Life." His remarks followed, coherently, those of the speaker before him. He told the students that no one could find final joy in wrong doing, but he, who instructs the lost, helps the poor, and loves all mankind, has found some source of happiness. "There are," he said, "certain sources of joy described by Harry Emerson Foestick, namely, Trust in the Heavenly Father, boundless hope in a future, consciousness that we have found and are now doing God's will, knowing that God approves of our lives, and a knowledge that we are serving mankind." Mr. Paul Hummel spoke on "The progress of a Christian life." He told the students, especially those who have recently consecrated their lives to Christ that there is no standing still in Christian work. One will not however reach the height of Christian joy and strength at once but like other activities slowly and by degrees. To progress, one must do as Paul says "Let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us."

The meeting was a spiritual stimulant to our souls. We are sure that the words spoken by the leaders will echo and reecho through our lives as we live about the college during the weeks to come.

DOCTOR GOSSARD MAKES

TWO ADDRESSES

On Sunday, February 28, Dr. Gossard delivered two addresses on educational topics. In the morning he preached at the United Brethren Church of Dallastown and in the evening he spoke at the Fourth U. B. Church of York. At both places the churches were crowded and great interest was manifested.

PROF. SOUTHWICK COMING.

Several years ago Prof. Southwick, President of the Emerson School of Oratory, came to Lebanon Valley and read "King Lear," and the following year he read "Othello." Those who heard him will doubtless be delighted to learn that he is coming this year on March 20th to read "Julius Caesar." Prof. Southwick is an artist of some note, and we are fortunate in being able to get him to come here. He will give the recital under the auspices of the Cii-onian Literary Society. Do not forget the date, March 20; those who do not go will miss a rare treat.

President of Suffrage Association to Speak in Chapel

Wednesday morning in chapel after the devotional exercises the students will be given the privilege of listening to an address by Mrs. Mabel Cronise Jones, of Harrisburg, the President of the Central Pennsylvania Women's Suffrage Association. Mrs. Jones is noted as a magazine writer, and speaker on public questions. No student should miss the opportunity of hearing her.

TAKE NO CHANCES.

This is the age of scientific management and conservation of efforts to eliminate waste as much as possible. We hear it on every side—in business, in the conduct of federal departments, in the conservation of our natural resources, and in social reforms. In no field, however, is the awakening to a need of greater efficiency more noticeable than in the war against disease. We are coming to realize that a great part, if not the most, of the misery in this world can be prevented. Social reformers are devoting their lives to the study of the problems of sanitation, improved housing conditions, and the moral uplift of the masses—the three being closely related. Scientists are consecrating themselves to service for humanity in the laboratory. The heroes of peace are risking their health and even their lives, if need be, in order to discover the causes of disease. Why are they doing this? To what is all this attributable? It is the result of two things—the advancement of science and a new feeling of social responsibility. It denotes a greater respect for human life.

It is well for us to stop to think what we owe to those who have sacrificed so much on the altar of social service. It is not too strong a statement to say that in the not far distant future the most important work of the physician will be done not in the sick room, but in the laboratory; not in healing, but in preventing. Prevention—that will be the keynote of the future. This will be true not only in medicine but in moral reform as well. Let us as individuals consider what our part is in this great forward movement—we cannot deny our responsibility; we each have a part in it. By our conduct we are either assisting or hindering it. The extreme importance of sanitation, of care against the spread of disease by germs, and of the need of personal cleanliness are known to all. We cannot escape our responsibility on the plea of ignorance—not in this age of health instruction in the school, from the platform, and in the public press.

As college students we are looked upon as the leaders of tomorrow. As such, we must be true to all that that implies. We have advantages that many have not had and cannot have: As society has given us the opportunities, it expects and rightfully demands of us a return above the average in service—from the standpoints of morality, intelligence, good citizenship, and social usefulness. As Abraham Lincoln said, "I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to what light I have." We sometimes think that to be careless in little things does not matter; but it is the little things that make the big things. A lighted match or cigarette carelessly thrown into a pile of paper may destroy scores of lives; a polluted spring at a source of water supply may depopulate a city; a microscopic organism may menace a continent.

"Safety first," is a good motto. It is the gun which "he did not know was loaded" that kills; it is the match that "he thought was out" that starts the fire; it is the over confident captain that loses his ship. We should remember that the innocent suffer as well as the guilty. We should take no chances; we should be certain! If we are careless in the performance of our every day duties, if we run chances in little things are we not laying the foundations for such disasters as those of the Triangle Waste Factory, the General Slocum, The Iroquois Theatre, and the Sinking of the Titanic? Care and precaution would have prevented these blots on the history of civilization. War has sufficient horrors; the annals of peace should be spared its holocausts. How? The watchword is PREVENTION!

Gospel Team a Winner

Deputation or Gospel teams for evangelistic effort have been sent out from time to time during the college year from various colleges for the past twenty or thirty years. We have been a little behind at Lebanon Valley in this form of service. On last Thursday evening a Gospel team was sent out to Rev. C. R. Longenecker's charge at Belle Grove, to conduct revival services. Stewart Innerst '16, spoke from Mark 8:36, "For what shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul." David Evans, '16, spoke on the love of God, and urged the unsaved to accept Christ. The quartette, composed of Messrs. Weaver, Innerst, Stumbaugh and Zeigler sang several hymns. Paul Bowman, '15, and Lester Zug, '15, the captain of the team, assisted in the service.

The attendance was large and the spirit good. There were seven penitents at the altar. More help is needed. Let everyone who loves his Lord and Saviour help to carry Christ to the unsaved. There is plenty of opportunity at our very doors. The more help is given, the more good we can do. May we all build into our very life the spirit of these words:

"O to save these, to perish for their serving.
Die for their life, He offered for them all!"

THE JUNIOR RECITAL.

The Junior Recital, given by the members of the Junior Class of the Conservatory on the evening of March 1, was a success in every way and was highly pleasing to those present. MATHEMATICAL ROUND TABLE

The anniversary meeting of the Mathematical Round Table was held at the home of Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Lehman last Wednesday. The evening was most enjoyably spent as is always the case when Professor Lehman entertains. A very good programme was rendered:

Vulgar F(r)actions..Reuben Williams
Mathematical Spelling Bee.....
....Myra Kiracofe, Paul Wagner
Mathematical Tricks and Puzzles
...Florence Mentz, Paul Bowman
Mathematical Pot-Pie....Committee
The programme promised much by way of surprise and every number was enjoyed. However the most pleasing feature was not on the programme but was rendered by Prof. and Mrs. Lehman when they introduced good things to eat. Mr. Jackowick played several very beautiful selections on the piano. The meeting adjourned and every one returned home thanking the host and hostess for the good time he had had.

Mrs. E. B. Dunkel, of Lucknow, Pa., visited her daughter, Mildred, '18, at the college last week.

Harry Baker and Raymond Heberlig enjoyed the week-end at the latter's home in Highspire.

Why Women Should Vote

Because she would labor to place men in public office who would govern for the people and not for self.
Because she is a believer in the purity of all homes, and because of this belief she is a safe person to say who shall govern a community made up of many homes.
Because her ideals of right and justice are superior to those of man.
Because her entrance into the political arena would mean a better state, a greater country, a closer communion with the laws of God and man.

LEBANON VALLEY

DEFEATS INDIANS.

The manager of the Basket Ball team is to be congratulated on the excellent games that have been arranged for this year. The team has done good work and the coach may well be proud of their achievements.
Last Tuesday in an interesting game
our Varsity easily defeated the Carlisle
Indian five by a score of 54-31.

Lebanon Valley commenced to score at the start when first Loomis and then Keating made a field goal.
We kept our lead throughout the game. At the end of the first half the score stood 30-11. There were some sensational goals shot on both sides. Although both played a good game, L. V. out classed their opponents in everything except foul shooting, in which the Indians were slightly ahead. Our team work and field goal shooting were good.

Lebanon Valley—Field goals in game: Keating, F., 3; Swartz, F., 6;
Wheelock, F., 1; Hollinger, C., 9;
Loomis, G., 4; Atticks, G.; Walter, G.
Total, 54. Foul goals—8 out of 20 tries.

Indians—Field goals in game: G.
White, F., 2; Crane, Capt., F.; King,
C. and F., 5; C. White, C., 1; Maddlock, G., 1; Gondon, G. Total, 31.
Foul goals—13 out of 23 tries.

Referee—Haddow, Penn State.
Scorer—Von Berghy, L. V.

FRESHMEN BASKET

BALL CHAMPIONS

On Wednesday evening two very interesting games were played. The Freshmen defeated the Sophomores by a score of 21-16, and the Girls'
Varsity won from the Girls' Scrub
Team with a score of 31-8.

The Girls' Varsity showed great improvement both in team work and in goal shooting. They displayed good spirit and played a very interesting game especially in the second half. Some of the players evidenced considerable skill in field goal work.
Captain Engle and Virginia Hershey starred for the Varsity.

was exceptionally close from the very start. Class feeling ran high and the wnds cheers of the rooters encouraging their respective sides made an almost continuous din while the game was in progress. The teams were pretty evenly matched with the Freshies holding a slight advantage as shown by the score. The game was characterized by quick vigorous plays and strong opposition on both sides. It was one of the most lively played on the floor this year.

THE GAME AT HARRISBURG.

The L. V. Girls' Basket Ball team played their return game on Friday evening at Harrisburg, when they lost to the Hassett girls.

Our team won the game played a few weeks ago with the Hassett Club on our floor, but in this game the girls were handicapped by the wire back stops which made it almost impossible for them to get many field goals. The Hassett girls were good at shooting. Luck seemed to be against our girls; for we made only one field goal. Fouls were very frequent on both sides. Miss Burns starred in shooting the fouls for the Hassett club; while Miss M. Engle starred for L. V. At the end of the first half the score was 4-8 in favor of the Hassett team.

In the second half Hassett made a change in the line up and came back strong. The game was interesting throughout, the final score ending in favor of the Hassett girls was 21-8.

MRS. JONES SPEAKS ON SUFFRAGE

Mrs. Mabel Cronise Jones, President of the Central Pennsylvania Women's Suffrage Association, presented the cause, in which she is especially interested, in an able manner. It has been said that no organization has a right to exist unless it can show wherein lies its benefit to society. It is the firm conviction of Mrs. Jones that the organization she is representing does, where it has been tried, and will, where it is soon to be put to the test, improve conditions in our commonwealths.

"Conservatism is playing a larger part in the world than we perhaps realize. Do not be so conservative as to oppose a movement," urged Mrs. Jones, "simply because it never before existed be willing to listen to reason." Every innovation that is worth anything, received discouraging opposition at its beginning; but with what result? So with the Women's Suffrage Movement, antagonism made the supporters of the cause more determined to achieve victory.

From the colonial days when Margaret Fuller worked for the passing of a measure by the School Board which would allow girls to enter the primary schools, until today, woman has been gradually receiving recognition and a place in the nation's life.

Among other forcible statements made by Mrs. Jones were the following:

In 1869 Wyoming became the first state to grant equal suffrage to women. This state is honored by having the least percentage of divorces of any in the union; which proves that equal suffrage for women does not break up the home.

Imitation is the sincerest flattery: all the states surrounding Wyoming have followed her example. Men do not know how to preserve order and cleanliness in a home. If they cannot keep house on a small scale, how can they perform the national house-keeping duties.

No home can be managed by the father or mother alone. It must have the co-operation of husband and wife. The views of both sexes are necessary to the best management of the country.

Wendell Phillips declared that, "Women are either like men or they are unlike men." If they are like men they should be allowed to vote; and if they are unlike men, then they should be allowed to vote in order to express the needs arising from that indifference."

WHAT IS THE GREATEST SIN?

Special interest was given the college prayer service by having as its leader a prominent minister from Lebanon, Rev. J. L. Hynson, of the Fourth Street Presbyterian Church. Rev. Mr. Hynson is deeply interested in the progress and welfare of our college; and the students always appreciate any words of advice and encouragement which their friends have for them.

The subject chosen for the evening's consideration was "Sin." "The sin against the body," said Rev. Mr. Hynson, "is, indeed, great, but not the greatest. Sin is a tremendous, bad reality. It seeks to dethrone Christ and tear down the emblem of Christianity. The results of sin on the body are very evident. If we would see the awful havoc it has played with men and women, we need but look around us on the street, visit the slums of a city or go through an almshouse. Would we then say the sin against the intellect is the greatest one which we are able to commit? We may tamper with our mind till it refused to act as intended; but let us look further before deciding this question. The greatest sin, he alleged, is that of rejecting Jesus Christ and of spurning all thoughts of Him.

"Consider The Lilies," which was sung by Miss Gertrude Schmidt, was highly appreciated by her hearers. Such expression as this of a faculty member's desire to co-operate in these meetings deserves our gratitude.

BOARD OF EDUCATION NOTES.

(Notes Just Received from our Educational Secretary, William E. Schell, D.D.):

"Education Day, which came this year on Feb. 14th, was more generally observed throughout the United Brethren Church than ever before.

"Dr. Wm. E. Schell, General Secretary of the Board of Education, spent Feb. 14th at Toledo, Iowa, giving several addresses under the auspices of the local church and Leander Clark College.

"A number of the United Brethren colleges have been visited by excellent revivals this year, among them Philomath College, Lebanon Valley College, York College, and Otterbein University. A good revival every year is the expected thing in a Christian college. Its highest mission is to lead its students to become aggressive Christian workers."

L. V. VICTORIOUS OVER MUHLENBERG

The game on our floor Friday evening, in which Lebanon Valley defeated the strong team of Muhlenberg College formed a fitting close to our Varsity's basketball season. We knew before the game commenced that we were up against a hard proposition. Not only was the opposing team a very strong one but one of our best players, "Bill" Swartz was incapacitated owing to a sprained ankle received in a preceding game. Both teams were in good spirits, however, and entered the contest with a vim that held the attention of the spectators from start to finish. There was not a dull moment; excitement ran unusually high.

Lebanon Valley scored first when Keating made two field goals. Then the other side started in with a foul. They scored rapidly for a few minutes and soon the score stood 9 to 7 in their favor. Another goal by Keating tied the score at 9 to 9. We then commenced to gain and the first half closed at 18 to 12, in favor of L. V.

After the opening of the second half, our lead advanced to 10 points ahead of Muhlenberg. The latter seemed to acquire fresh skill, and commenced to gain on us. Great spirit and good team work was shown on both sides, and the home team contested every inch of ground. The Allentown five, however, forged ahead until they tied the score at 31 to 31. This was the most exciting period of the contest, and the rooters almost went wild. First one, and then the other team each shot one field goal; then L. V. shot another, and the referee's whistle blew with the final score at 35 to 33 in favor of our Varsity.

The game was hard-fought throughout, and the strong rivalry between the teams urged on by the rooters made it much rougher than is generally the case on our floor. Hubbard starred for Muhlenberg and Keating for Lebanon Valley.

The line-up was as follows:

L. V.	Muhlenberg.
Keating F. Hubbard
Loomis F. Afflerbach
Hollinger C. Ritter
Atticks G. Hayes
Walter G. Detling
Wheelock	F.

Field goals—Keating, 7; Loomis, 3; Hollinger, 3; Atticks, 2; Hubbard, 3; Afflerbach, 2; Ritter, 4; Detling, 2. Foul goals—Loomis, 4 out of 7; Hollinger, 1 out of 4; Hubbard, 11 out of 13. Referee—G. Erb, Penn State. Scorer—Von Bereghy,

THE SATURDAY EVENING SOCIAL

Man is a social creature and he never enjoys himself so much as when in company with others of his kind. Hence he is always anxious to associate himself with his fellows and looks forward with eagerness to a social gathering to which he has the good fortune to be invited.

The greatest problem of the student world is how to spend the Saturday and Sunday. If one has nothing to do Saturday night, he often gets into bad company; evil companions have plenty to do on Saturday nights. After the enthusiasm of the past few weeks when many decided to turn over a new leaf, the great cry arose "what shall we do Saturday night?" We have put aside the old habits; but what shall we substitute?"

Here is the problem facing the Christian Associations. As we are social beings, and no harm can come from association with one another under proper circumstances a scheme was tried in the form of a Saturday night social in the gymnasium to which all students were invited. The social committees of both Christian Associations planned suitable amusement for the evening which proved a success. From the remarks heard on all sides, everyone enjoyed it. That was only one attempt. Why not arrange something for every Saturday night when there is nothing being held in the chapel? Last Saturday the question was asked, "Is there anything arranged for tonight?" No there was not, and there was disappointment on all sides.

People who have nothing to do are apt to get into mischief. Students are often tired studying through the week and do not care to spend their Saturday evenings also with their books. So they are apt to do things which they ought not to do. Is there any harm in allowing the boys and girls to have a good time in the gymnasium, provided the proper amusement is indulged in? Certainly not.

And since the majority enjoy it, why not repeat the social held a week ago last Saturday night? It will be an added task for the social committees, but the results are well worth the effort and doubtless the committees will be willing.

If this plan is not adopted, some other should be substituted for something ought to be done to save our young people and keep their minds clean and pure.

PROF. SHENK LEADS Y. M. C. A.

Professor H. H. Shenk, who led Sunday's session, gave us a brief sketch of the purpose of the Association, the progress it has made, and its benefit to young men since its conception by George Williams at London in 1844. "The Young Men's Christian Association," said Professor Shenk, "is an organization which wields a greater influence for good in the life of the college student than any other organization which admits him to a permanent world-union and fellowship." The Y. M. C. A. is more necessary at a college than in a town or city, because the college student has his church affiliations and his home ties severed.

Paul J. Bowman, President of the out-going administration, expressed his appreciation of the assistance given him and his cabinet, and asked that the new officers receive our hearty support. In Mr. Bowman's term of office strides, which the most optimistic person scarcely hoped for, have been achieved. Can the Association hold the advance ground already gained and then, having made this sure, press on with the cry of "Excelsior!" on their lips? With the support of every member there is no doubt that success will crown the efforts of the new administration, led by Mr. Innerst.

After Mr. Bowman had officially given the care of the Association into Mr. Innerst's hands, the new President delivered his inaugural address.

The musical numbers—a violin solo by Earl Steinhauer and a quartette by Messrs. Innerst, G. Stambach, Zeigler and Hummel—were rendered creditably and were much appreciated.

NEW ADMINISTRATION

FOR Y. M. C. A.

The team of another corps of Y. M. C. A. leaders having expired, an election of officers for this progressive organization was held last Tuesday. The new officers are: Pres., J. Stewart Innerst; V. Pres., Edwin H. Zeigler; Sec., Paul Shannon; Treas., J. F. Shenberger; Pianist, Walter Deibler; Chorister, Paul Hummel; Janitor, Roy Z. Hershey.

NEW OFFICERS FOR Y. W. C. A.

Last Wednesday evening the annual election of officers for the Young Women's Christian Association was held. The results were as follows: President, Esta Wareheim; Vice-President, Mary Daugherty; Recording Secretary, Margaret Myers; Corresponding Secretary, Nettie Showers; Treasurer, Helen Oyler; Pianist, Miriam Oyer; the advisory board, Miss Long, Miss Adams and Miss Schmidt. We wish the new cabinet a most prosperous year.

REVIEW OF BASKET

BALL SEASON

Although the basket ball team was not a championship team, it was undoubtedly the best that ever represented Lebanon Valley. Of the seventeen games played nine were won and eight lost, only one being lost on the home floor. Four more games might have been won had we had a good foul tosser, we were woefully lacking in this department. The make up of the team was one Junior, two Sophomores, and three Freshmen which looks good for coming seasons. We are proud of the splendid showing the team made and of the clean sportsmanlike way in which they played and we believe by another season this sport will be as successful as foot ball and base ball at Lebanon Valley.

Summary of the base ball scores, season of 1914-15.

GIRL'S VARSITY

IN CLOSE GAME.

Last Wednesday evening the Girl's Basketball Varsity played an exciting game with the Central High School team of Harrisburg. Much spirit was shown throughout especially by Lebanon Valley who did well considering the strong team they were playing against. While the Harrisburg players surpassed our team in goal shooting, the teamwork of our girls was good. A better audience would have given them more encouragement. The final score was 11-14 in favor of the Central High School.

This coming Friday the girl's team will play the Moravian Club of Lebanon in our gymnasium. Let everyone turn out to see the girls win.

The line up was as follows:

L. V. Girls.	H. H. S.
Hershey forward	Melville
Boltz forward	Kamsky
M. Engle center	Rauch
Bachman guard	Richards
R. Engle guard	Rote

OUT OF THE DEPTH.

Last Thursday night J. Arthur Selichter, of Philadelphia, a former student at Lebanon Valley delivered a very inspiring lecture on "Out Of The Depths" He drew lessons from his own experiences. He had been down in the depths of sin for twenty years and at last was brought to see the light. While at Lebanon Valley he attended a party at the home of an Annville faily and there took his first glass of rum, which he said cost him $50,000, a mother with a broken heart for twenty years, a father, two little babies, and a loving wife. He had stood high in society and earned a fine income on the lecture platform; but drink and the use of twenty grains of morphine daily led him on until he was "down and out."

His account of his terrible experiences held his audience spell-bound for two hours. The attendance of town residents was good, but it seems a pity that more of the students were not present to hear this former student of the college.

GOSPEL TEAM AT EBENEZER

Ebenezer was the point upon which the Gospel team directed their efforts on last Wednesday evening. The meeting was in charge of Lester B. Zug, '15, while the principal talk was given by Paul J. Bowman, '15. The quartette sang three selections during the service, while the singing of the audience was very spirited. David J. Evans, '16, made the call for decisions. There were several "seekers" at the altar during the service.

In addition to those already mentioned Innerst, Ziegler, Hummel, Stambach and Isaacs completed the team and assisted during the service. The talks were helpful and the meeting good.

Not the least feature of this deputation work was the personal work on the part of the members of the team. H. E. Shaffer is the pastor of this charge which is about a mile northwest of Lebanon.

DENYING CHRIST THROUGH SI- LENCE.

A very interesting meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held last Sunday.
The leader was Ruth Huber and the subject "Denying Christ Through Silence." The topic was very suggestive and dealt with a fault of which we are guilty, too often. When others are swearing or in other ways showing that they do not belong to Christ but are flaunting the banner of Satan, then is the time for us to show our colors and let others know we belong to Christ for we have as much right to show where we stand as the followers of Satan do. Many deny Christ through silence for fear they will be laughed at. This is a weakness which the Christian should try to overcome for Christ says "he that denies me him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven."

Miss Colt sang "Some day we'll understand"; and Miss Kiracofe gave a report of the annual student member committee that met at Swarthmore. The attendance was good and the meeting a very helpful one.

CLIO ENTERTAINS IN GALA STYLE

The St. Patrick's Party, which is given annually by the Clionian Literary Society, was held in the gymnasium last Wednesday evening. The room was tastily decorated with green paper cut out to form shamrocks, pipes, pigs, hats and Irishmen, together with artistic draping of white and green crepe paper.

At eight-thirty the unique and exceptionally well-arranged program was begun with a grand march, which presented an interesting and beautiful sight to the non-participants who viewed it from the gallery. After the march, all enjoyed the blindfolding stunts which included pinning the shamrock on the city of Dublin, putting the pipe in the Irishman's mouth, and attaching the tail to the pig. The Irish potato then played its role, and all enjoyed watching the boys spooning them to their destination.

We then played lucky listeners and heartily appreciated the remarkable "truths" told by Messrs. Jamison, Shenberger, Abram Long and F. Morrison, who had been inspired by kissing the Blarney Stone. In this contest the muses favored Mr. Shenberger in assisting him to tell a most interesting story of his life, appropriate Irish songs were sung by Miss Ruth Strickler, Miss Gantz and the Ladies' Quartet—all of which were well rendered and added spice to the program.

Next the unique tally card, which was handed us upon entering, and on which the boys took so much pleasure in filling out the topics to be discussed with our fair co-eds, received our attention. Two minutes was allowed for the discussion of each of the following topics: St. Patrick, Shamrock, Snakes, Irish Potatoes, Blarney Stone, Irish Jokes, Moon, and Love. This progressive conversation gave all an opportunity to discuss these historical and vital topics heart to heart, and learn to know each other better. The timely refreshments, consisting of pistachio ice cream bricks and Shamrock cakes upon which a cute little Irish flag was floating, were served.

After the refreshments, the twelve Irish families banded together and solved the Irish-City Charade poem. The result was a tie for first place between the O'Neil, O'Harrigan, and Murphy families. Each family then presented a charade and the judges awarded the prize to the O'Grady family who performed the word "carpet-sweeper."

With the singing of our "Alma Mater" the party reached its grand

DR. SOUTHWICK IN JULIUS CAESAR

Last Saturday night in Engle Auditorium Dr. Henry Lawrence Southwick, President of Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, Massachusetts, read from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar." The recital was given under the auspices of the Clionian Literary Society. We were very fortunate in securing Dr. Southwick and since some of us had the opportunity of hearing him on two former occasions here at Lebanon Valley, we were very anxious to have the pleasure again.

Dr. Southwick is noted for his interpretation of Shakespeare's tragedies and his presentation of "Julius Caesar" was wonderful. He brought before our eyes Brutus, Cassius, Caesar, Portia, and the other leading characters. The atmosphere of the play was present throughout. The story of the ambitious Caesar and his fatal end brought about by Brutus, his best friend, was told so vividly that the characters seemed really to be present in their original settings.

Dr. Southwick, an artist of great ability, is considered one of the best readers on the platform today. The audience expressed their appreciation by their rapt attention; the speaker held them almost spell-bound and they wished to lose none of his expression and gestures. His reading was a literary treat, and was thoroughly appreciated.

PROFESSOR ADAMS ENTERTAINS

On Monday evening, March 15, Miss Adams delightfully entertained the Senior Class in Oratory at a four-course dinner. The room was beautifully decorated with the colours of the class, and the place cards and favours carried out the same colour scheme. After dinner the guests were asked to show their Oratorical ability. Each guest gave an impromptu monologue, pantomime and impersonation, and prizes were awarded to the one having the most original number. At a late hour the guests departed, having enjoyed the evening exceedingly.

THE ROBIN

Methought I heard a merry song
As through the trees I walked along;
I looked above and saw a bird,
The singer of the song I heard;
Its coat was brown, its breast was red,
It nodded blithe to me and said,
"The winter's gone, and spring is here;
Dismiss your cares and welcome cheer."

THE GLEE CLUB'S SOUTHERN TOUR

The Men's Glee Club left last Friday afternoon for Chambersburg, where they gave a concert in the evening in the First United Brethren Church of that place. Due to the inclement weather the audience was not so large as expected, numbering only about four hundred people, but the program was highly appreciated. After the concert the boys were given a reception by the young people of the church, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

On Saturday morning the club members visited the county jail at Chambersburg; the club sang and Mr. Jamison gave several readings, and in this way tried to cheer up the prisoners who are forced to lead a very monotonous life.

The club gave a concert in the High School Auditorium of Waynesboro on Saturday night and remained there over Sunday. The audience, though not large, was very appreciative, and the concert was well-rendered. On Sunday the music at both the morning and evening services was in their charge. All the boys had a good time in the enterprising town of Waynesboro.

THE PURPOSE OF THE Y. W. C. A.

The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. on Sunday was well attended. The leader, Miss Nettie Showers, used as her subject, "The Purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association and its Relation to the Church." She emphasized the fact that the Y. W. C. A. seeks to aid the girl socially, intellectually, materially, and spiritually; but it does not pretend to take the place of the church. It is the assistant of the church and as such is a sort of laboratory for the practice of Christianity. The experiments of the students have their value largely in what they do for the experimenter, himself.

A piano solo by Miss Jenkins added greatly to the interest of the meeting.

WITH THOSE THAT COME AND GO.

Misses Edna Pugh and Carrie Reeder, Chambersburg, Pa., spent several days of last week at the college as guests of Helen Hoover, '18.

Miss Gladys Leech, Ebensburg, Pa., was the guest of Dorothy Davis, '18, for the St. Patrick's Party. Miss Davis accompanied her guest as far as Harrisburg when she returned home.

Miss May Belle Adams, Professor of Oratory, was called to her home in Ashburnham, Mass., on account of the illness of her father.

THREE AIMS FOR LEBANON VALLEY.

At the beginning of the present administration two years ago last September the President was told that three chief aims of the institution to be attained in the near future were: (1) a larger student body, (2) a better feeling among students and a closer co-operation between students and the College authorities, and (3) an adequate endowment fund.

As to the first, the aim has been reached for our student body now numbers 371 which is an increase of more than 50 per cent. over the number two years ago. We have outgrown our dormitories and our dining hall, and everywhere there is the call for enlargement.

The second point has been attained also. All our students are loyally and heartily co-operating with the college in its efforts to make the institution the best possible, and to help it minister to the greatest number in every way for the physical, mental, moral and religious development of all. The present great religious awakening in which practically all the students have professed Christ is not an accident, but the culmination of a healthy and vigorous growth.

The third aim in great part was conditioned on the success of the first and second. With these two aims being met a strong appeal can be made to the co-operating territory for the third—an adequate endowment fund.

These successes ought to bring inspiration and a determined, concerted effort to reach the third aim. This can be done only by the co-operation of all in the great movement to raise $250,000 for endowment and to cancel our debt. There are some who think rich men and corporations ought to be influenced to give us the greater part of this amount, after which the Church would raise the remainder.

The President and others have discovered that rich corporations and rich men are not fools. They invariably say, "Your people must do something themselves, something worth while, something that looks like business before we will help you." It is up to us to make good by paying our debts, by raising funds to meet our obligations, by going ahead in the attempt to raise a large endowment fund. By doing this we will put ourselves in a position such as will win the confidence and help of people everywhere.

Seeing the great need, realizing the strategic importance of a well-equipped and fortified college, recognizing its immeasurable value to the Church and the community, admitting that the founding of a college, (the child of the Church) carries with it the responsibility of maintaining it, we believe our loyal and self-sacrificing people fired with a holy ambition, heroic courage, and a mighty determination, will lift the burdensome debt, raise an adequate endowment fund, and sing the doxology when the victory is won.

The Executive Committee of the College recently employed Mr. A. F. Hoffsommer, an expert in raising large sums of money, to lead the forces in this great undertaking, and we are all very much pleased to see the commendable progress that is being made.

If we have the hearty co-operation of every pastor, that will mean the local church in line and ready for action. Then with a host of Godly pastors and intelligent consecrated United Brethren praying right and putting their prayers into action we must succeed; for God is always on the side of those who pray right.

Let every friend of Lebanon Valley College pray and push.

OUR STUDENTS TO THE RESCUE.

Last Tuesday afternoon about 2 o'clock when the fire bell startled the residents of Annville our students were quick to respond. They started on a run when the first alarm was heard and reached the farm owned by Mr. J. B. Millard, about three-quarters of a mile from the college, in time to render valuable assistance in saving the furniture and other possessions of the tenant who occupied the dwelling house.

The fire was under considerable headway when they arrived, and owing to lack of fire-fighting apparatus they could do little to save the house. Some with the neighbors who had gathered formed a line and passed out the smaller articles of furniture and canned fruit; while others carried out larger pieces and worked at saving the barn and adjacent buildings. By the time that the spread of the flames drove them out, they reported nearly everything movable saved with the exception of the meat in the garret which they could not reach on account of the smoke. Several of our boys had exciting experiences in evading the flames as they groped through the smoke-filled house on their mission of rescue. It was a pity that it was not in their power to save the house.

This fire furnishes a striking lesson to us all that we can take no chances with fire. It is the general opinion that it resulted from carelessness in starting a brush fire near the house. Our watchword should be PRECAUTION—SAFETY FIRST.

GIRLS TRIUMPH IN CLOSING GAME

The L. V. Co-eds closed their home basket ball season on Friday evening when they defeated the Moravian Girls, of Lebanon, in a very interesting game. It was the first game for our girls played according to girls' rules and it required some little time for them to know what to do and what not to do. As a result, the score stood 18-12 against us at half time. We came back strong in the second half and out-scored our opponents 14-4, making the final score 26-22 in our favor. The floor work of Miss Boltz and the splendid shooting of Miss M. Engle and Miss Bowman were the features of the game.

We found the Moravian Girls to be a splendid bunch of sports and enjoyed having them with us. The college girls entertained their visitors after the game with a little feed at Gollam's at which there was much fun and good feeling.

The line-up:

DR. McDOWELL SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Monday morning the Rev. Dr. McDowell, of Baltimore, made a helpful and inspiring address to the students assembled in chapel. He said there is a vast program of heaven before the human race today, and that those who do not seek to have a part in bringing about the fulfillment of God's purpose are missing a great opportunity. The greatest world movement today, declared the speaker, is that of the Christian Church. This is the power that is producing the awakening of China.

Dr. McDowell's words thrilled every one present when he spoke of the pride we should feel in our country, which, largely through its Christianity, is so important a figure in international affairs. The Christian missionary is the leavening force in the great world movement of the march of democracy and America, the proving ground of democracy, as a Christian nation is exerting a tremendous influence.

climax and another St. Patrick's day with its pleasures had passed into history. It was the opinion of many that this was the most unique and entertaining social event ever given at Lebanon Valley.

The entertainment committee, of which Miss Heintzelman was chairman, deserve much credit for the success of the evening, demonstrating, as on former occasions, the exceptional ability of their leader in planning and carrying out an evening's revelries.

PROF. AND MRS. SHELDON ENTERTAIN CONSERVATORY SENIORS.

The members of the Senior Class of the Conservatory and the faculty were entertained at dinner last Tuesday evening by Prof. and Mrs. E. E. Sheldon at their home on Sheridan Avenue.

The place-cards, suggestive of the St. Patrick season, were very attractive; the table was artistically decorated with class colors and the class flower.

The following persons seated around the festive board, were served to a sumptuous repast: Miss Gertrude K. Schmidt, Miss Ora Belle Bachman, Miss Lucy Seltzer, Miss Mabel Bensing; Messrs. R. P. Campbell, L. C. Barnet, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Edwin Sheldon.

A social hour after dinner was enjoyed by all after which the guests took their leave, proclaiming Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon most excellent host and hostess.

SOCIAL EVENING IN PHILO HALL

Philo Hall Thursday evening presented a scene of care-free merriment. Kalos, Philos and some students who have not as yet joined any Literary Society met to enjoy the evening in whatever manner the spirit moved them; whether it was in engaging in a good chat, playing any of a number of games provided, or watching the progress made by their fellow students in the several contests. The minstrels, managed by C. G. Snively and headed by Ralph Stickel, kept the hearers in an uproar of laughter all the while they were presenting their musical numbers and telling both new and old jokes. The satisfying of the propensity to eat was not neglected as a part of the program. From the viewpoint of establishing a greater unity and unselfishness among the fellows, we may consider this evening's gathering a success.

MY CREED.

With Apologies to T. W. Larkin, Beaumont, Texas.

"It matters not how much or how little my neighbor does, I am always going to do as much as I can and give as liberally as I can to every proposition promoted in the interest of my Church's progress.

"I know there are some who will always do less than they should, and there are always some who do more than might be expected of them. It was ever so and ever will be so. I must not measure my co-operation and contributions by what another does. If another falters and falls short of the fulfillment of his duties as a Christian steward, why should I? After all there are but few parasites; few who utterly fail to do their best in the Church's welfare efforts, then why should the great majority be discouraged because some rich folks refuse to aid in efforts not calculated to increase their own store of nickels? If we should all become discouraged and quit because a few fail or shirk, nothing would ever be done."

If we should wait until every one would do his full duty, we could never endow Lebanon Valley. There are enough progressive, conscientious Christians in our Church to endow our College and thus multiply its usefulness.

God is calling loudly today for men and women who will consecrate their bodies, their minds, their money their all to him. "He that is not with me is against me" Jesus said. "Bring Ye all the tithes into the store-house."

Where do you stand today? What will you be worth in eternity?

Items of Interest

Edward H. Ziegler, '17, entertained his brother, Jesse, at the college, over the week-end.

Charles Gemmil, '18, entertained his mother, Mrs. Amanda Gemmil, of Windsor, Pa., and his sister, Mrs. Mary Weaver, of Harrisburg, at the college last Friday.

Joseph Hollinger, '16, was hit below the eye, with a base ball, while out practicing one day last week and has a badly swollen jaw as the result of it. It is hoped that he will soon be able to play again.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Marble, Canton, Pa., spent Monday at the college with Flora Case, '18, and took her with them to Harrisburg on Tuesday.

THE GIFT OF THE CLASS OF 1914

$2,200 MORE FOR THE COLLEGE

On Sunday President Gossard of the college delivered an educational address at the United Brethren Church of Schuylkill Haven. He spoke in the interest of Lebanon Valley, laying emphasis on our Endowment Campaign. In the afternoon he met the Official Board of the church and discussed the plan thoroughly with them. Their apportionment in this plan is $2,200. They accepted this amount in full. The sum of $1,700 was subscribed immediately by the members of the official Board. Among the amounts contributed was a gift of $1,000 by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gipe.

The prompt response of this church board and this fine gift sets a worthy precedent for other loyal supporters of the college. If every church in the co-operating conference meets its responsibility by accepting its apportionment as the church at Schuylkill Haven did, the problem of raising the $250,000 will assuredly be solved within the time limit.

SECRETARY S. G. HEPFORD GIVES TALK.

Mr. S. G. Hepford, Secretary of the Enola Y. M. C. A., was secured to lead this week's Sunday services. Mr. Hepford has been in this kind of work since 1902 and has therefore had experience to support his statements. He chose as his basis of his talk the question: "Are we training ourselves to work scientific efficiency along religious and spiritual lines?"

"In order to achieve along any line, training is necessary. President Hadley of Yale once said: 'We used to study books for law and medicine; but now a college education is desired for an architect, draftsman, builder and business man.' A person must know a subject himself before he is able to impart any knowledge of that subject to another. The highest point in efficiency will have been reached when we can teach some one else. Only through an intimate friendship with Christ as our personal Saviour can we introduce Him to our friends. A great strengthening of this Christian life is attained through prayer. Christ never taught how to preach, but how to pray. This is the secret of the Christian life, which is the only life which pays dividends after death."

This direct and forceful talk was an inspiration to us students who are trying to do the right as we see it.

EURYDICE CLUB PLEASES MANY

Last Tuesday evening in Engle Conservatory, the Girls' Chorus, known by the name of the "Eurydice Choral Club" of Lebanon Valley College made their initial appearance before a very enthusiastic and appreciative audience.

When the curtains parted at 8.15 three rows of girls dressed in white, seated on a prettily decorated stage, each row one foot higher than the one in front, greeted the eyes of those present.

The program opened with two of Wagner's favorite choruses, "Pilgrim's Chorus" and "Spinning Song," taken from two of his best known operas. These numbers were exceptionally well sung and well received and gave promise of a pleasing program. In the next number, the reader, Miss Josephine Urlich, held the attention of the audience in her presentation of "Little Brown Baby." The piano solo by Miss Ruth Engle, Polanaise No. 2 by Liszt, was rendered in her usual artistic manner.

The club followed with "Sweet and SOCIAL HOUR.

About fifty students enjoyed another social hour in the gymnasium last Saturday evening. The crowd was not as large as on the former occasion, due to the various other activities of the evening, but that fact did not hinder those present from having a good time. Many games were played in which everyone participated and the crowd dispersed at a late hour, wondering when they would meet again in such an informal way.

GLEE CLUB GIVES TWO CONCERTS

The Glee Club completed its southern trip with a concert at Greencastle on Monday evening, March 22, in the United Brethren Church of that place. The people turned out well and filled both the main auditorium and the balcony of the church. The audience was exceptionally generous with its applause and the boys were obliged to respond with all the encores at their command. This was one of the best concerts of the season.

On Wednesday evening the club made its appearance at the Lebanon High School Auditorium. Many of the members were suffering with severe colds and felt the effects of the five-day trip from which they had just returned; several arose from their beds to assist in this concert. However, notwithstanding these disadvantages, the program was rendered with spirit and pleased a large audience.

Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association was in the hands of the Freshmen last Sunday. The topic was "The Y. W. C. A. Through Freshman Spectacles." Miss Ada Beidler was the leader and presented what she thought of the Young Women's Christian Association. Miss Dunkel and Miss Bender also talked and gave their opinions. The meeting was made all the more enjoyable by a cello-solo by Miss Davis. The Freshmen give much promise for the future Y. W. C. A.; and it is hoped that they will continue the good work.

"WITH BRAINS SIR"

A noted painter whose pictures attracted world-wide attention because of their naturalness was once asked, "with what do you mix your paints to secure such wonderful results?" "With brains, sir," was the reply.

The great need in every sphere of the world's activity is men and women who have brains—brains that are trained to mix the paints that spell successful accomplishment—that give color to life.

This does not discount character. We do not compare character and brains. It is rather a comparison of goodness that can "make good," and goodness that does not get anywhere.

There is not much difference in the size and weight of brain in any two men. Scientists tell us that the actual difference is in the wrinkles of the brain tissue, the better trained brain having the most wrinkles. Probably that is what we mean when we speak of "a new wrinkle in our horn."

Every live Church is in the business of winning men and women with brains for Christ, but should be no less interested in training those brains for the most intelligent and efficient service for Christ.

The Christian College is the outgrowth of this idea. Christianity means men and women at their best—in body, mind and spirit. We should therefore develop to the highest degree our institutions for higher learning.

The present campaign for Lebanon Valley College will be responded to by every thoughtful member of the United Brethren Church in the co-operating conferences. It is not the spirit of our Church membership to slight a task to which we have put our hands.

As a body of Christian workers for the world's betterment we take our place with other Churches. Consecrated Christians are better Christians if they are educated and cultured. In this work the Christian College is indispensable.

Some good folks labor under the delusion that the founders of Christianity were ignoramuses. They forget that Jesus had learning and "spake as never man spake"; that Moses was trained for forty years in a king's court; that Paul was of the intellectual aristocracy and that Luke was a cultured physician, not to mention many other early leaders.

Refusal to encourage education is to impugn God's wisdom in giving us brains. Failure to endow our college at this critical period in its history means to handicap the progress of our Church. It is a question of loyalty to Christ and the Church.

The College is the child of the Church. The mother must not and will not forget her child.

Make Lebanon Valley College strong and vigorous by giving it an adequate endowment, similar to other denominational colleges and it will return to the Church trained and consecrated brains and hearts.

Will you stand by the college? Will you help to make it the best possible? WILL YOU DO IT NOW? CONTRIBUTED

MISS HEINTZELMAN ENTER-

TAINS IN HONOR OF MISS RENN

The party given in the Ladies' Parlor Saturday evening by Miss Esther Heintzelman in honor of Miss Hope Renn, an ex '16 member, was an occasion of considerable merriment. Those present were all members of the class of 1916. The good old freshman days of this class were again discussed. Those hikes to the Water Works, moon-light rides back to college on a hay wagon after an evening's joyous revelry, inter-class contests, and the like were rehearsed; and as these events were reviewed, those "greener" days were conceded to be the happiest days in the college course. With music, games, and refreshments the evening seemed to pass like the scent of violets—so pleasant and yet so transient. The hours spent together were thoroughly enjoyed, and the thoughts and reflections linger.

Miss Maud Baker, who was an oratory student here last year, and her sister, Myrtle, visited their brother, Harry Baker, of the Academy, on Sunday.

WHAT IS MY NAME?

(Guess If You Can.)

MY FIRST:

My first is like a fitful child,
As uncontrolled; now cross, now mild;

Whose face is often bathed in tears
So joyless when no pleasure cheers.
But, though I often pout and cry,
The storm-clouds swift away do fly.
And, lo! my face in smiles is wreathed.

And, where the tempest just now seethed

The sun looks down with kindly glance

Bathing the world in radiance.
I deck the trees with garlands fair
Of tender green so debonaire.
The maples blush with ruddy glow;
The cherries pale and turn to snow.
I scatter incense on the air;
The birds my praise sing everywhere.

MY SECOND:

My second part's of different mold,
Whose deeds they only jeer and scold.

I have no wit they tell me true,
And laugh at me whate'er I do.
I never shine except in jest;
Of common sense I'm not possessed.
I sit in corners when at school;
My name perhaps you'll guess is —.

MY WHOLE:

And, if you cannot with your arts
Build up my whole from these queer parts,

Just take a walk some spring-like day,

The first of—well, the month's not May—

And I will warrant you will see That you and I the same can be.

GIRLS END SEASON WITH VICTORY

The Girls' varsity ended their first basketball season with a victory over the Moravian girls of Lebanon on Saturday evening at the Sixth Street Auditorium.

A victory was scarcely expected, since our girls barely got away with a victory on our home floor with this same team a week ago. The game on Saturday evening was very close and exciting throughout, the first half ending 4-3 against us. We soon took the lead in the second half and easily held it until the final whistle blew. The final score was 12-6 in favor of Lebanon Valley. Miss Boltz starred, having four field goals to her credit.

After the game the Moravian girls entertained our team at their club room where a fine feed was prepared. It was the most enjoyable trip of the season.

The line-up:

Miss Bowman	Miss Boltz
Miss Graeff	Miss M. Engle.

GOSPEL TEAM AT LEBANON.

Carl G. Snively, '15, and Lester B. Zug, '15, conducted the men's meeting at the United Brethren Church in West Lebanon, of which C. H. Holtzinger is pastor, on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Snively spoke on the subject: "A Real Man." His talk was very beneficial to the large number of men present and it was thoroughly appreciated by them. These men were accompanied by a quartette consisting of Messrs. Stambach, Kleffman, Zeigler, and Deibler, who sang several selections and assisted in the service.

Low" and "Woodpecker." These two selections were in direct contrast; and the latter created so much applause from the audience that the club was obliged to repeat it. Another reading by Miss Ulrich followed and then Part one of the program was brought to a close with a very pretty chorus "A Dreaming Rose" by the club.

Part Two consisted of a cantata, "A Midsummer Night" by Paul Bliss. This was for the most part light and joyous as suggested by the title. Not a flaw was noticeable in the entire rendition of this cantata and the audience was sorry when the end came. The solo parts were sung by Miss Ruth V. Strickler and Miss Ethel Strickler, whose ability as singers is well known.

The program from beginning to end was highly pleasing to all; and the success of the concert was due in large measure to Miss Gertrude K. Schmidt, Professor of Voice, under whose able instruction the club is directed. Miss Luella Hertzler as accompanist demonstrated her ability as a pianist.

Lebanon Valley College cannot boast of a Girls' Glee Club this year but we feel that the "Eurydice Choral Society" is a very worthy substitute.

NOBLE DEEDS

Heaven is not reached by a single bound:
We build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit round by round.

I count this thing to be grandly true,
That a noble deed is a step toward God;
Lifting the soul from the common sod

A MOOM-LIGHT HIKE

A party of young people took a hike to the Water Works one day last week with a chicken and waffle supper at the end. The walk was perfectly delightful as the day was an ideal one and the roads in excellent condition. The supper at the hotel was all that could be desired and the hungry group did full justice to the meal. After everything eatable had been disposed of, the party started for the dormitory. Those in the party were, Ora Bachman, Mary Irwin, Larene Engle, Vera Myers, Florence Mentz, Helen Oyler, Nettie Showers, Mary Wyand, Naomi Hand, Elizabeth Jenkins, Ruth Fasnacht, Esther Bachman, Louise Henry, Ralph Stickel, Harold White, George Dehuff, Alvin Weaver, John Lerew, Carl Snavey, Ross Swartz, Dave Evans, Charles Loomis, Leroy Mackert, Robert Hartz, Russel Rupp, and Paul Wagner.

SUFFRAGISTS CORNER

THE SEED MARKET

Harrisburg, Pa., March 29.—The "suffrage garden" idea has become so popular in Pennsylvania that the seed market, in so far as it applies to yellow flowers, has been virtually cornered by the suffragists.

In making this announcement at State headquarters here today, Mrs. Frank M. Roessing, president of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, said:

"When we launched the suffrage garden project we thought it would be easy to get all the seeds that would be needed. We forgot that most of our flower seeds come from Europe and that the war might have an effect upon the supply. That fact was called to our attention after we had filled the first 2,000 orders for the official 'suffrage garden' seed boxes. Our seedsman then notified us that he had bought up all the yellow flower seeds available in Pennsylvania and New York and had cabled abroad for more, but that there was scant hope of receiving any response from the cabled orders, owing to the European war.

"His fears concerning the European orders were soon justified and since then we have been rounding up all of the yellow flower seeds that are available in this country. We now have on hand enough seeds for 10,000 suffrage gardens, but if the orders between now and the first of May exceed that amount, we are going to have difficulty in filling them."

The flowers which the suffragists have selected for their gardens are yellow poppies, calliopsis, calendula, zinnia, yellow snap dragons and yellow chrysanthemums.

SEASON OPENS WITH VICTORY

The varsity base ball team opened its season with a victory over the strong Mercersburg Academy team at Mercersburg on Saturday by the score of 14-6. The day was too cold even for foot ball but our boys didn't seem to mind it; but played in mid-season form. Of course the pitchers were at a great disadvantage on such a day and as a result both teams did some heavy hitting. Stickell pitched well for us until the sixth; then Cold-weather Pitcher Gus Zeigler was called to the rescue when the bases were full and only one out. He brought some excitement to the Academy bleachers when he hit the first man and forced a run across but calm soon reigned when he struck out the next two batsmen. Captain Lerew very fittingly opened the season with a beautiful hit to center. The entire team seemed to have their batting eyes and it took only three innings to chase Pitcher Rupp off the rubber. A similar fate was handed to Gibson, the Indian; but the calling of the game at the close of the seventh saved him from a disgraceful retirement. Five runs were made by him in the seventh. All the men played well. The work of the new men, Atticks, Keating and Snively, was especially pleasing to the coach.

PROFESSOR SHROYER ON NORTHERN TRIP

Professor Alvin E. Shroyer made a trip to Shamokin and Sunbury during the Easter recess. On Easter day he spoke at the services in the United Brethren Church at Sunbury of which Rev. Mark Wert, '13, is the pastor. Prof. Shroyer met with an enthusiastic reception and heard some very pleasing comments concerning the concerts given by the Glee Club on their tour through that section this season.

PROFESSOR PETERS HONORED.

Professor C. C. Peters, a graduate of Lebanon Valley and for several years head of the department of Philosophy and Education at the college, was recently elected President of the Schuylkill Valley Schoolmasters Club. He is Superintendent of Schools at Royersford, Pa. Prof. Peters is taking a prominent part in the local option fight in Montgomery county.

Mrs. Jacob Nissley, the mother of Mrs. Violette Freed, died at her home in Derry Church recently. "The News" wishes to express its heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Freed.

Professor S. H. Derickson and family visited his father at his home in Perry county over Easter.

NEW COLLEGE NEWS STAFF ELECTED

The new staff of the College News, for the term 1915-16, which was appointed last week by the College Faculty, will take charge of the paper beginning with the next issue.

L. V. C. WILL ENTER STATE CONTEST

The local Prohibition League last Wednesday held its Oratorical Contest to decide who should be Lebanon Valley's representative at the State Convention which is to be held at Dickinson College, Carlisle, April 16 and 17. The winner of first place in the local contest is Mr. Harry S. Dando, '16, who received the prize of a two-and-a-half-dollar gold piece which had been offered by the Hummelstown Women's Christian Temperance Union. Mr. A. H. Kleffman, '16, was a very close second.

The winner will take part in the State Contest which is part of the programme of the State Convention. The winner of the State Contest will represent Pennsylvania at the Eastern State's Contest; and the winner of this last contest will enter the International Contest which is held every two years.

We are glad for the part that the college students are playing in this war against strong drink, and feel satisfied that these different contests will have much to do in bringing the importance of this great question to the attention of the people.

3000 VOLUNTEERS IN LIQUOR WAR

A call has been issued for 3,000 college men to volunteer in the war against John Barleycorn. The Prohibition National Committee with headquarters in Chicago plan to enlist 2,000 of these men by June 1st, 1915, and the remainder within the year following. Fifteen special secretaries are now travelling among the colleges and universities of the country enlisting young men for the campaign.

The plan of work is one which has been tried on a small scale during the past ten years with great success. During this time about 250 college men have been employed in various sections of the country, and the results of their work have been so encouraging that those in charge of the national prohibition movement have decided to enlist enough men to cover the entire country by a house to house canvass.

The plan of work will consist of interviewing every voter and securing

ENDOWMENT DIRECTOR ON THE JOB.

Mr. A. F. Hoffsommer, the hustling director of the College Endowment Campaign, who is actively engaged in securing the pledges of the various churches of the conference, last week visited the Birdsboro and Elverson churches on the Birdsboro circuit and also the church at Mount Clair. John O. Jones, '15, is pastor at the last charge. The action of the boards of these charges will in all probability be favorable to the proposition. Pledges were also obtained from a number of individuals who although outside the United Brethren Church, are taking an active interest in the college and realize the urgent necessity of immediate endowment.

The past Sunday the Director presented the needs of the college and the plans of the $250,000 Endowment Campaign to the churches on the Catawissa circuit.

The "Left-Overs" in the girls' dormitory delightfully entertained the "Left-overs" in the boys' dormitory in the parlor on Saturday evening. The special feature of the evening was making and eating candy Easter eggs. Various games were enjoyed by all until a late hour when Beavy sent the boys home.

Those present were Misses Doris Long, Perrichon Showers, Daisy Beaverson, Susan Gamble, Martha Yadis, Jane Lindsay, and Matilda Kiracofe; Messrs. Hiram Loomis, Bishop Lehman, Philip McConnel, David Brunner, Moses Martin, Coca Leister, Francis Shenberger, Peter Inman and Solomon Isaacs

WHY NOT A BETTER

"COLLEGE NEWS"

This is the last number of the College News to be issued by the present staff. The editor-in-chief desires to thank the other members of the staff for their efficient co-operation during the past year. Without this willing service on their part whatever of success may have been achieved during our term would have been impossible. While there have been perplexities and discouragements, in this as in everything else, the work on the whole has been pleasant and interesting.

Our greatest regret is that we were not able to make the paper a better one. When we took charge of it, we had plans for increasing the number of pages and for issuing a special number once each month containing articles of a literary nature. It was owing to lack of funds that we were not able to carry these ideas into effect. This financial insufficiency was not due to any fault of the Business Manager; on the contrary he has been energetic in his work, and has given the staff all the financial support that the receipts warranted. The remedy seems to lie in an increase in the number of subscribers or in an adequate contribution of funds from some source other than the advertisements or the subscription list. Possibly some kind friend will in the coming days come forward and endow "The News."

We could wish that the paper were better supported by the alumni in the way of subscribers. The latter may say that we have not given sufficient attention of late to their activities; but no one who has not endeavored to secure alumni notes can understand the difficulty of obtaining them without the assistance of the alumni themselves.

We realize that one of the greatest hindrances to an increase in the subscription list is the small size of the paper. Thus the one works against the other. The comparatively small number of paid subscriptions prevents the getting of more advertisements and the enlargement of the paper; while the size of the paper works against an increase in the number of subscribers. It has been suggested that a solution of the problem might be reached by changing the paper from a weekly to a monthly. This would necessitate a change in the character of the subject matter; whether a majority of the subscribers would approve of this we leave for the new staff to determine.

At the beginning of our term we declared, our aim of supporting those interests and phases of college life which contribute the most toward the general welfare of the student body. We feel that we have been true to this purpose as far as lay within our power. As has been intimated, we have been handicapped by lack of space, and many times have had to shorten or omit altogether articles which we should have been glad to print. It may have seemed to some of the students sometimes that the paper contained little that was new to them. However, when one considers that at present it is the aim of the "News" to furnish a record of the college's activities to those not members of the present student body as well as to those who are, it would seem difficult to avoid this objection, especially, in a small college where news circulates rapidly.

We wish the new staff the greatest success in their administration of the paper.

his pledge, if possible, to support only those candidates and parties committed to national prohibition. Theoretically, the campaigners will ring every door bell in the United States; practically, much of the actual campaigning will be done by volunteer organizations effected by the campaigner. In addition to enrolling voters it is planned to launch a great national monthly prohibition paper and to get a subscription list of 5,000,000, the largest in the history of newspaper publication. Each voter who enrolls will be asked to pay ten cents for a year's subscription to this paper. In case he does not do so, his paper will be paid for from a fund set aside for that purpose.

As a practical illustration of the results of this sort of campaigning the following figures were given for Minnesota: In 1904, without the aid of workers the prohibition vote was 4,000. In 1906, after four months of campaigning by six young men, it was raised to 12,000. In 1908, after three months of campaigning by sixteen men, it was 32,000. In 1912, after four months of campaigning by fifty men, it was 55,000. Prohibitionists have been elected to both houses of the Minnesota legislature since 1906. There are at present eight Prohibitionists holding seats in that state.

In Southern California during the recent campaign forty-two young men called at every house in Los Angeles County. The result was the election of Charles H. Randall, the first Prohibitionist ever sent to the United States Congress. On each morning beginning in July, forty young men, most of them from California colleges would meet in a conference and training school for two hours in Pasadena. They would then go in a body to some suburban town or selected district and campaign the rest of the day, completing the canvass of the district selected. In this campaign Mr. Randall was elected over the strong opposition of three other political parties, and the California "dry" movement was carried by a large vote. The success is attributable very largely to the work of the young men.

The plan is now to enlist 3,000 young men at army wages, $25.00 per month and expenses. The term of service on this basis being until the organizer has enrolled 1,666 voters. When each of 3,000 men shall have secured his quota, the total will be 5,000,000 voters enrolled, which will be a sufficient number to insure national prohibition.

The average young man will enroll his quota in from sixty to ninety days. Some men will do it in one-half the time. 5,000 have been enrolled at one meeting.

The prohibition movement is today offering a great opportunity to those who want to have a part in the greatest reform movement of the time. Experience has demonstrated that it is impossible to employ satisfactory men on a commercial basis. Heart-service is essential to success of such a movement and this cannot be bought for money. The call is for soldiers and crusaders who will serve for the honor of the flag. It is for the support of sacrifice such as is manifested by the heroes of every age, who have seen beyond their own immediate selfish desires and surroundings, and whose visions have grasped the broader needs of humanity. 3,000 men thus consecrated will form an irresistible phalanx of power and will insure the success of the undertaking.

A good start has already been made for the first one thousand and enlistments are coming in constantly. Training colleges will be held at the close of the school year in practically every state where campaign work will be done. These training schools will last ten days and will be in charge of the most experienced and capable men in the entire country. In these schools the enlisted workers will receive their training which will fit them to do successfully the actual work of the campaign. The volunteer movement is practically in charge of a few college men; chief of whom are V. G. Hinshaw, Penn College and J. A. Shields, Ottawa University, at the National Prohibition Headquarters in Chicago. Those in charge of the field work are H. E. Kershner of Harvard, Neil D. Cranmer of Syracuse, E. G. Lefler, Gustavus Adolphus, S. W. Grathwell, Pacific College and Earl Haydock, University of Southern California.

The baseball team will play Dickinson College at Carlisle on Wednesday.

A party of our students attended the local option rally at the state capitol at Harrisburg on Tuesday.

LAST NUMBER OF STAR COURSE

The last number of the Star Course will be presented Wednesday, April 14. On this date the recital artists will appear in a very attractive entertainment. They are spoken of very highly, and a pleasing program may be anticipated by those who attend. This number will form a fitting close to an exceptionally successful course.

L. B. HARNISH WITH FLYING SQUADRON OF AMERICA.

Leroy B. Harnish, of Carlisle, Pa., Lebanon Valley 1914, is the only Pennsylvanian with the Flying Squadron of America. He is secretary of the second group, of which Dr. Landrith, of Nashville, Tenn., the President of the last International Y. M. C. A. Convention; and Dr. Carolyn Geisel, of the medical staff of the Battle Creek Sanatorium, and national lecturer, are the speakers, with Fred Butler, of Niagara Falls, the great Chapman Gospel Soloist, as musical director.

Since Mr. Harnish joined the "Squadron" at the beginning of February, they have held meetings in all the state capitals and centers of education and population along the Eastern coast of the United States from Portland, Maine, to Miami, Florida. They are now dashing west through Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, and Idaho. After completing this itinerary, they will come east through Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania (Harrisburg, May 28), New York, and ending the campaign at Atlantic City, June 6.

The Flying Squadron is composed of about twenty-one persons, including speakers, soloists, and secretaries. They are divided into three groups and cover three cities each day; visiting nearly 300 cities, and speaking from twelve to twenty-five times in a city, besides addresses to colleges, clubs, and state legislatures. Their purpose is to arouse interest in the cause of National Constitutional Prohibition.

LEBANON VALLEY 9 DICKINSON 5

The score tells the tale. Wednesday morning Coach Guyer took his crippled cohorts to Carlisle to play a game of base ball. The game was played and for the first time in history—according to the chronicles of Guyer and Snively—the Blue and White came out the undisputed victors. In fielding our opponents had the better of the decision, but in hitting and pitching ability our team must be congratulated. We happened to have a fellow along with us by the name of Stickell who not only pitched a good game, but also used the big stick so violently and so mercilessly that at the end of the game this lad had four hits to his credit for a total of nine bases.

Dickinson used three pitchers in their vain endeavor to check the onslaught of our husky swatters, who garnered twelve safeties for a grand total of twenty-one bases. Keating deserves mention as a comer in regards to his use of the "big stick." McNelly caught Strickell very neatly and also contributed to the run-getting by making a nice triple.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

Saturday afternoon the Varsity Base Ball team added another victory by defeating the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy by the score of 10-0. This was the first home game of the season and it afforded the followers of the Blue and White an opportunity to see in action the team they were supporting.

Zeigler and Brown pitched consistent ball for the home team; the former allowing four hits in six innings, while the latter allowed none in three innings. Mader and Rapp pitched clever ball for the visitors, but were accorded poor support by their teammates. We were glad to see White back in the game and his being there was taken note of by his making a beautiful running catch. Atticks, who received a broken nose in practice at Carlisle on Wednesday, was also back in the game and performed his small part nobly. The score:

Robert Atticks received a severe cut on his forehead on Friday when a swinging bat struck him above the eye.

SOME CONDITIONS IN NEW MEXICO

The joint session of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations on Sunday afternoon was led by Mr. Weaver. The theme of the meeting was "The United Brethren Home Missions in New Mexico." Mr. Weaver said that the organization of Home Missions is the youngest of all the organizations of the church. It was established in 1905. Since that time, two hundred and seventy-two Home Missions have been established. The first one to be organized in New Mexico by the United Brethren Church was in 1910. Now we have six mission fields there. The other Protestant churches that are represented there are the Baptist, the Presbyterian, the Methodist and the Mormons. He told us of the character of the state and its people and said that our workers are doing a good work among them considering their difficult problems.

Miss Taylor gave us some instances in the lives of the missionaries in New Mexico, some of which were amusing while others went to show the hardships which they must endure.

Mr. Brunner spoke concerning the work done by our missionaries in Santa Fe and Velarde. One astonishing fact was that the United Brethren Mission is the only Protestant church in the city of Santa Fe. He showed the great need of more workers to take the blessings of an open Bible to those people. A solo by Miss Colt added greatly to the meeting.

GLEE CLUB MAKES FINAL TRIP

On Friday afternoon the Glee Club had the honor of singing in the beautiful Masonic Home at Elizabethtown. This was the club's initial appearance at this place and it is hoped by many of the members of the club that they will be privileged to go there again, because of the splendid treatment they received. The concert was rendered in the Assembly Room of the Home before about 150 people. After the concert the boys were furnished with a guide who took them through the Home. In the evening another concert was given in the town before a large and appreciative audience.

The last concert of the season was given at Mount Joy on Saturday evening. Even though it was the last concert, it was not lacking in spirit, but was one of the best of the season and was much appreciated, as was shown by the applause. The solo work of Mr. Bender and Mr. Whitman pleased the audience very much, as did also the sketch.

This was the close of one of the best seasons of the Glee Club. Much credit is due to Mr. Stengle, under whose careful managing 16 concerts were given before a total of 5,500 people. Some of the concerts were given in new territory where Lebanon Valley was not very well known.

METHODISTS ENDORSE WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Philadelphia, March 28.—The Philadelphia Methodist Conference has come out for woman suffrage. At the closing session of their 128th annual conference in the Haws avenue M. E. Church, Norristown, more than 300 Methodist ministers adopted resolutions calling upon the 88,000 Methodists of the Conference to "work actively to secure the amendment to the State Constitution enfranchising women."

The resolution, which was adopted without a dissenting voice or vote, reads as follows:

"Whereas, Woman's suffrage is essential to the development of democracy, with its recognition of the sacredness of human life and human rights; and

"Whereas, It is inevitable that women should be included in the term 'people,' to work together with men in a government by the people; and

"Whereas, Mothers, wives and sisters, sharing in the responsibilities and perils of civilization, ought not to be deprived of a voice in the councils of nations, therefore be it

EDITORIAL.

The best advertisers of a college are its students. It is the student's actions and what he has to say about his college when returning to his home community, or to those whom he meets in traveling from place to place that will best give those people an idea of the sort of college he attends. The progressive student is the best medium known through which to gain the ear of the outside world. What do such colleges as Washington and Jefferson and Dickinson say when they desire to merit a reputation and convince young people that they should not hesitate to enroll in either of these schools of learning? In the circulars which they send out is a catalogue stating what positions have been filled by their graduates. The college must fall back on its students for the inspiration needed to induce others to become interested in it. The student, during the nine months that the college is in session, can not adequately represent the interests of his college to his friends by either seeing or writing to them. Another agency than that of the students must be called into service.

At this moment many eyes are looking at Lebanon Valley College; many ears are to the ground to hear of the college's successes and interests. Alumni and many other people who never attended this college are anxious to know just what is being done by us. Also the students, although they know of many of the happenings about the college, desire a record of the several events for their files so that they may have a correct account of these interesting features in after years as well as now.

It is the duty of the college paper to accurately portray those desires, sentiments and feelings of the students, faculty and alumni which are for the best interest of the college and her friends. In order to do this the staff must possess eyes and ears quick to perceive and understand the movements which are continually being projected. No editorial staff, however, can of itself rightly sense the desires of the readers of its paper. For this reason many papers and magazines conduct a forum which allows the readers to there discuss different subjects.

The staff, which with this issue begins its new duties, therefore requests that everyone interested in the welfare of the college which it represents may feel it their privilege to address any article, they desire to have brought before readers of the "News" to the Editor-in-Chief. We, on our part shall endeavor to feel and discover the pulse beats of life around the college and on these pages record our readings. There has been placed a great responsibility on us as compilers of those events which go to determine this college life, but we shall put forth our best efforts for the interest of all concerned, and believe that then we may at least measure up to the high standards set by our predecessors. After we are sure of our present ground may the goal be placed higher and higher.

The Central Methodist Conference in session at Shamokin also passed resolutions endorsing woman suffrage.

A LESSON FROM THE BLUEBIRD.

One day while walking through a wood

I heard a little birdie sing,
"Full ill that wind that doth no good
To some poor earthly creature bring."

I looked and saw a wee bluebird,
If this poor bird which seemed so blue
With happiness could be so stirred,
Its lay methought must e'en be true.

Kalo Observes Anniversary

The Kalozetean Literary Society celebrated its thirty-eighth anniversary by rendering an excellent program in the College Chapel on Friday evening, April seventeenth.

A large Kalo banner of red and old gold, the colors of the society, was hung over the center of the pipe organ. On the stage large potted plants and ferns were tastefully arranged.

The chapel was comfortably filled with a large audience of students and friends, who listened appreciatingly to a program rendered in a pleasing and successful manner.

A march, "Citizen's Pride," a selection by Keim's Orchestra was the first number on the program. As the march was being played the speakers were ushered to their places on the stage. After the first number Reverend D. E. Long, of Mount Joy, Pennsylvania, gave the invocation. An overture from Mercandante was then rendered by the orchestra.

The president's address was delivered by P. B. Gible, who used as his subject, "The Complete Man." The happy personality of the man of courage, temperance, justice and wisdom was treated in a manner that showed much concentrated thought and effort.

H. M. Bender gave a good oration on the present war. The title of the oration was, "The Consecration of Germany." He showed in an impartial manner how Germany became involved in and continues to fight for a cause which she believes to be a just one.

The next number was a piano solo by L. C. Barnett. Mr. Barnett played Paderewski's Polonaise, Op. 9, No. 6 in a very artistic way. The solo was followed by a reading by V. W. Jamison, who gave a scene of the plot against Malvolio in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." Mr. Jamison interpreted the part of Malvolio in a remarkable manner.

The Kalo Chorus of fourteen men sang, "The Soldiers Chorus" by Gounod. The length of the applause from the audience and the favorable comments later showed that the number was well executed and highly appreciated.

The oration by F. E. Stengle was on the subject, "First Aid." He did much credit to himself and the society in the way he delivered the oration. He skillfully treated one of the greatest problems of Sociology, namely poverty. The orchestra played as a closing number Jane Hathaway's, "I'm a Longin' Fo' You."

The president's invitation to the reception in the gymnasium was accepted by a majority of the audience. Many friends of Kalo from far and near were kindly received by the committee and members of the society. Ice-cream, cake and the famous brand of Kalo punch were served. The gymnasium was splendidly decorated with pennants, banners and spirals of crepe paper of Kalo colors.

Messrs. VanSchaack, Ernst, Hollinger, Ray Light and Rhoades served on the various committees.

One Victory; One Defeat

The boys wearing the white and blue placed another feather in their caps last Friday when they defeated the strong Ursinus team by the score 13-7. Although the weather was not ideal for good baseball on account of the cold and light showers, yet the boys showed that they could play base ball, and play it well.

Their batting was again the big feature of the game. After seven hits, which gave us eight runs, had been made off Johnson, the wonder of the college base ball world, he was retired at the close of the second inning in favor of Zeigler. This lad was then touched up for eight hits and a total of five runs.

But not alone in the batting did L. V. display their superior skill. The infield worked like a well-oiled machine and put up a neat and as clean a fielding game as was seen on Annville field in many moons. Shenberger in the middle garden of the outfield ably substituted for Lerew by pulling down two pretty drives. White pitched his first game of the season and had the Ursinus men at his mercy, fanning twelve and allowing but five hits.

Snavely and Swartz starred in batting with Machen, Keating and Stickell also performing creditably with the big stick.

For Ursinus, Adams and Mitterling starred. The former in batting and the latter in fielding and batting.

On Saturday the team travelled to Allentown and there met their first reverse of the season by losing to Muhlenburg College 8-10. Our team displayed their superiority in everything save in run getting. In other words the breaks of the game did not come our way with the exception of the first and eighth innings. Stickell pitched well and our team played good baseball. But in these two innings free passes, hits and errors formed a combination strong enough to defeat us. Keating, Swartz and Machen batted good for us while Day and Detling played Muhlenburg's best game.

The "News" will greatly appreciate any Alumni notes that may be handed to that department from time to time.

L. V. Wins Third Prize in Contest

At the state oratorical contest of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, which was held at Dickinson College, Carlisle, H. S. Dando, '16, tied with Edgar G. Diehm, of Juniata College for third honors. Mr. Dando had received first place in the decision of the judges on thought and composition, and would have carried off first honors in the contest had it not been for an unexplainable decision of one of the judges on delivery. One of these judges had given our representative first place, another had given him second, but the third judge "very generously" placed him eighth, thus throwing him out of either first or second place. It seems quite evident, by the inconsistency of the decision with that of the other judges, that it was a decision against Lebanon Valley as an institution rather than against the oratorical ability of Mr. Dando. The oration follows:

JOHN BARLEYCORN'S BRIBERY.

In these days when the great temperance movement has attained such remarkable success, when the armies of righteousness and justice have driven the great demon of drink into his lair, beaten, bruised, and bloody, but still exerting all his latent powers in a mad, ferocious struggle for life, this demon is pitied and petted by his allies who raise the loud wail, "What shall we do without the revenue received from it? The nation will come to bankruptcy." Thus they introduce the great financial question into the struggle, a phase of the drink question which affects the individual, the community, and the nation. The liquor traffic has its tap-root in money. Were it not for the financial profits in it the business would soon die a natural death.

What is it that drink does for the individual financially? It takes his cash. Not at first does he deliberately choose to become a spendthrift, but soon he finds that the saloon is a toboggan-slide down to financial ruin. He would be considered a moderate drinker indeed who consumes but three glasses of drink a day, yet at this moderate rate his drink bill amounts in a year to fifty-four dollars and seventy-five cents, which amount, if saved, will amass in twenty years a fortune of two thousand and three hundred and forty-nine dollars. His character of integrity and honesty, his habits of economy, and industry, together with this amount of cash saved will place him in a position to own property, enter business, and command respect. Place in contrast to this man

BEHIND TIME.

The treaty of peace, closing the war of 1812, had been signed at Ghent and the vessel bearing the tidings of peace was battling with the wintry tides in mid ocean. The eighth of January was at hand and the battle of New Orleans was fought. The slaughter in this battle was frightful. One historian says, "The killed and wounded fell in heaps." All this slaughter and all this bloodshed because the vessel bearing the tidings of peace was behind time.

A man was sentenced to be hanged on a certain day and at a certain time. His friends, meanwhile, produced evidence to show that he was innocent, and the governor pardoned him. This was during the time in which messages were sent by men on horseback. The messenger set out for the place of execution but arrived just in time to see the man breathe his last. The innocent man was hanged because the messenger arrived behind time.

How many of us think how much depends upon being on time? We often do not take this question seriously enough. If we did we could spare our fellow students and, above all, our professors much annoyance. Some students seem to delight in coming to class five or ten minutes late. Perhaps they have not yet considered how annoying it is to the professor and to the students to have the recitation interrupted by their tardy arrival. The professor is continually interrupted, as he is compelled to stop lecturing until the late arrivals are seated. The students also lose interest in the subject by having their attention drawn from it. In addition, the professor must have his attendance roll continually before him and as each tardy student enters the record must be changed.

Perhaps it is not always our fault if we are late, but it certainly is our fault if we enter the class room noisily. What is more disturbing than to be busily discussing a subject when suddenly the door is opened and a tardy student enters dragging his feet or striking his heels on the floor as hard as possible.

If we have not taken these things into consideration up to this time let us do our best to make amends for it now. Let us try to come to classes on time and in this way make the recitations more interesting for the students and for the professors.

the poor fellow who, through his insatiable craving, is financially "down and out," credit gone, economy spoiled, industry squandered, honesty impaired, confidence forfeited; his financial opportunity drowned in a glass of grog. A comfortable home, a happy family, a desirable situation, a prosperous business, all these are forever beyond his reach. For it follows almost as surely as night the day that he who begins a course of what is known as "moderate drinking" will go from bad to worse, from little to much, until his daily expenditures would threaten any man's fortune. There is only one end to it—poverty and a potter's field.

That which affects the individual is bound to affect the community composed of such individuals. Each member has an income either great or small. If he spends that income for drink he does not spend it for food, clothing, and other necessities and comforts for himself and family. He either does not purchase goods at all or that which he does purchase is not paid for, and consequently the merchant is compelled to charge higher prices for his goods in order to make enough profits to pay up for the number of bad debts on his books. In view of this fact, one wonders why business men will array themselves on the side of the license system. Surely indeed "Wine is a mocker." The innocent are thus compelled to suffer with the guilty, the sober man paying the drunkard's debts. The accursed traffic has its financial halter around the throat of every man whether he wills it or not. The infernal regions never hatched up a blacker lie than that one which liquor supporters are never weary of telling us, namely, "The saloon is a source of revenue to a town." Mark you men. Statistics show that the saloon never pays one dollar of benefit to a town but that town suffers a loss of six dollars. In addition to this is the long list of poverty, want, suffering, and despair which can never be put into any financial column.

Not until recent years have the census reports aided in making an estimate of the cost of drink to the nation. The amount of drink consumed on an average for each individual in the nation is twenty-three gallons at a cost of almost twenty dollars. This amount far exceeds the amount consumed in 1878 which was eight gallons at a cost of a little more than nine dollars per individual. At this enormous increase unless we halt and reform, we cannot hope to escape the fate of Rome! May Heaven give us wisdom to see our danger and spare us such a fate. Babylon fell in a night of drunken revelry and debauch. Alexander lost his crown, his kingdom, his life through strong drink. Rome was submerged in an ocean of drunkenness and moral corruption. Shall not we as a nation heed the warning or shall we continue in our mad career until the fiery letters that Belshazzar saw on his palace wall shall flame our doom? Appalling is our record. While we as a nation pay out one dollar for education we pay out ten dollars for strong drink; while one dollar is invested in churches, sixteen dollars is invested in alcoholic beverages; while we spend one dollar to Christianize the world through missions, one hundred and sixty-six dollars are spent to damn it. The liquor traffic does not pay one dollar of benefit to any man without impoverishing someone else. The several million dollars coming into our national coffers from the liquor traffic is simply a bribe to smother the nation's conscience and to enthrone the rum tyrant in our legislative halls. It is easy money that comes into our treasury so promptly that it requires but little intelligence or brain racking on the part of our statesmen to devise a means of raising revenue otherwise. It is a confession on the part of American statesmanship that it cannot devise a means for raising funds to support its government without allying itself with a cause that is most questionable. It places every man, woman and child under obligation to it, while instead the government should protect its people from such a grievous burden.

The revenue received from this traffic is as the money received by the sons of Jacob when they sold their brother Joseph into Egypt, or as the thirty pieces of silver received by Judas for the betrayal of our Saviour. It is blood money and no nation has a right to maintain such a traffic for such a paltry excuse. In my estimation the man who votes for the licensed saloon is as guilty of all the crime and suffering it causes as the one who manufactures, sells or drinks the fiery liquid. What is the real revenue received from this ghoulish tyrant? Tonight the saloon enters an humble cottage to strike the roses from a woman's cheeks and tomorrow it challenges the Republic in the halls of Congress. Today it strikes the crust from the lips of a starving child and tomorrow levies tribute from the government itself. There is no cottage humble enough to escape it, no place strong enough to shut it out. It is the mortal enemy of peace and order, the despoiler of men and the terror of women, the cloud that darkens the faces of little children, the demon that has dug more graves and sent more souls unprepared into judgment than all the pestilences that have wasted life since God sent the plagues of Egypt. It comes to ruin and it profits mainly on the sons and daughters of loving parents. It comes to mislead human souls and to crush human hearts. It comes to bring gray-haired mothers down in shame and sorrow to the grave. It comes to change the wife's love into despair, and her pride into shame. It comes to still the laughter of little children, to stifle the music of home and fill it

Form a procession of the sad faces, the broken hearts, the ruined hopes. Play the dead march as there pass by the three thousand smothered babies, the one thousand murdered wives, the five thousand suicides, the nine thousand murdered men, the forty thousand broken-hearted widows, the sixty thousand ruined girls, the beginners in crime, the idiots and the insane, the paupers and the new recruits; give each one yard of space on which to walk, and they will make a procession over nine hundred miles long. Arch this vast throng with a rainbow fringed in black and upon it print in fiery letters so that he who runs may read: "THE RESULT OF JOHN BARLEYCORN'S BRIBERY." "Our fathers to their graves have gone, Their strife is past—their triumphs won;

But sterner trials wait the race, Which rises in their honored place, A moral warfare with the crime And folly of an evil time."

GLIMPSES OF EVENTS.

The Cornwall trip, which is taken annually by the Geology class under the direction of Professor H. E. Wanner, was greatly enjoyed by the class last Saturday. Walking around the mines and climbing almost perpendicular cliffs had its effect on the number who generally take a Sunday afternoon walk. Sore feet and aching muscles tended to cause those enjoying these laurels to engage in calm repose.

Fred Race, '18, who had been called home on account of his father's illness, has returned and expects to complete the year's course.

The tree, which was planted by the class of 1914, having died, was replaced on Saturday by Edward H. Smith and Victor Heffelfinger. A hardy tulip tree was planted by these alumni in the name of the class of 1914.

CONCERT IN ENGLE HALL.

A large audience greeted the Recital Artists, who appeared in Engle Hall on Wednesday evening, April 14. They presented a program of an interesting character, and the appreciation of the audience was shown by way of applause. Their generous supply of recalls merits mention. We trust that the enthusiasm of the audience, attracted to these concerts, augurs well for the course of entertainments next year. We realize that much credit is due to Mr. Stengle, who as chairman of the committee, performed his duty so efficiently.

BISHOP WEEKLY VISITS US.

The students had the pleasure of hearing Bishop W. M. Weekly speak in chapel on Friday morning. His speech was both interesting and entertaining and the student body showed their appreciation by their hearty applause. The Bishop advised the students to bend their every energy toward building up Lebanon Valley College. He said that the students can get more new students into the college than any other agency. This can be accomplished by writing home to our friends, by writing articles for our home newspaper, and by special personal work. He expressed his opinion that if the present student body would do their best they could bring two hundred new students to Lebanon Valley next year. He closed his remarks with the statement that of the agencies which are making the world better, the greatest is the college.

Y. M. C. A.

The meeting was in charge of Mr. McConnell, who gave the final report of the State Convention at Johnstown to which he was a delegate. The speaker was enthused with the spirit of the convention and gave an inspiring talk. "Advance beyond past glory and present achievements" was the central theme of the address. The speakers of the convention urged that something definite and tangible be done by our organizations for the benefit of the community. Let us fall in line for the coming year, so that we may have the joy of beholding the fruits of unselfish labor.

FROM VERA CRUZ

Mr. William E. Herr, '07, Y. M. C. A. Secretary aboard the battleship Delaware, has returned from Vera Cruz, Mexico. The Delaware has been in Mexican waters for three months. April 11th she joined the Atlantic Fleet off the Virginia capes for the spring practice. Mr. Herr has been authorized by the Navy Department to carry on Y. M. C. A. activities aboard its ships. Recently he organized a literary club, and its first program was a debate on the question "Resolved, That national prohibition should be adopted." The affirmative side won the debate. Some other duties of Mr. Herr are the conducting of divine services on Sunday and teaching a Bible study class during the week. Athletic meets are also held under his supervision.

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

Volume VI.

Annville, Pa., Tuesday, April 27, 1915

No. 31

Entered as second-class matter November 12, 1910, at the post office at Annville, Pa., under the act of March 3, 1879

This Year's First Victory For Sophs

Much interest was manifested in the interclass debate last Friday by not only the student body, but also citizens of Annville, Lebanon and other outlying districts. The chapel, indeed, was well filled to witness this matching of thoughts and argumentative ability. It had been the Freshmen's good fortune to win the tug-of-war, football and basketball games and their spirits and confidence were undaunted in entering this contest. For several months the respective teams studied the question in the hope of victory.

The question debated was: Resolved, That a Literacy Test Should Be Required of All Immigrants to the United States. The Freshmen defended the affirmative side of the question, while the Sophomores, who chose the subject to be debated, upheld the negative. The captain of the Sophomore team was E. R. Snaveley and his colleagues were A. M. Long and R. W. Williams. The Freshmen team was composed of M. Markowitz, who was captain, C. Maderi, and Rufus Lefever.

Mr. Markowitz, who introduced the question as first speaker, defined clearly the merits of the literacy test and spoke of the political evils resulting to our nation from the illiterate class.

Mr. Maderi discussed what would be the economic value resulting to the nation if the thousands of illiterates, who yearly come to our shores, were denied admission. He plead for the protection of American laborers by the exclusion of these thousands of competitors.

The social evils, none assimilation and non amalgamation, resulting from the admission to these United States of the illiterate foreigners was proved by Mr. Lefever. He also attempted to prove that the proposed literacy test is the best solution for the problem.

These speakers each did well, but through a lack of proper cooperation between the members of the Freshmen team in preparing their part of the arguments and failing to closely link their arguments to the question as stated, the decision was lost for them and the negative side received the unanimous decision of the judges.

The members of the Sophomore team presented their arguments in a clear, deliberate and impressive manner. They had worked out the question in a commendable way and as a result their arguments followed one after the other in a related form.

In beginning the debate for the negative Abram Long agreed with his opponent in that we need restriction of immigration. His appeal, however, aimed to prove that the literacy test was valueless even as a restrictive measure as it would fail to distinguish between the desirable and undesirable immigrant. He also claimed that the proposed test is unjust and impractical.

Mr. Williams followed up his colleague's arguments with the statement that, since the literacy test had proved unsound and since some form of restriction is necessary, he would propose a psycho-physical test. This he claimed would exclude the undesirable classes such as paupers, criminals, anarchists, and the mentally and physically deficient. From both statistics and authorities statements were made to prove the simplicity and practicability of the test he proposed.

Mr. Snaveley's debate dealt with the technicality of the original question. By a strict interpretation all classes of people, including children a year old, would be compelled to pass the test or be excluded. Those to be exempted from this test, he claimed, should be all children under sixteen years of age, all families coming in a body, and those persons fleeing religious or political persecutions.

The rebuttals were spirited. Mr. Markowitz demands special recognition for his part in the debate proper, and for the nicety with which he handled the rebuttal for his side. Mr. Snaveley represented the negative side in the rebuttal.

ENTERTAINMENT OF THE SENIORS.

On April 21st the Clonian Literary Society delightfully entertained the Senior Class. After the society had assembled the seniors were ushered in, in "caps and gowns." The chaplain opened the program with a short devotional service after which the president pro tempore, Miss Mary Daugherty, gave an address of welcome to 1915. An exceptionally pleasing program had been prepared by various members of the society. The Seniors seemingly enjoyed all personal jokes and remembrances. After the program the president extended an invitation to those present to remain for a short social hour. Refreshments were then served and the guests departed at an early hour.

Thomas R. Lyter, '14, preached on Sunday, April 17, in the Derry Street United Brethren Church of Harrisburg.

Professor Doris Long has been confined to her room the last few days from a severe case of grip. Her mother is visiting her and expects to remain for the rest of the term.

Plans have been made by Prof. S. H. Derickson for the conducting of an all-day trip to Mt. Gretna this Saturday.

Villanova 8; Lebanon Valley 2

On Saturday afternoon Lebanon Valley met one of its hardest propositions of the year in the strong Villanova team and as a consequence thereof went down to defeat. Villanova has been doing good work this year and they certainly continued their wonderful performance. In the batting department of the game they slightly outthit our team. These comparative few hits, however, coupled with errors and their daring base running enabled them to score eight runs.

Our team, on the other hand, hit the ball safely almost as frequently as the visitors but poor base running in the first two innings spoiled our chances for scoring, when a few runs, at least, should have been "chalked up" for us. On other occasions the visitors fielded almost perfectly and their defense was strong. Only once did we break thru this defence and that was in the eighth inning when a single by Atticks, a triple by White and an infield out by Keating gave us two runs.

White pitched good ball for us, and had he been accorded better support the visitors would not have been able to run such a high score on us. The visitors, however, put up the best game and they deserved to win.

RESERVES WIN AND LOSE.

While Muhlenberg was defeating our team at Allentown Saturday, Minersville High School was handing out a defeat to the Reserves at home, whom they trounced 9-2. Brown pitched a good game but was accorded very poor support by his team mates. The Minersville boys took advantage of these misplays and coupled with good base running they were able to score nine runs. Since this was the first game of the season the reserves must not be criticised too harshly but rather let us give them our support with the hope that they will do better in the future.

On Friday afternoon the Reserves met the strong New Bloomfield Academy team and defeated them in an eleven inning game 2-1. The battle was exciting and interesting from start to finish and was resplendent in spectacular plays and clever baseball on the part of both teams. Brown again was on the mound for the home team and he did excellent work throughout the entire game. The addition of Shenberger, McNelly and Snaveley added materially to the strength of the team as well as giving encouragement and confidence to the younger and less experienced members.

TAKING A DEFEAT.

One of the most important questions involved in all athletic contests is "How can you take a defeat?" A question of this kind however is not to be limited to athletic contests, but it should be extended to pertain to literary contests as well. If you see your are losing do you give up in despair and let fortune take her own course? If you have lost, do you think you were played "dirty," or if you have won, do you feel that spirit of self exaltation and superiority that prevails to the exclusion of everything else? Should either of these cases apply to us, we are not reaping the benefits that should be derived from a contest of any kind. It is not always an honor to win or a shame to lose. Especially is the latter true when we have done our best. Yes, it is a pleasure to realize a victory in every contest or difficulty met, but it would be a poorly rounded man that would result from such experiences. One is not able to enjoy a victory until he has suffered defeat, and has learned how to appreciate it. If perchance in an athletic contest, a seemingly unfair decision is made, are we justified in criticising the author of the decision when he uses his best judgment in rendering such a decision. At the same time, should he pronounce a decision however unfair against our opponents, many people applaud him and admire his fairness as a judge. The same holds true of literary contests. If a decision is made against us, it is not our duty, much less our right, to pronounce the decision unfair or unjust, when it is based on the judge's own ideal of effectiveness. It is the privilege as well as the duty of every judge to decide in favor of the contestant by whom he has been most favorably impressed, and when the case presents itself where any judge seems to hold views on efficiency that are apparently out of harmony with those of other judges, it should be the privilege of no one, in case of an adverse decision by such a judge, to hold him as a personal opponent, much less as an enemy, to a contestant. Our education teaches us to be willing to submit to the sagacity of any judge, and if we are not willing to accept the judgment of a superior intellect, our college training is only hypothetical. The scope of our intelligence should be so enlarged that we may rightly comprehend the true lesson which every defeat teaches us, if we will only accept it. The sportsmanship of our student body is largely judged by the manner in which we accept our defeats.

Although we may not think we deserve or merit defeat at times, we should refrain from abusive expressions and thoughts, resolving to maintain the respect of those by whom we were defeated. In this way coals of fire will be heaped upon us and if the judges were, from all indications, unfair, theirs will be the loss and ours the gain.

Our Wireless Station

The Physics department of the college has been engaged for more than a year in a series of elementary experiments with wireless telegraphy. Thus far the work has been of a purely experimental nature with elementary apparatus. The work is being pursued as fast as time and funds will permit. The primary object has been the development of plans for a station of sufficient scientific value to be used in teaching the essential features of commercial wireless telegraphy. That wireless telegraphy is one of the greatest feats of human ingenuity is conceded by all. But recently it was considered a parlor stunt with some slight-of-hand as its basis. The last decade has demonstrated that it is doubtless the most reliable method for the transmission of intelligence and therefore it has taken its place as a commercial asset. That it is possible is known to most individuals; that it has been made possible by some scientific wizard instead of by a hard-headed man of science is the belief of many; that it is based upon simple scientific facts and that the conditions attending these phenomena can be reproduced by any one as easily as telegraphy with wires is not so well understood. To demonstrate these phenomena and to prepare the way for better instruction along this line to the students of the department is the burden of the present work.

Already some real practical results have been attained by these experiments, even though the time that can be given to them is very limited. The large stations in the eastern part of the United States are picked up with ease and certainty. The government station at Arlington is heard at all times and the time signals and weather reports may readily be copied. This opportunity has been employed to regulate the large clock, the gift of the class of 1913, so that it now marks time with some degree of precision. These observations have shown the wisdom of the class of 1913 in its purchase and the value of the time piece to the college and the community at large. Since December 18 last the clock has been in error not more than 20 seconds at any time when compared with the time signals sent out by the national government. At this writing the clock is about 3 seconds slow. The warm weather has had its effect upon the pendulum and has slowed up the clock. The instrument is always consistent in its performance which is quite a remarkable feat when its size is taken into consideration. The donors of the gift are without question public benefactors and deserve our commendation.

JOINT RECITAL IN ENGLE HALL.

Miss Elta Weaver, a Senior in Oratory, and Mr. Ray Campbell, a Senior in Music, whose program attracted a goodly number of hearers to their recital on Thursday evening, April 22, gave additional and ample proof of their abilities and brilliancy of accomplishment.

Miss Weaver created an overwhelming number of congratulations by her excellent interpretation of "Peg O' My Heart." Her clear enunciation, the delicate feeling and superb forced by which she portrayed the characteristics of the Irish, combined to prove her an accomplished reader. Mr. Campbell, whose selections were rendered with feeling, showed classic ability and breadth. The audience received him with all the effusiveness that his interpretative work inevitably arouses. He showed notably clear and precise technic, well balanced interpretation, excellent tone and considerable power. The following is the program they presented:

- 1—Concerto in A Minor, Op 16,
E. Grieg
(First Movement)
Mr. Campbell
- 2—"Peg O' My Heart,"
J. Hartley Manners
(Arranged by Miss Weaver)
Part I. The Coming of Peg.
Part II. The End of the Month.

Part III. Peg's Proposals.
Miss Weaver.
- 3—(a) A Tale MacDowell
(b) At The Spring Joseffy
(c) Berceuse Chopin
(d) Rhapsodie No. 6 Liszt
Mr. Campbell

Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Alfred K. Mills led the meeting and gave an interesting discussion on "Home Folks." In referring to the end of another year, which is only a few weeks distant, he called attention to some of the things which should be attained by a college course. Broader vision and deeper sympathies for human affairs should be developed by our four years here. Then, when we return to our home folks we should not think them unlike us, but remember that our opportunities have been the means of apparently exalting us above them. It should be our aim to instill into them the greater meaning of life which we have derived.

The attendance was poor in comparison to the past several months. Let us not lose interest in this religious work now that the beautiful days are here. The meetings will be limited to forty-five minutes.

COOPERATION BETWEEN BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT AT MT. GRETNA AND LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

The equipment of the biological laboratory of Lebanon Valley College will be transferred to the Hall of Philosophy, one of the buildings of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua, at Mt. Gretna in the early part of June soon after the close of the regular college year.

Professor S. H. Derickson, director of the department, will have charge of the Nature Study work of the Chautauqua which extends from July 2nd to 30th. He will also conduct courses in Bird Study, and two courses in Botany, one dealing with the lower forms of plant life and one in which the flowering plants will be studied.

A more advanced course in Botany for college credit will be offered beginning June 15th and continuing for eight weeks.

In all of the courses the chief aim will be to have the student become acquainted with the plants and birds as LIVING things in their natural surroundings. In this respect the courses will be quite different from the courses given in the laboratory thru the regular school year, to which they will form a very valuable supplement both for teachers and for those desiring to see and know more about the wonderful creation of living things which surround us.

Mount Gretna is very rich in both plant and animal life which, with the healthful conditions offered by the cool mountain air, pure spring water and the contact with highly cultured community which gather there for the summer, make it a very desirable and pleasant place to pursue work of this kind.

Any one desiring to spend a pleasant and profitable summer in learning more of the wonderful story which Nature has to tell will do well to arrange with the director for one or more of the courses. The time of the courses is so arranged that all of the courses may be taken if desired. Bird Study will be in the early morning, Cryptogamic Botany each forenoon, the Flowering Plants each afternoon, classes meeting five days each week.

RELAY TEAM IN HARD LUCK.

The story is soon told. On Saturday the Relay team went to Philadelphia to take part in the 21st annual relay carnival, but Dame Fortune had an ugly frown upon her countenance as she beheld Lebanon Valley's best four come out upon the track. The race began. Evans ran first for us, but when about thirty feet from the starting point, in attempting to forge his way to the front, he dropped, or rather knocked out of his hand, the stick which each runner is required to carry. The judge informed him to come back and procure his stick. The time required in doing this gave the other contestants ample time to gain considerably—in fact so great a distance that the other men were not able to make up the distance that had been lost by this fatal accident. All of our men ran beautiful races and according to their own testimony they would have been easy winners in this contest.

Von Berghey failed to take a place in either of the three field events in which he entered. In the shot put "Von" was handicapped by the use of brass shot instead of the ordinary steel shot which he has been accustomed to use. Notwithstanding this fact he "heaved" the "pill" 41 ft. 11 inches while 44 ft. won the event.

In throwing the Hammer "Von" did 133 ft. while 156 took this event.

Rev. John W. Oakes has been appointed to supply the Port Trevortor Circuit of our church. He carries with him the best wishes of the students for a successful pastorate at this place.

Mr. Bruce Heberling, of Highspire, visited his brother, Raymond, and other friends at the college on Saturday and Sunday.

The meeting was in charge of Miss Ruth Bender, who took as her subject "Christian Womanhood of the Twentieth Century." Miss Bender considered her subject under three heads: the moral, mental and physical development of womanhood.
The moral development of womanhood was discussed by Miss Bender, who clearly pointed out that moral development is essential to perfect womanhood. Miss Bergdoll discussed the mental development as an essential to perfect womanhood. The physical development of womanhood was discussed by Miss Ruth, who urged that we pay more attention to this side of our development as it is the side most disregarded. Miss Duke favored us with a solo which was enjoyed by all. The girls showed their interest in the meeting by their remarks.

THE GAME AT MT. ST. MARY'S

Last Monday our boys put an end to their losing streak by defeating Mt. St. Mary's College at Emmittsburg by the score 11-4. The game was a hard-fought battle and more closely contested than the score indicates. In the beginning of the seventh inning we were one run in the lead—this run having been made by White the inning before by driving the ball over the centerfield for a home run. In the seventh, however, Higgins, the opposing pitcher, weakened and as a result four runs were scored. A feature of this inning was a home run by Carl Snaveley who sent the ball flying over the left fielder's head. In the eighth Higgins was replaced by McCoy. Two runs were made off him in our final round at the bat.

For us Stickell pitched the most clever game of the season. All the opponent's hits were made in the first three innings. After that they had no chance. Stickell had things his own way from then on and during the game struck out 10 men. Stickell helped also in the run getting by making a pair of nice singles, his first one driving our first two runs across the plate. Keating and Lerew did good work for us at the bat. The whole team played well and showed much improvement in their fielding. The feature of the game was the all around playing of Rice, the left fielder for Mt. St. Mary's.

JOHNSON TAKES REVENGE

On Saturday, Johnson, pitching for Ursinus, "evened up" matters by shutting out our team by the score 2-0 in a very brisk game on Ursinus field. White and Johnson were the opposing pitchers and each pitched good ball, the latter having the better of the argument. It was, in fact, a pitcher's battle. White struck out 11 men, allowed seven hits and walked two, while Johnson fanned 11, allowed two hits, hit one and did not give a single free pass. White kept his hits scattered but five of the seven were for extra bases and two of these were partly responsible for the two runs made by our opponents. Both teams fielded well and the game was hard fought from beginning to end.

ALUMNI.

News comes to us that Miss Clara Horn, '13, who is completing her course at Columbia has accepted the position of professor of mathematics in the Knox School for Ladies at Tarrytown on the Hudson.

CLIO-PHILO JOINT SESSION

The Clionian and Philokosmian Literary Societies met in their annual spring joint session on Friday evening at eight o'clock. The meeting was held in Philo Hall, the Clionian officers presiding. The chaplain conducted the devotional service after which the program was rendered. The program was a combination of musical and literary numbers. The music numbers were greatly enjoyed. The piano duets were especially pleasing. Those who took part in the program showed much originality, especially was this true of Miss Zeigler and of those who took part in the sketch. The sketch is the part of the program always looked forward to and this year's caste came up to the usual high standard. The sketch brought out very forcibly the fact that women can restrain from talking for at least five hours. The Clio-Philo programs are looked forward to with eagerness as they are always well prepared, interesting, humorous, and well rendered.

TRACK TEAM AT DICKINSON.

Lebanon Valley's track team formally opened its season by losing out to Dickinson College at Carlisle on Saturday in a very interesting meet by the score 50½ to 69½. Both teams fought hard and the score was about even until the jumping and hurdle events were reached. In these events we could not compete successfully. We were handicapped by the loss of Wheelock, who was not able to take part in the meet on account of illness.

Von Berghey was our big man, scoring three first places, including the Shot Put, Discus and Hammer throw. Evans took first in the 100 and 220 yd. dashes, breaking the 220 yd. Dickinson track record of 23 seconds, by doing it in 22 3-5 seconds. Eichelberger took first in the mile and second in the ½ mile and two miles scoring a total of 11 points. Mickey was a good second in the discus throw and added three more points by taking second place in the broad jump by doing 20 ft. 8 in.

All the other men did well and with training and coaching and practice ought to develop themselves into very able and capable track men. The team deserves much credit for making such a good showing against an older institution—or rather an institution having had track teams for a longer time in the past than has been our fortune.

THE LIFE THAT COUNTS

"The Life That Counts" was the subject considered at the Young Men's Christian Association meeting on Sunday. Charles Loomis, who was the leader, made many well chosen remarks in his discussion of the subject. The qualities necessary for a life that is worth while, such as concentration of effort and earnestness were well brought out. The leader also ably showed that it is not the number of talents a man has that counts in this life, but the thing that counts, is what a man does with the talents that he has. In an illustration he likened the talented man that does not use his talents to an electrical apparatus with a high amperage and only a small voltage. The entire meeting was interesting throughout as well as helpful to those who were present.

Y. W. C. A.

"The Song the Indian River Sings of" was the subject of the missionary meeting led by Miss Ruth Heffelman. The song of this river, as she told it to us, is sad and replete with suffering. The leader made her address very vivid by citing some experiences of an American girl who went to India as a physician and who did so much to alleviate the sufferings of the natives. Miss Heffelman closed her remarks with the plea that we should not pass by with the sigh, "I am glad I live in America," but we should do something real, something worth while for "the least of these."

MINUTE-MEN.

All that is now influenced to a marked degree by the present European family feud. But since the law of association always makes itself known, we find that our minds revert to some of our own family feuds. The Civil War, which ended with Lee's surrender at Appomattox Court House fifty years ago, was a dissension in the family. In a similar way the War of the Revolution was a dispute between parent and child.

These two wars of our history have been studied more or less by practically every American and by many foreigners. Some have studied them with one object in view, some with another. We wish to consider the character of the minute-men of the Revolution and the service they rendered in the making possible of this nation. These men were permitted to attend to their regular farm duties, but were also to be ready for service to the struggling colonies at all times. For this reason every true patriot always kept his loaded musket near at hand. If he were ploughing a field and a messenger should bring the news that the "Red Coats" were coming, the plough would be left stand in the furrow and this patriotic son would seize his musket and join his neighbors in protecting their country from the hand of the invading foe of their human liberties.

We look back with a degree of reverence to these forefathers of ours. They possessed the truly human characteristic of unselfishness. We think of them as being selfish only when, by being so, they did not injure another. For when the summons came to rally to the support of the rights of the colonies they were there to respond, "Here!"

Everyone of us was created to give a certain service to the community. We may amass a fortune in houses and lands, we may become wise as Solomon but if that wealth and wisdom is not allowed expression in some form, our lives will not long live in happy memory in the lives of future generation, nor will the present age have a high conception of us. We must, in order to have our lives live after death in the memory of others, leave the world better for having lived in it. It is not a difficult thing to find some way in which we may exhibit an unselfish spirit. All that is necessary is to be prepared at any time to serve in whatever capacity we may be asked to serve. Organizations to which we belong, our friends, and the outside world are ever calling for some sort of expression from us. Let us prepare ourselves so that we may every one be minute-men in our sphere, ready to respond at any time to the call of humanity for some expression of unselfishness.

TECH HIGH, 5; L. V. RESERVES, 4.

In a brilliant 17-inning game last Saturday morning, Technical High School of Harrisburg defeated the Reserves by the score of 5-4. Challenger for Tech and Brown for the Reserves were the opposing mounds-men and both pitched the entire game, dividing almost equally the honors. The Tech man struck out 15, allowed 8 hits and gave three bases on balls, while Brown fanned 20, allowed 10 hits and gave four free passages to first. The game would have been won by us had not one of our runners failed to tag third and therefore afterwards called out by the "Ump." An error, two bases on balls, and another error gave Tech their winning run. Brown did some nice pitching in the fourteenth, when with the bases full and none out, he retired the side on strikes.

TO BE MORE EXPLICIT.

An article headed "This Year's First Victory for Sophs" appeared in last week's "News." The truth of this statement was questioned, but we maintain that this heading was correct. Since in no inter-class contest, prior to the debate, did the Sophs defeat their opponents, we were justified in saying that this was their first victory. Due to the unwillingness of the Freshmen to play the foot ball game with a crippled team, the Sophomores have the credit of winning it through forfeit. This, however, was not a victory for the class of 1917 as there was no contest, struggle or competition. We acknowledge that we were wrong in stating that the Freshmen won this event. As to the Freshman-Sophomore basket ball game we would repeat that the team representing the Freshman class defeated the Sophomore team. It is, however, due the class of 1917 to say that the eligibility of the members of the team representing the class of 1918 was not acted upon by the Sr.-Jr. Council.

RETIRING NEWS STAFF

HOLDS BANQUET

Relieved from their year's work as contributors to the College News, the retiring staff last Wednesday evening gathered around a table laden not with writing materials but with such delicious viands as might tempt the appetite of an epicure. The banquet which was an innovation in the annals of the paper was held at the Water Works Inn. Covers were laid for nine. The party with Professor Shenk, the Faculty Representative on the staff, as the genial chaperon left the college at five o'clock. The walk to the Inn over the hills, fast exchanging their sombre winter garb for the gay attire of summer, was uninterrupted except for the click of the camera now and then.

With eager appetites the company sat down at the festal board decorated with dogwood blossoms and fairly groaning with the repast, which included delicious fried chicken, waffles, fried country ham, ice cream, and cake, as well as other triumphs of the culinary art for which the Inn is noted. The evening was enlivened by the boyhood reminiscences of John Jones, and by many an interesting anecdote and amusing incident by other members of the staff, in the telling of which Professor Shenk has no peer.

Those present were: Prof. H. H. Shenk, Misses Florence Mentz and Myra Kiracofe, and Messrs. Faber E. Stengle, John O. Jones, S. Huber Heintzelman, Mason Long, Ray Campbell, and Frank Van Schaack. As evidence of the capable financial management of "The News" during the past term, it might be mentioned that the dinner was paid from the surplus in the treasury of the paper. The event, which formed a fitting close to the work of the staff, will be remembered long after college days are over.

CLASS TRACK MEET

The Junior Class easily won the 2nd Annual Inter-Class track meet last Tuesday, scoring a grand total of 54 points. The Sophomores came second with a total of 22 points. The races and events were run off in a brisk, snappy manner and there were no dull moments. The officials had splendid control of the meet. Evans, '16, was the chief point getter, scoring three first places for a total of 15 points; Von Berghey, '16, came next with 13 points, and then Eichelberger, of the Specials, who scored 12 points.

PREPARATIONS FOR MAY

DAY FESTIVITIES

May Day, a day of festivity and fun will soon be here. We see the signs of its coming each evening, when the young people gather around the May Pole to practice the dance, which is always one of the important features of the occasion.

There will also be some spectacular drills. This part of the exercises are under the direction of Coach Guyer. After the May Queen has been crowned and the other parts of the program completed, the Y. W. C. A. will offer for sale ice cream and cake. If you have not procured your tickets yet, get them from any of the girls. A large number of visitors are expected to enjoy this festivity which had its origin in England sometime before the reign of Henry VIII.

The exercises will be held immediately after the baseball game.

Memorable Day in Old Philo's History

The forty-eighth anniversary of the Philokosmian Literary Society, as observed on Friday, will linger in fond memories in the lives of all who were privileged to be present on this occasion. If the success of the event were to be measured by the number attending it, we should without reserve declare this to be the most successful anniversary ever observed at Lebanon Valley. With all the seats on the main floor occupied and a goodly number of people on the gallery, those participating in the program were fired with the spirit of the occasion and as a result rendered a program the quality of which has never been excelled in any of the forty-seven former anniversary occasions.

The exercises began with a march, "Co-Ed," by Keim's Orchestra. Rev. Dr. J. E. Kleffman, '89, then delivered the invocation. E. Marie's overture, "A Hunt in the Ardennes," by the orchestra preceeded the president's address.

John H. Ness, who delivered the president's address, spoke of "The Secret Enemies of Peace." The three most secret enemies of peace, he claimed, were the school, the home and the church. Mr. Ness' ability as an orator is well known and his admirable treatment of this very appropriate subject reflects much credit to him and the society.

"The Menace" was the subject used by the second orator, Carl G. Snively. The question of strong drink, which has been engaging the attention of the great powers of the world so strongly in the recent months, was ably handled by this forceful orator. The evils resulting to the individuals now using strong drink and the deteriorating effect upon the nation from permitting such a gross sin to sap out the life blood of its citizens was vividly portrayed.

George A. DeHuff, whose ability on the flute has won him many laurels, executed A. Emil Tittl's serenade in such a manner as to elicit much praise and applause.

Especially fitting at this season of the year just prior to Mothers Day, was the oration of John O. Jones. He had taken as his subject, "America's Debt." He said that he would not lessen the credit given to great national heroes, persons who had become leaders in war and state-craft, but that to American motherhood we owe a debt too great to be recompensed. The soul back of the hand which has ever silently ruled the nation should be revered.

Biggest May Day Ever Held at L. V.

May 8th was an ideal day for Lebanon Valley's May festivities. After the baseball game with Lehigh, many guests and students assembled on the college campus to witness the crowning of our May Queen, Miss Florence Mentz. The procession was formed at Engle Hall. The Queen, with her attendants, preceeded by her flower girls and the Annville Band, and followed by her jester, Mr. Thomas Foltz, and her many merry makers, wended her way across the college campus to her throne. In response to the call of the heralds, Paul J. Bowman in the name of the Senior class brought forth the Queen's crown, S. Huber Heintzelman, a representative of the Junior class, her sceptre, Paul Hummel, for the Sophomore class, her orb and Daniel Walter in the name of the Freshman class her footstool.

The merry-makers were then called forth and about twenty-four little girls began the revelry with a very pretty Clap Dance. Following this was the grand march which ended with a wand drill in which the students took part. "Reaping the Flax," another folk dance, was given by the little children. Then an effective Grecian dance, done in costume, was given by eight of the fair co-eds. The children then played "I See You," which was acted to the tune of an exceedingly catchy air. Lastly an Indian Club drill and the May-pole Dance completed the festivities.

Hundreds of towns-people, visitors from far and near as well as that part of the student body not having a special part in the exercises viewed these May Day revelries. Every-

ONE VICTORY; TWO DEFEATS.

Last Wednesday the nine journeyed to South Orange, N. J., and there received the fourth reverse of the season by losing to Seaton Hall by the score 10-7. The game was featured by heavy hitting on the part of both teams; Seaton Hall getting 14 hits while we collected one more. Seaton Hall was fortunate in being able to bunch its hits off White, while Harrington kept his hits well scattered except in the second and ninth innings when we scored all our runs. Swartz, who replaced White in the seventh inning, pitched well, but was not given perfect support. Three runs were made off him in the two final innings. Stickell was the "star" with the bat, getting four hits out of as many trips to the plate.

Dr. Landis Speaks at Joint Session

One of the most pleasing and profitable joint sessions of the year was held in the library with Dr. Landis, Pres. Bonbrake Theological Seminary, as the speaker. The attendance was excellent and the address greatly appreciated. The Doctor took as his theme "The Study of the Bible" and discussed four reasons why every Christian should become thoroughly acquainted with this Book of books. They are as follows:

1. One should read and study the Bible because it is the word of God, our Father. He showed some people's ingratitude and disrespect for the Word by drawing the following parallel illustration. A son in a far distant land receives a letter from his mother and puts it into a pigeon hole without reading it. After a week perhaps he takes out the letter, reads the salutation and then puts it back. In a week or two he takes up the letter again and reads the conclusion this time. And so on at different intervals he takes it up and reads various parts at a time. In this way he never becomes acquainted with the message of his mother, as a unity, nor does he cherish her love. Those who treat the Bible in the same way are even more ungrateful and grieve the heart of their Heavenly Father.

2. The Bible brings to us a message which cannot be obtained from any other source. The great problems such as "Whence came the universe?" or "Whence came we?" have baffled the eminent scientists and philosophers through all ages. They can not answer these questions in a satisfying manner. They only become more entangled as they delve deeper into their research. But the Bible comes forth with its sublime description, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," and "Let us create man in our own image, etc." This is the most divine and most profoundly reasonable solution which can be found in answer to these questions.

3. The Bible should be read for the purpose of culture and discipline. The highest ideals for life are found therein. Someone has said "The man who reads the book of Job will never be the same man again." Thomas Carlyle said, "The book of Job is the greatest book in the Bible and outside of it."

An education can be reaped from a study of Shakespeare or some of the other great literary artists. How much more then can be gained from the Bible which is so often the fountain head for many of the great utterances and principles embodied in the works of our clas-

EDITORIAL.

Last Sunday we were called upon in an especial way to celebrate Mother's Day. This day is set aside to be celebrated by wearing a white flower in honor of our mothers. This is a splendid plan, for who is worthy of more honor than our mothers? It is the hand of a mother that has moulded the characters and lives of the great men in history. More than one great man could truthfully have said: "All that I am or ever hope to be I owe to my darling mother." Many a young man, on leaving his parents' home to start out in life for himself, has promised his mother to live a clean and pure life. This young man is often tempted to do what he knows is wrong, but he remembers the promise made to his mother and he thinks of how it would pain her if she knew he did wrong. These thoughts strengthen him so that he is able to overcome temptation.

We should not only honor and respect our own mothers but all old people. A conductor once noticed a feeble old lady, who was carrying several packages, leave the train. He kindly helped her into the station and then boarded his waiting train. One of the trainmen inquired whether the old lady was his mother. The conductor answered: "She is not my mother, but she is somebody's mother." We all admire the spirit of such a man. Most of us honor and respect our own mothers but perhaps we are not always considerate enough for other old people.

Many of us here in college are separated from our mothers. Perhaps some of us are able to be in college because our mothers deny themselves for us. What mother would not give up something for herself so that her son or daughter could enjoy some advantage? It is always well to think of the sacrifices of others for our sake, and in this way we are spurred on to "make good."

On Mothers Day we are especially reminded of our mother's love and sacrifice for us and we try to show our gratitude by writing to them, visiting them, or doing acts of kindness for them. All this is proper and it is our duty but we should not only remember and honor them on one special day but every day. We should each celebrate Mother's Day every day in our own special way.

proved a great success. The military spirit was well brought out.

"My Double and How He Undid Me" was interpreted in a pleasing manner by John W. Lerew. Mr. Lerew had lost his voice during the Easter vacation and was enabled to speak again only about two weeks ago. He deserves much credit for the excellent interpretation he gave this reading.

Following the march, "World Peace," the many friends of Philo wended their way to the society halls where, with light spirits and amid cheery surroundings, sociability reigned supreme. The spirited selections rendered by the orchestra added materially to the pleasure of the evening. Many were the jovial spirited groups formed to enjoy the numerous interesting tales told during and after receiving the bountiful refreshments thing was so beautifully arranged and so well executed that many people desired to have something by which to remember the occasion. The click of the kodak was an ever audible reminder of the efforts of some one to get a picture of some special action which was taking place.

The day was warm and at the end of the afternoon's program the ice cream and cake, which the Y. W. C. A. offered for sale, was not begging the hot guests to cool their parched lips with its refreshing coldness and to satisfy that little gnawing with a slice of cake. The supply of cake did not last nearly long enough nor was the first supply of ice cream sufficient.

In behalf of all those who had the pleasure of enjoying this afternoon's program the "News" expresses its appreciation of the exercises made possible through the efforts of the Y. W. C. A. and the committee on arrangements which was composed of the Misses Viola Gruber, Esther Heintzelman, Nettie Showers, Myrtle Daugherty, Helen Ziegler, Ruth Heffleman and Naomi Hand.

GIFT FROM CLASS OF 1915.

Following the precedent set by the classes of 1913 and 1914, the present Seniors have planted a sturdy tree on the campus. It has been planted a convenient distance in front of the Ladies' Dormitory, near the west end of the building. The tree is a member of the Figwort family, being of the species Paulownia Imperialis, which is the only species possessing trees. The large violet flowers born by this tree bloom the latter part of April.

4. In the last place a study of the Bible should be made as a means of training for work. Our aim should not be to merely save ourselves but to fit ourselves to show others the light. The sword of the spirit is the most powerful weapon in furthering the cause of righteousness. There can be found therein the ways and means for doing the King's business in the most tactful and successful way.

The speaker in conclusion urged a more minute and thorough study of this wonderful book. Let us take this helpful advice and plan now to make Bible Study hold a more prominent place in our association work during the next year.

Dr. Landis delivered an inspiring sermon at the morning preaching service on Sunday. He chose for his subject, "The Greatest Work in the World." "The clothing of the universe in all its beauty and majesty," he asserted, "is not the greatest thing our God has ever done. The work of salvation is the greatest thing." His treatment of his theme was splendid and the impression made upon the audience was great.

He also addressed the student body in chapel Monday.

"RECONSTRUCTIVE WORK OF 1918."

The class of 1918 showed their college spirit on Wednesday of last week by applying the entire day in beautifying the college campus. The part that particularly received their attention was the area around the Boys' Dormitory. The old foundation of the once begun gymnasium, whose walls have detracted from the general appearance of the campus for quite a few years, were leveled to the ground. The terrace around the dormitory, or rather the terrace to be, was newly sloped and prepared for the seed. The walks around the campus were also cleaned and rolled. One of the minor details of the work, but usually not considered as such, was the "lunch" which the fair sex of the class served to their industrious class mates at about 10 o'clock. As a whole the work of the class is to be highly commended and we are sure it is appreciated by the faculty and student body.

One Victory; Two Defeats

Thursday the team went to Philadelphia and there defeated the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy by the score of 20-2. Zeigler pitching for us gave the Pharmacists four hits, while our boys gathered 19 safe "swats." Swartz and Atticks had perfect batting records in this game. The game was called at the end of the seventh in order to give the teams time to catch the train.

Lehigh won their seventh consecutive game by defeating our team on the home field Saturday afternoon by the score 5-2. White and Anderson pitched well, but their wildness and errors by the fielders placed them in serious "holes." White allowed five hits and gave five free passes while Anderson allowed seven hits and gave four walks. The latter, however, was strong in pinches and was helped out by poor base running on the part of the home team.

SCRUBS WIN AT LEBANON.

The Lebanon Independents bowed their necks in submission to the Lebanon Valley Reserves last Saturday when our team defeated them with the score of 9-5. William Swartz, the South-Paw, "served them up" in such a puzzling and elusive manner that twenty-two men took three healthy swings in their vain efforts to hit the ball. "Bill" was a trifle wild, giving them six free trips to the initial sack but his cool work and masterful pitching at other times was too much for the Independents. The Reserves are gradually developing into a somewhat staple organization and they deserve the support of all loyal sons of Lebanon Valley.

TRACK TEAM DEFEATS INDIANS

In the second meet of the season our boys came out victors. Those vanquished are the Carlisle Indians. The score at the end of the day's events stood 69-57 in favor of Lebanon Valley.

In the Dashes Evans was again a big point winner, taking 1st place in the 100, 220 and 440 yd. dashes, making a total of fifteen points.

Von Berghey again came thru with three first places in field events, taking the Shot Put, Hammer and Discus throws, making a total of 15 points.

"Chief" was able to work again and he added 9½ points by taking 1st in the high hurdles, 2nd in the low hurdles and second in the high jump.

Captain Mickey gave us 9 other points by taking second place in the Discus and Hammer throw and Broad jump.

Eichelberger won the mile run in a pretty race and was beaten by the fraction of an inch in the two mile which was also a nice race. He scored eight points.

Jaeger took second in the Shot Put and 3rd in the Hammer throw and thus gave us 4 points.

J. Long added three points by taking second in the half mile.

Inman made 2½ points by taking 2nd place in the high jump and 3rd in the high hurdles.

Donahue was third in the high jump and also took third in the Discus throw scoring two points.

Manager M. Long added another point by taking 3rd place in the Pole Vault.

CLIO-KALO JOINT SESSION

The Clios and Kalos met in joint session on Friday evening, May 14. According to the usual custom observed at the spring joint sessions, the Clionian officers presided.

The chaplain conducted fitting devotional exercises. The program, which was then rendered, was a combination of literary and musical numbers. The musical numbers were all well rendered and added much to the evening's entertainment. The original story by Miss Heffelman gave us in an array of word pictures a glimpse of dormitory life in room 1 of the Ladies' Dormitory.

The sketch was especially interesting. A typical court scene was enacted for our entertainment. This trial is of historical interest. It is the first court trial in Pennsylvania in which the judge was a lady and in which the jury consisted in the main of ladies. This trial was an excellent practice to those who took part in it. When the women are given the ballot these ladies will be qualified, by experience, to be judges, lawyers, or jurors.

The interest which the students take in these joint sessions is shown by the large attendance.

SIX POINTS FOR

L. V. AT HAVERFORD

In the fastest inter-collegiate track meet of the Middle Atlantic States Association on record, the team representing our school came away with six points. The day was almost perfect for the meet and as a result nine records were broken. Rutgers College won the meet with a total of 25 points. Von Berghey was our large point winner scoring two points in the shot put by taking third place and added three more by taking second in the Hammer throw. Both "Von" and Mickey failed to qualify in the discuss. Eichelberger made our other point by taking fourth place in the mile. Evans in the preliminaries was second in his heat of the 100 yd. dash and won his heat in the 220 yd. dash but could not pull through the semi-finals. Inman ran a good race in the high hurdles but his opponents were more experienced and he thus failed to qualify. Mickey failed by a small margin to qualify for the finals in the Broad jump. Considering the men our team had to compete against they did well and they should be congratulated and encouraged to continue in their noble efforts to bring honor and fame to L. V. C.

VARSITY SWAMPS DREXEL INSTITUTE

The Varsity went to Philadelphia again on Saturday and came home the same day with 19-3 victory over the "Drexelites." For us the game was a "Swatfeast," the team collecting in the couple hours of play 24 safe hits. Captain Lerew was the chief "offender" getting five hits and a walk out of seven trips to the plate. Machen was a good second getting four safe hits out of five trips to the plate. Every member of the team got one or more hits and Drexel used three pitchers in their endeavor to check our onslaught of base hits.

Stickell and White divided the pitching duties of the day while Atticks and McNeely shared catching responsibilities. In the absence of Manager Snaveley and Swartz, Shenberger played 1st base and Zeigler 2nd base. The team, as a whole, played well and showed marked improvement, the game gave the men a chance to get in trim for the five day trip of this present week.

RECITAL IN ENGLE HALL.

Miss Anna Dubble and Mr. Clarence Barnett gave a recital in Engle Hall on Tuesday evening, May 11th. The former is a Senior in Oratory, the latter a Senior in Music. They united their distinguished talents in a program which won the applause of a large audience.

Miss Dubble's sympathetic interpretation of "No Thoroughfare" and her entertaining manner in reading "The Little Princess" won commendation. Mr. Barnett well displayed his ability as a pianist in his opening selections. An admirable performance of a concerto by Rubenstein was given by Mr. Barnett, assisted by Prof. E. E. Sheldon. The following program was rendered:

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR SOPHS

The annual inter-class baseball game, which was played on Thursday afternoon of last week was won by the Sophomores with the score 4-2. The winning of this game by the Sophs placed the two under classes on a tie for the honors of the year; the Freshman having won the inter-class tug of war and basketball game, the Sophs, the debate and baseball game.

The opening of the game spread both alarm and enthusiasm. With the Sophs at bat three runs were pounded out before the side was retired; Ziegler making one of his long drives which yielded a home run. The Freshmen were then retired without a point. After the first inning, however, the players settled down to real baseball and the battle turned and became one for the pitchers primarily. In this Ziegler and Brown shared honors equally, both having a large number of strike outs. Quite a few chances were offered to both teams to run up the score, but by skillful playing the batting side was usually retired before any serious damage was done. Notwithstanding the good work of both teams, three more runs were obtained after the first inning, one by the Sophomores and two by the Freshmen, leaving the final score 4-2, in favor of the Sophs. The entire game was interesting throughout, much interest being added by occasional "grand stand" plays, and as a whole it was the closest and best played inter-class baseball game that was witnessed for several years.

Secretary Ramsaur Brings Inspiration

Traveling Secretary, W. H. Ramsaur, of the North American Student Volunteer Movement recently spent several days with us bringing many enlightening subjects to the students for their serious consideration. Mr. Ramsaur, himself being a student, volunteer, is exceedingly enthusiastic in the cause of missions and therefore took every opportunity available to present this cause in its true light to the students.

In a joint meeting of the Christian Associations on Sunday, he gave a good, forceful talk on "The Critical Period in Mission Work." His careful portrayal of the condition existing in the non-Christian lands showed clearly that now is the day of opportunity in this field of work and that refusal to respond to the call of soul saving will mean an awful condition for the inhabitants of the great Moslem world.

In the first place, the state of affairs is critical because of the anti-Christian spirit of the leaders of the non-Christian forces. In India has been formed a Young Men's Hindu Association. The anti-Christian forces saw the good which was being accomplished by our Y. M. C. A. workers so to keep their young people true to their heathen religion, they formed the Y. M. H. A. These organizations are for the purpose of waging an effective opposition upon the advancing cause of Christianity. China has deified Confucius, and every pupil in the schools must worship him. Mohammedanism has, indeed, determined to thrust, to the hilt, the sword of opposition into the heart of Christianity.

The condition is critical in the second place because of the spirit of change and unrest that is sweeping over all these critical fields. In China are being experienced economic, commercial, industrial, moral, social and religious changes. Before it is possible to put a people in a condition when they will be willing to give up something which they have loved for centuries, they must first be led to see the folly of the old enjoyment. These heathen nations have seen the folly of their evil ways and are now in a malleable condition. If this spirit of religious awakening is allowed to die down without now being fed, it will take years and possibly centuries to again bring it to fever heat. What is needed is for the church of Christ to become fighting-mad in the work of evangelizing the world and it must then of necessity take place.

Another factor in making this a critical period is the response of the great masses of people in these unchristian countries. There was a time when several years were spent in the work before a single convert was won for Christ. Robert Morrison labored for twenty-seven years in China till one soul was turned into the path leading to life eternal. Now we find a powerful cannibal chief, who has eaten twenty-seven white men and a much larger number of his own race, saying, "Send some one to teach us and no one shall harm a hair of his head." Last year the missionaries were compelled to turn away 153,000 natives who desired baptism just because there were not enough christian workers to properly catechise them. While ten years ago when J. R. Mott toured the world, he found very few who were willing to give him an audience, yet in his last tour of this same territory there were not to be found buildings large enough to accommodate the eager persons who longed to hear more of this wonderful Savior.

In the face of these three facts the fourth is the more awful. The unchristian world is pitifully unoccupied by christian missionaries. In China there are 1567 walled cities with no missionary. A striking statement was, that in the Krupp works in Germany are employed more men than there are men and women in all the mission stations of the unchristianized world.

These are only some of the many statements made by Mr. Ramsaur. They are vast in their import and take some time to comprehend their full significance—if that be possible.

WONDERFUL DAY

AT MT GREYNA

The trip to Mt. Greytna, taken by the Botany class on Saturday, proved a success in every way. Everyone was able to find enough specimens to fill his press to overflowing. The primary object of the trip, to secure botanical specimens, was made play because of the good humor which pervaded the flower seekers throughout the day. Almost needless to say, it was not necessary to bring back any of the refreshments which had been provided by the dining hall and Mrs. Derickson.

The Preps and Juniors caught the clean-up inspiration last week and the results of their efforts on the athletic field and campus is very noticeable.

STAR COURSE FOR

NEXT YEAR CHOSEN

After examining the courses as offered by four of the leading Lyceum bureaus and after communicating with lecturers and musicians direct, the committee has decided upon a course which it believes to be the best it could possibly give to those who will attend these attractions. The course is taken through the Redpath Bureau and comprises the following numbers: The Weber Male Quartette, Ng. Poor Chew, who is a Chinese journalist, scholar, statesman, and known throughout the United States as the "Chinese Mark Twain," William Rainey Bennett, who in "The Man Who Can" is a wonder, M. Meryl Buckley, the dramatic artist, and The Dolejsi Bohemian Orchestra. Much consideration was given the selection of each of these numbers and the committee believes that success is assured their efforts.

AN "L" TO GLEE CLUB MEN.

As a result of the action recently taken by the Men's Glee Club several of the members of this organization are now wearing a gold pin in the shape of an "L." Upon the L are the letters L. V. C. G. C. Every student having served for three years as a member of the Men's Glee Club is awarded one of these beautiful pins.

SCRUBS DEFEAT PALMYRA.

The Reserves went to Palmyra on Saturday and easily defeated their opponents 13-2. Brown pitched a good game, allowing but four hits while at no time after the first few innings did he have to exert himself. Martin, Brown, and Wrightstone were the chief batting stars of the game. Come out to see the Scrubs get their revenge on Tech this Saturday.

AT CLOSE RANGE

Classes have entered the halls of L. V. C. and passed out, leaving the memory of their deeds behind them. This army of inspired youth is steadily increasing and reflecting honor upon its Alma Mater. The class of 1915 will soon be graduated and its several members each follow his special line of work. The members of this class have seen several classes graduated, but then it was at a distance. Now they are experiencing the same feelings surging thru them as surged thru the souls of their predecessors. Most of their examinations have been taken, they have been entertained by the Clonian and Kalozetian Literary Societies and Commencement Week is fast approaching. This class has been defeated in only one inter-class contest, the debate in their Freshman year, and it is hoped that corresponding success will meet their efforts after graduation.

CHAPEL VISITORS.

Two alumni of Lebanon Valley College, Rev. M. B. Spayd and Mr. William Herr, gave interesting talks in chapel Thursday, May 13. Mr. Herr is Y. M. C. A. Secretary of U. S. Battleship Delaware and had just returned from accompanying the Atlantic Coast Fleet in their Spring manoeuvres at Hampden Road. He very vividly portrayed for us his work among the boys in the navy. Man being a social creature and the boys of the navy not being inhuman, they demand to be entertained. Thus Mr. Herr provides a weekly social form of moving pictures or a ship event in their honor. This takes the talent play. He also keeps in touch with leading singers of the different coast city churches and they often favor him by singing on board.

Mr. Herr was greatly interested in the literary societies while a student at L. V. and the one he has organized on the battleship has proven a great success. One would not imagine that those men would be very well read on the leading topics of the day but their questions for debate and their argumentations show their interest in the conservation of the ideals of the nation. The different athletic meets, arranged for, when the vessel is in harbor, serve to develop the boys physically and is a means of keeping them from seeking detrimental entertainment. Mr. Herr left on Friday for New York where President Wilson reviewed the fleet on Monday.

FEAST OF '17

Promptly at 6.15 p. m. the members of the Sophomore class left the girls' dormitory for an evening's revelry along the Quittapahilla. The God's could not have provided a more propitious evening. Besides the illumination which the stars so kindly shed, were the lights of oriental colored lanterns, peeping from among the branches. One could easily imagine himself in fairy land. When the noise of merry making had died away and the last of the feast had disappeared, the Epicureans returned to the dormitories.

Rev. M. B. Spayd, brother of our former college pastor, has been spending a few weeks in this territory. In his sermon Sunday morning he very ably treated the subject "The Unity of God." His likening the Father to the heart, the son to the head and the Holy Spirit to the hands as the factors for the carrying out of the conceptions of the heart as revealed through the working of the mind was unique and helpful. He plead for a more persistent study of the Bible.

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

Volume VI.

Annville, Pa., Tuesday, May 25, 1915

No. 35

Entered as second-class matter November 12, 1910, at the post office at Annville, Pa., under the act of March 3, 1879

Kleffman, Dando and Innerst Win Prizes

Contrary to custom the Junior Oratorical Contest, which is held under the auspices of the Alumni Association of the college, came almost two weeks before Class Day, the regular time. The reason for the change is that the Alumni have decided to hold their banquet on the evening of Class Day.

While the college is producing good athletic teams, its ability in the field of public debating and oratory is by no sense mean. Thursday evening of last week the class of 1916 was represented in the contest by five of its members. All of the contestants delivered their orations as though it was an everyday occurrence, with such ease and freedom did they orate.

Conrad K. Curry delivered an oration on "Julius Caesar." His cataloging of events in the life of this world renowned man was complete and set forth his career as it affected his age in concise form.

"America's Greatest Achievement" was the subject of Robert E. Hartz's oration. This greatest achievement of North America he claimed to be the fact that there exists "an international boundary line between two nations, United States and Canada, across which in a hundred years neither nation ever once launched a menacing army fired a hostile gun. Four thousand miles where nation meets nation and sovereignty meets sovereignty, but never a gun, never a fortress, never a battleship, never a sentinel on guard!"

J. Stuart Innerst in "War and Its Solution" briefly traced war through the centuries showing the base causes from which it sprung. He argued that the tremendous waste of human life was out of harmony with the design of the Creator and discussed the weakness of means used hitherto for abolishing war. "Armed Peace" is most ridiculous as the condition of Europe testifies. Peace societies and "so-called" solemn treaties have not prevented war because they did not remove the causes. Arbitration will never prevent war because it is not always a friendly process and because it is an unsolvable problem how to force a turbulent nation to arbitrate or accept the terms of arbitration without causing strife.

The plea was made for Christianity as the only solution. The principles and teaching of Christ aim to destroy jealousy, race hatred, land greed and the other causes of war. Only as these principles dominate the lives of nations will universal peace be the heritage of mankind.

Our track team won an interesting track meet with Juniata College last Saturday on the home field by a margin of 10 points. Not very good time was made, excepting the dashes, on account of the heaviness of the track caused by the rains of the latter part of the week. Evans in the dashes, Von Berghey in the field events and Eichelberger in the long distant races were the individual stars and the largest point winners. The summary:

Seniors Entertained By The President

The evening of May 19 was ideal, for not only were the atmospheric agencies at peace but merriment reigned supreme in the president's home. It was at that time that Dr. and Mrs. Gossard so pleasantly entertained the class of 1915, at a calendar party.

As soon as the guests were ushered into the parlor they began their trip through the months of the year. January being the first child of the year, each one was instructed to write a New Year's resolution. Then they were read and the name of the writer was guessed. Some of them were amusing and suitable to the writer. During the month of February they received their partners for life as well as for the evening. The boys having to write proposals and the girls answering them. The month of March was celebrated by a potato race signifying our loyalty to Ireland. Mr. Van Shaak winning the race. When the time came to celebrate the month of April the guests were invited to participate in a peanut hunt. After a diligent search, no peanuts having been found, some one realized that it was an April fool joke and everyone felt that he had been a victim of it. The engaged girls, for you know we have four belonging to '15, together with their partners, gave the May Pole Dance. For June, the month for brides and sweet girl graduates, each was provided with corn cob and paper and requested to dress the same in cap and gown. The patriotic month of July was celebrated appropriately with fire crackers and by singing, "My Country 'Tis of Thee." August being the month for vacation, each couple sought the punch bowl and while they quaffed the refreshing beverage they discussed summer amusements. September found them again at school taking part in an old-fashioned spelling-bee. Dr. Gossard being the school master. While telling October ghost stories a real live ghost appeared upon the scene which proved to be the ghost of the Senior class and reminded them of many things that had occurred during their college course. Thanksgiving day coming in November conondrums were given which were to be answered by the names of different vegetables. Bells were heard and upon searching in the dining-room they found standing by a miniature tree, which he had already decorated, Santa with his pack. After demanding different stunts he presented each one with a gift.

This completed the calendar but

TRUE WORTH.

Every man exerts a positive influence in society whether he wishes to do so or not. There are many who seem to be inactive and we are inclined to think that their influence counts but little or nothing in the lives of their fellows. Unconsciously they set powers in motion that never stop and exert a silent, positive influence for good or evil, making the life of every other a little better or a little worse.

All mankind can be divided into two classes; those who simply exist and those who really live; the former presenting a most pathetic picture, while the latter demands our admiration and esteem. The most to be pitied, and gloomiest of all God's creatures is the man or woman without a purpose in life. Yet we meet with such every day, not only among the illiterate and degraded, but in our colleges and universities as well. The man who really lives is he who has a lofty purpose, and high ideals, who looks upon life itself as a vast peril, the supreme value of which makes its use more imperative, and its misuse, more terrible and whose whole life is a continual striving toward reaching his goal.

Success in life depends less on strength of mind than on character, and while mental power may be needful to achievement, yet self-restraint, sympathy for others, courage and determination are the surest guarantee to success in any vocation in life. True worth is not only nor always found in him who goes to the field of battle, or the man who wears the garb of office, nor should we limit our homage and respect to these, for many as brave and true a heart beats beneath the grimy coat of the workman at his daily toil, the sooty jacket of the engineer, or the calico gown of the factory girl or the mother in the home. While we recognize the hero of the battlefield let us remember that the physician who daily risks his life for his patient is just as great. The teacher or professor who gives his life for his student is just as honorable, and the wife and mother who spends many sleepless nights watching by the bedside of loved ones is just as brave.

COLLEGE HONOR

As appears elsewhere in this issue, Sunday the subject of "College Honor" was discussed. Some of the girls told us when they attended High School they despised the one member of their class who cheated on examinations or who "trotted." Then they told us how when they came to college everybody seemed to be "trotting" or cheating on examinations and they were led into doing the same thing before they were aware of the fact. This is not a very pleasing report to listen to. Why is this true? Is it the professors' fault? The fault lies with the students themselves. The temptation comes to everyone of us but it is our duty to overcome it. If anyone asks us a question during an examination we should refuse to answer no matter what it costs us. By refusing to answer we help ourselves and the one who asked us.

Let us try to raise the standard of honor at L. V. C. next year. When the Freshmen enter college next spring they will look around to see what the old students are doing. As a rule, the statement that cheating in High School is despised is true. These Freshmen will be inclined to get their marks honestly. But if they see that cheating is a common thing in college they will soon fall into the same habit. Let us determine to return next fall prepared to set a good example for the new students. Let us show them that cheating is even less practised in college than in High School.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION TO THE SENIORS

the party was not yet over, for upon return to the parlor delicious refreshments were served. As the hour was late they departed, each one regretting that the occasion to which he had looked forward so eagerly had come and gone.

JOINT RECITAL IN ENGLE HALL.

The last Senior Joint Recital was given in Engle Hall on the evening of May 20th, when Miss Maybelle Shanaman, a Senior in Music, and Mr. Verling Jamison, a Senior in Oratory, presented an interesting program to a large audience.

The program opened with a concerto by Rubenstein, which was given by Miss Shanaman, assisted by Prof. E. E. Sheldon. The excellent rendition of Miss Shanaman's selections was good cause for gratification. All her numbers were well received.

Mr. Jamison's ability as a reader was well displayed by his authoritative and thrilling interpretation of "The Middleman." He readily gained the interest and attention of the audience.

Have you ordered a 1916 Annual? If not, see that your order is taken soon.

KLEFFMAN DANDO AND INNERST WIN IN CONTEST

This oration was accredited third prize, Mr. Innerst receiving the $5 gold piece.

The second prize, $10, was won by H. S. Dando, "Manhood's Morning" being the subject of his oration. He brought out the necessity for a greater interest in the youth of the land and its redemption from the evils which creep into the lives of these coming rulers of the world.

"The Sphinx of the Nations," delivered by A. H. Kleffman, proved a winner, for in accordance with the decision of the judges he was the happy recipient of the $20 gold piece. Mr. Kleffman likened the scourge and destroying power of war to the scourge and evil effects of the Theban Sphinx. War, he declared, should be stopped for commercial, racial and ethical reasons.

To lend variety to the program, several much appreciated musical numbers were rendered by our fellow students. The numbers were: a piano solo by Miss Kettinger, a vocal duo, "In Starry Night," by the Misses Henry and Colt, and an instrumental quartette by Miss Dorothy Davis (cello), Messrs. J. E. Steinhauer (violin), George A. DeHuff (flute) and R. P. Campbell (piano). The quartette was so highly appreciated by the audience that an encore was called for.

An event of this nature is always looked forward to with interest. This is the case because of the rarity of such occasions. We have many opportunities to witness contests of an athletic nature, but a contest of oratorical ability is less frequent. This form of matching of powers is to be encouraged and it is hoped that inter-class contests of this nature might be conducted on somewhat the same basis as the inter-class athletic meets.

The Commencement exercises of the Annville High School will be held in Engle Hall Thursday evening.

place. The Normal School boys put up a plucky fight but could not connect with Zeigler when hits meant runs. Zeigler kept well scattered the five hits made off him and was given excellent support by his team mates. Harter, pitching for Bloomsburg, gave us only six hits, but these hits coupled with ragged fielding at times enabled us to score six runs. Keating was the batting star of the game.

On Wednesday the team went to State College and there held the strong State team to the low score of 2-0. It was a pitcher's battle between Wardwell and White with the former getting the decision. Wardwell allowed us four scattered hits, struck out ten and gave no free passes to first. White was touched up for six hits, struck out nine and gave one free pass to first. White also kept scattered the hits made off him but erratic judgment and playing gave State their only runs. One in the fourth and one in the sixth innings. The game was the best played of all the games seen at State College this year and although they won the game the home team can feel proud in the fact that they have held the best college team to such a very low score.

The next day our boys went to Bellefonte and in a seven inning game decisively defeated the Academy team at that place by the score 6-1. Stickell pitched a masterful game making the batters send easy rollers to the infield or pop up flies to the outfield. Only two hits were made by his opponents. Our fellows, on the other hand touched up Clarey, the opposing pitcher, for eleven safeties. Zeigler, Snavey, Atticks and Swartz did good work at bat with the latter doing good work also in the field. The team expresses their appreciation of the fine treatment they received at all places. The subject of the hour was "College Honor." Miss Myra Kiracofe was the leader. Miss Kiracofe presented to us in a very earnest and interesting manner what the true code of honor demands. We should avoid loosing our honor in small things, for once we begin the habit is soon formed and we may even loose all sense of honor. We should beware of a false code of honor. This week we will have our honor tested and it was the prayer of every one that we may do our own work and stand for the right. The subject was a very interesting one and was well discussed from all view points. Miss Deigel favored us with a solo which was greatly enjoyed.

The last meeting for this school year was under the direction of Mr. Zug who spoke on "Patience and Progress." Several seniors spoke of what the organization has meant to them. They pointed out some of the weaknesses of the association work and urged that they be remedied in the future.

After the regular meeting the cabinet had a spirited discussion for two hours on how the problems of the next year may be met. It is the sincere desire of the cabinet to make the influence of the association more effective in the dormitory and on the campus. Plans were made for welcoming the incoming freshman class and making the surroundings suitable for proper religious impressions. It is also the aim of the organization to encourage Bible study which will help men toward choosing their life work. On the whole the plans are for the general benefit of the young men of the college and it is expected that the faculty and students will aid in carrying them out.

TWO VICTORIES FOR RESERVES.

The Reserves added two more victories to their credit last week when they defeated Lebanon H. S. at Lebanon on Wednesday 10-3, and Technical H. S. of Harrisburg on the home field Saturday with score 9-2. Brown pitched both games and held the opposing batsmen at his mercy. While the men behind him pounded in runs almost at will. The Scrubs are fast becoming an experienced aggregation and ought to prove a good advertisement in securing new students. They play their final game in Minersville this Saturday with the High School team of that place.

MARSHMALLOW TOAST.

On Wednesday evening the freshman class enjoyed its last feed when the boys delightfully entertained the girls at a Marshmallow toast in Bachman's woods. Upon arriving at the woods the boys proceeded to build a bonfire, while the girls made the place look like a Japanese garden by hanging variously colored lanterns from the trees. Many out-of-door games were played until the fire was right for toasting the marshmallows. Then between the toasting and the partaking of a delicious lunch, one of their number entertained them with Spanish and Italian songs and German stories. The exchange of stories continued until the embers burned low when the frolickers strolled home through the moonlight vowing that so much fun had never been crowded into so brief a space of time.

Volume VI.

Annville, Pa., Tuesday, June 2, 1915

No. 36

Entered as second-class matter November 12, 1910, at the post office at Annville, Pa., under the act of March 3, 1879

Baccalaureate Sermon by Dr. Gossard

In spite of the rain, a large audience was in attendance at the annual Baccalaureate service. The faculty and students gathered at the conservatory at 10 o'clock and proceeded to the church in a body. The service throughout was impressive and of a type which will not soon be forgotten.

The text of the sermon was found in Mark 13:34, "And he gave to every man his work." The speaker began by referring to the supremacy of God and the unchangeableness of his laws both physical and moral. The lower forms of creation all have a certain mission to perform and so has man. Man is God's by creation and redemption and owes his obedience to Him. God calls men to all professions and holds them responsible for certain work.

Next the greatness and responsibility of man was emphasized. Man is able to utilize in a thousand ways the physical powers which God has ordained. The earth has been made smaller by binding together the continents with means of traffic and communication. But only as God is permitted to work through man and influence him is man able to attain his highest efficiency. "Work in a line with God."

There are certain forces at work in a man's life which determine his course. The home, the school and the church are three mighty forces. The man who receives the proper training through these agencies will be the one preferred for the greater tasks of the world. But there lies within every life the power to choose the right and noble which will give him the required preparation. The opportunities for men and women with such influences stamped upon their characters are always numerous. The principles of character and not material possession is the stamp of royalty.

In conclusion the president pled that religion must not be forgotten and neglected in one's life. God's power in raising men from low and degrading circumstances is boundless. Examples were given of many who were born and reared amid great opposition, but who through God attained to prominent positions. There will be many discouraging battles to fight and great hardships to be experienced but when the "Well done" is heard the efforts and energy spent will not be regretted.

Special music was rendered by a choir from the music department under the direction of Professors Schmidt and Sheldon.

Thirty Degrees Conferred

At the business session of the Board of Trustees on Monday the Board approved the conferring of thirty degrees. The members of the graduating class numbering twenty-seven will receive the degree of A. B. Harry M. Bender, Gideon L. Blouch, Paul J. Bowman, C. E. Breneman, Ira Clyde Eby, Ruth E. Engle, Ruth V. Engle, Larene Engle, Phares B. Gible, Ethel I. Houser, Mary L. Irwin, Verling W. Jamison, John O. Jones, Myra G. Kiracofe, J. Maurice Leister, John W. Larew, Florence C. Mentz, Vera Myers, John H. Ness, Mae Belle Orris, Emma R. Schmauck, Carl G. Snaveley, Faber E. Stengle, Ralph Stickell, Frank M. Van Schaack, David E. Young, Lester B. Zug.

Upon Fred Lewis Pattee, A. M. (Dartmouth) now teaching at State will be conferred the degree of Doctor of Letters. The degree of Doctor of Divinity will be conferred upon the Reverends S. E. Rupp, A. B. (L. V.) of Harrisburg, Pa., and L. Walter Lutz, A. B. (L. V.) of Chambersburg, Pa.

It was also brought out in this session of the Board of Trustees that the Endowment Fund is being met favorably by the Conferences, and that prospects are good in every field of endeavor. The dormitories will not be adequate to supply rooms to all the incoming students but rooms will be provided to meet the occasion.

Hon. A. S. Kreider was elected President and L. Walter Lutz, Vice-President of the Board for the ensuing year.

LEBANON VALLEY, 7; BUCKNELL, 6.

In one of the most interesting games of the season our boys came off victor over the strong Bucknell nine. The visitors took an early lead and with the score six-two in favor of the visitors L. V.'s prospects were not the brightest. But in the fifth a few misplays and a few timely hits brought our total of runs to five. Stickell who was pitching until the fifthinning was replaced by White and by splendid pitching coupled with good support he easily held the visitors scoreless—only one hit being made off him. The eighth inning proved a glorious one for us. Snaveley was hit by a pitched ball and went to second on a passed ball. Swartz singled and stole second. The single advanced Snaveley to third. White was again too much for Peal, the opposing twirler and sent the ball over the center fielder's head for a two-bagger scoring Swartz and Snaveley and thus winning the game 7-6.

Social Workers of The Y. W. C. A.

The Social Workers' Committee of the Y. W. C. A. are arranging to conduct eight week classes this summer. These classes are to be conducted for girls who do not have the opportunity of going to school and who do not enjoy the privileges of attending Y. W. C. A. meetings. The subject to be studied is "Missions." These classes are to be conducted not only by the members of the Social Workers Committee but by all members of the Y. W. C. A. who are willing to conduct a class. It is our aim to have as many classes as possible, one in every town or city in which there are Lebanon Valley girls. The classes will be under the leadership of the student but the program may be varied by having the scholars, in turn, conduct the classes. The meetings will be held at the home of the leader or at the homes of the scholars, as each class decides. The classes will consist of from ten to twelve girls. Another feature of the work is the dressing of dolls for the orphans at Quincey Orphanage. Every Y. W. C. A. member is asked to dress a doll this summer and bring it along to school next fall. The members of the committee will send these dolls to the orphans. We also inquire into local conditions. We will do all we can to help others. The members of the committee are Misses Taylor, Black, Dunkel, Woomer and Suckling.

TENNIS TEAM AT DICKINSON.

Lebanon Valley's representatives in tennis were defeated at Dickinson last Friday in a quadrangular match between Bucknell, F. & M., L. V. C. and Dickinson. In the singles Dickinson's man defeated Zeigler 6-3 and 6-1 and F. & M.'s man defeated D. Fink, 6-4 and 6-1. In the doubles our team was easily defeated by the team from Bucknell by the score 6-0 and 6-1.

ATHLETIC ELECTIONS.

Last Thursday the annual Spring Athletic elections were held and the following men were elected: Basket Ball Manager, Jacob F. Shenberger; Assistant Basket Ball Manager, C. Guy Stambach. Base Ball Manager, I. Sankey Ernst; Assistant Base Ball Manager, Abram Long.

Von Berghey was unanimously elected the captain of the track team for 1916, and it is hoped that his great and even greater success will be his as during his former captaincy.

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE.

We are this week observing the forty-ninth anniversary of the founding of Lebanon Valley College, and with not a little pride do we think of our Alma Mater. She has been a power for education and inspiration to the hundreds of young lives placed in her care.

The High school students who are going to pursue their study in a school of higher learning confront the question: "Where can I get the BEST EDUCATION?" This is, indeed, a serious question to answer to our own satisfaction, for a decision in preference of one school and against another will inevitably have a marked effect upon our later life. The amount of education we possess is determined by the degree of knowledge, skill or discipline of character which has been acquired.

Lebanon Valley College is distinctively a college in which parents should be eager to matriculate their children. She is truly an educational institution. She develops in her students these three cardinal principles of education.

In the first place, we have been passing through a vocational training system of education. True, everyone should receive a special training to fit him for his life's work, but in this training he should have a large foundation. We like a broad minded and broad spirited person. To be compelled to listen to a person who can speak on only one subject—chemistry, biology, history, mathematics—is not the most pleasing experience. Lebanon Valley gives a liberal education. Its courses are so arranged as to require everyone desiring an A. B. degree to obtain a wide knowledge of the many subjects which are of interest to mankind in general. This need not be merely a superficial knowledge, since the number of hours one is permitted to elect allows him to delve somewhat deeply into that phase of study which most interests him.

Secondly, the matriculated student of Lebanon Valley is given a chance to become skilled in many ways. Skill in managing ability and leadership is here attainable. We have many organizations, anyone of which is a training in business and managing ability. One also learns how to deal with men in order to succeed among them. On account of the relatively few students attending Lebanon Valley each one is given a greater individual training.

The third phase of education, discipline of character, also has its place at Lebanon Valley. Being a denominational institution it necessarily upholds a high standard of morals and in every organization this spirit is felt. Then, too, there is nothing like a friend to inspire one to do his best and noblest deeds. At larger institutions of learning few students know each other. Here at our Alma Mater everyone knows, or at least may know, every other student, and is thus in the position of having many personal friends to use their influence in instilling in him the desire to do his best in this world. Thus through these several influences the student at Lebanon Valley is wonderfully assisted in acquiring an education. To everyone who reads this article we would say, "Tell your friends about this college and thus assist them in making their lives live wires in the sphere of education and world usefulness."

Your influence is worth much. Others have thrown their influence on the side of Lebanon Valley until she now has a grand total of 384 students enrolled in the five departments, 236 of whom are matriculated in courses leading to the A. B. degree. We are justly proud of our record as this is the highest enrollment of any of our United Brethren colleges, Otterbein has but 231 matriculated students.

To The Seniors

To the Seniors we would give these modest expressions of good will and parting words.

"The members of your class came in the fall of 1911 from many parts of our nation. You, each and every one brought with you some special peculiarities which represented the thought and endeavors of the particular home and community from which you came. At first these special traits seemed queer to your fellow classmates and students. However in the four years of your short stay at Lebanon Valley some of the peculiarities were lost altogether or so altered as to help you fit into the life of the college. You now think of Lebanon Valley as a home because of the many experiences and thoughts you have in common. You are about to pass into a slightly different world, a world where your companions will not all be college students, but who represent practically all phases of human endeavors. You will again have to so modify yourself in order that you will not be among them as a fish out of water. While at Lebanon Valley you have discussed many subjects and problems. You will now have an opportunity of meeting many of these problems as they exist. A certain amount of theorizing will be done away with and another part will have to be modified to meet slightly different conditions. In all your enterprises remember your Alma Mater and her many friends. Think that they are looking to you for the accomplishment of great service for the world. What you do will reflect upon the fair name of Lebanon Valley, so as a parting word we would have you do your best, ever keeping in mind that service is the supreme purpose of existence. The value of your life will be determined by the degree in which you left the world better than you found it."

REV. LUTZ ADDRESSES

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

The rain prevented the union praise service from being held on the campus so it was transferred to the chapel. The meeting was in charge of the two Christian Association presidents and as usual at this final service the remarks were made by the seniors. The service was very inspiring in that the progress of this year's work was reviewed and general plans laid for the coming year. There was great hope expressed on the part of those leaving us and those remaining here that the associations will next year bring a stronger Christian influence to bear on the life of our college.

At 7.30 the annual address to the Christian Associations was given in the church auditorium. J. Stuart Innerst, president of the Y. M. C. A., presided and Rev. L. Walter Lutz, pastor of our church at Chambersburg, delivered the address. In a pleasing and helpful manner he developed the subject of "The Divine Pattern" using as a text Heb. 8:5. Just as God revealed to Moses the plan of the tabernacle he will reveal to man the plan of his life. But only through getting intimate with God by prayer and Bible study can this revelation come to one's life. God's image of perfection was originally stamped on man, but sin marred it. In the sacrifice of Christ man's hope of realizing that Divine pattern in his life is again revived. In Him was the completeness of all noble attributes. As the attachment to Him becomes closer the vision of the pattern of life appears. Examples are found in Luther, Lincoln and Paul the great missionary. There are three elements very prominent in the life of Christ which must be cultivated in our lives, namely love, humility and consistency.

The great reward of following this Divine pattern is that we shall again attain the perfection originally intended for us. To be like Him is worth more than all the gold and silver of the world; to receive His words of approval is worth more than the applause of the entire world.

MISS QUIGLEY TO WED.

Another college romance is about to end with a wedding. Miss Ruth Quigley, a former music student at Lebanon Valley and Mr. Howard Olewiler, '14, are to be married June 9. "The News" wishes them much success and happiness.

SENIOR-JUNIOR COUNCIL MEMBERS FOR NEXT YEAR ELECTED

In the hands of the newly elected council will largely rest the control of the student body in the coming school year. This council may have the best interests of the college at heart, pass sound rules and regulations and yet fail to produce any noticeable results. Some students had the opinion that the present year's council was not worth a great deal as an efficient body. Why was this the case? Simply because there existed a lack of faith in and consequently a lack of support of the council and what they earnestly wanted to do for the benefit of the students and the college. Support and cooperation are the elements necessary for the making of a movement effective. If every Freshman would be the best FRESHMAN possible and every Sophomore the best SOPHOMORE possible, he would have the necessary prerequisites to the making of a good upper classman. We all want to deserve the name of upperclassman, therefore let us fill our present position in a commendable manner and talk it up among the underclassmen and our college will profit wonderfully from this movement.

The Senior members of the Council are: J. Stuart Innerst, S. Huber Heintzelman, Joseph K. Hollinger, David J. Evans and Robert E. Hartz. The Junior members are: P. S. Wagner, Ross Swartz, Chas. Loomis and David Fink.

DR. GOSSARD WILL GIVE COMMENCEMENT ADDRESSES

Lebanon Valley has been honored in having its President, G. D. Gossard, D.D., invited to give the address at the commencement exercises of several high schools. Thursday he will serve in this capacity at the New Cumberland High School and on the following Thursday he will perform a like service at the commencement day exercises of the Lykens High School. On June 17 Dr. Gossard will address the graduating class of the Royersford High School.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES

WELL ATTENDED

Engle Hall was crowded with an eager assemblage of people who were eager to hear what the Class of 1915 had in store for them.

The Class Day program began with a march song, the words of which were written by Frank M. Van Schaack and the music composed by Mary L. Irwin. Paul J. Brown, president of the class, delivered an address appropriate to the occasion. This was followed by a sketch, "Innocents Abroad." This sketch brought before the audience such a scene as takes place after a vacation when the students with jovial spirits return to dear old L. V. John O. Jones, posing as a minister twenty years hence, vividly described for us the events which had taken place in the lives of his classmates. A localized "Julius Caesar" was well performed by the class.

After the giving of presents and as the last stanza of "Au Revoir" was being sung, a 1915 pennant was seen passing across the stage and the pennant of the class of 1916 took its place in the background. The audience then retreated to the campus where Carl G. Snavely delivered the Tree Oration. The splendid program was concluded by the singing of the Alma Mater.

PREPARATIONS FOR MACBETH ARE CONCLUDED

The Commencement play, Macbeth, is being looked forward to with intense interest. At a matinee performance Monday afternoon the cast showed their capability of producing a play of this kind. It is rather exceptional that a tragedy be presented instead of a comedy as heretofore, but with Mr. Jamison as Macbeth and Miss Josephine Ulrich as Lady Macbeth the cast has a nucleus that is hard to surpass. Miss May Belle Adams is directing the play and the proceeds will be given toward equipping the stage. Every one should avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing this play on Wednesday evening.

ACADEMY COMMENCEMENT.

The annual commencement exercises of Lebanon Valley Academy were held in Engle Conservatory on Saturday evening at 7.45 o'clock. The platform was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns and flowers. Also the colors of the class, maroon and orange, were very much in evidence. This year's class consisted of nine young men: Frank S. Attinger, president; Walter E. Deibler, George W. Hallman, Raymond S. Heberling, C. LeRoy Mackert, Robert P. McClure, Raymond H. Smith, Francis B. Snively, J. Arthur Wisner.

The programme was well rendered, each one performing his part in a creditable manner. Professor Grimm, Principal of the Academy, and Professor of Physics, presented to the members of the class, their diplomas and awarded to J. Arthur Wisner as first honor student the Lebanon Valley College scholarship.

Our services are worth more to all applicants than we charge. We earn more than we get.

We do not share our earnings with others. We have no local agents employed to "discuss" the qualification of our applicants.

School authorities employing teachers through this agency are not open to the suspicion that they are sharing in the earnings of the agency.

Every year there is an increase in the number of applications for teachers coming direct from school authorities, and we are constantly enlarging our facilities.

These environments are appreciated by strong, self-reliant teachers.
